Rev. Sam Small will stump Kansas, Nebraska and Illinois for Bryan and Sewall.

Hon. Hoke Smith has truthfully said that "the Democrat who fails to vote for the National Democratic ticket strikes a blow at the Democratic State organization."

Walter R. Henry, the Populist orator, must be greatly disappointed that the Congressional nomination of that party in the Sixth district does not fall to him, but goes to Charles H. Martin.

William P. St. John said with much force at the Cooper Union meeting: "I have devoted twelve years to research in this question, and I would stake my life, as I would if going into battle, on the election of Bryan and Sewall and the success of free coinage."

It is said the negroes will fight Harry Skinner because of what they construe to be an attack on them. This was Skinner's declaration as chairman of the Populist State Convention that the Populist party was for white supremacy.

The Washington Star says that if the Republican party gets into power next November it may be called upon to protect its party emblem—the elephant—from competition which threatens to reduce the value of the wild animal. A Swedish genius is now said to be making hollow balls of cast steel which are satisfactory substitutes for ivory billiard balls. Let us protect the elephant by all means.

We are all together working for one common end—good government. Let there be no bitterness in this campaign. Abuse is not argument. It may be gratifying to our meaner instincts to call each other hard names, but it convinces no one. What shall it profit us if we curse and abuse each other all summer and lose the election in the fall.—Lenoir Topic.

How a Southern Democrat, who has stood in the battle line of the party all his life and fought for the cherished principles of his beautiful Southland, can now throw his convictions to the winds and take up a McKinley tariff, the force bill and all the other provisions of the Republican platform just because he differs from the majority of his party on the currency question, is indeed a nut to crack, says the Durham Sun.

Democrats, stand fast—stand by your principles. This is no time for divisions, no time for desertion. Lay your differences aside and stand shoulder to shoulder. We may differ on the currency question, yet we cannot afford to present a broken rank in facing the enemy in North Carolina. We cannot afford to let the dear Old North State to pass into the hands of Douglasites, and we appeal to every Democrat in the State to stand loyally by his party colors and party leaders, as this is no time for turning back upon the great and precious doctrines of a genuine Democratic party to open the way to the gang who know not what they do.

Democrats must remain Democrats by the consequences what they may. Character is everything, and if you sacrifice that you sacrifice all.

Do not let Democrats under a panic sacrifice all. Do not grow pale at the thought of defeat, and bow to the behests of the agrarians of the hour. Stand by conscience and the right if the heavens fall. If there await defeat for the best and truest and wisest men of the State, let it come, but do not sell your manhood and your convictions. Be master of yourselves in the direst extremity, and looking to the future for vindication of judgment and triumph of principle dare to do what is right and proper and just. "Prepare for what may come, and leave the rest to Heaven."

Bryan is now also the candidate of the Knights of Labor for President. The Journal of the Knights of Labor, the official organ of the order, in a leading editorial, headed, "The Occasion and the Man," calls on all members of the order to support the Nebraska man at the polls in November. The editorial is from the pen of Henry B. Martin, of Washington, a member of the General Executive Board, also editor of the Journal. The editor says: "Bryan is the man of the hour, brought forth by the necessities of the occasion. All the powers of wealth and the influence it brings are already at work to compass his defeat. Every legal robber in the United States, regardless of his former politics, every man, whose interest lies in the continued subjugation of the wage-earner and farmer; every sheet which has prospered and grown upon the subsidies to be obtained for treachery, all this tremendous force is already moving to prevent the coming triumph of the plain people. The Whitney Cleveland Democracy joining hands with the Hanna-Dewey Republicans, all recognize the danger to continuance of their reign of insolence, intolerance, and usurpation, and nothing will be left untried to stay the coming of the devastating flood.

"The record of all conventions has been broken, the people themselves the plain, every-day overalls-jumpers and jeans people have drawn forth the man, and the idea of November will demonstrate that the smooth-tongued, swallow-tailed, haughty politician doesn't possess and cannot buy the votes necessary to prevent the people from entering into their own."

Congressional Convention.

Well Satisfied with Ayer's Hair Vigor.

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray. I began using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and was so well satisfied with the results that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It requires only an occasional application of AYER'S Hair Vigor to keep my hair of good color, to remove dandruff, to heal itching humors, and prevent the hair from falling out. I never hesitate to recommend Ayer's medicine to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGB, Avoca, Nebr.

The growing of Citrus.

Would there be a possibility of growing a good crop of citrus on our cleared land with everything taken out of it? I have nothing but commercial fertilizers to use. My land is light and has a sandy loam. How much fertilizer can I use and not burn the crop? Is the "Pineapple" the best for me to plant, and what is the "New Orange Culture"? What time are they ready to market set out February 1st—A. P. G. Chatham.

[Answered by W. F. Massey, Horticulturist, N. C. Experiment Station.]

You can doubtless grow a fair crop of citrus on your land, by liberal fertilization, and by repeating the heavy fertilization, you can grow larger crops on the same land annually for a number of years. It takes several years to fertilize and culture to get the maximum crop of oranges on a piece of land that has never grown that crop. I should advise you to use a ton per acre of a high grade fertilizer, and to use a very heavy particular brand of mixed fertilizer, but would mix my own, for there is no brand that I am acquainted with which has as much phosphoric acid as the one on hand, and you will get the best results if you use the one on hand.

If you wish to grow green citrus for bunching to ship in March, you should use sets of the Emily Pearl or the White Pine to order, and plant them in Oct. 1st. This fertilizer referred to will give you full directions. For a ripe crop for the home market for early shipment, you can use the Raspberry, and also the early sets, and you will get a very early crop that can be sent to the market in February of the White Pine, part of the Red Pine. The Pineapple culture, that is the starting of the plants early and transplanting in March, or early in February, will bear fruit in late June or early in July, while the oranges grown from sets planted in the fall, will be ready to pick and haul in March next, and with the tops on, in ventilated barrels.

The iron grasp of scrofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.
