Havana owes twelve and a half millions. And not a dollar has been spent for sewers and street cleaning.

Dewey ought to feel safe against all comers in the East now that the Oregon has arrived and been added to his historic fleet.

As soldiers the negro volunteers were not only failures, but their conduct grew worse and worse. In every State that they passed through railroad stations were terror-stricken by their malicious and reckless behavior; and much damage was done.

All the volunteer troops in Cuba will be ordered home before the summer, and mustered out. There are some 30,000 now in service on the island. A force of 15,000 regulars is there also. These are deemed sufficient for preserving order and no further troops will be sent.

Here is a pointer for the farmers from the Waynesville Courier: "One of the leading Southern newspapers gives warning of an approaching scarcity of corn and calls upon farmers thus early to make up their minds to plant a heavy crop this year. Various causes are conspiring to bring about the predicted scarcity. The last crop fell short of what was expected, a large quantity than ever before is being fed to hogs, but more than all, the European demand is increasing at a rate beyond all precedent and expectation. Farmers should make a note of these conditions and let corn have a large place in the plans they are now laying for another year."

According to the Manufacturers Record the cotton manufacturing industry is exerting a far reaching influence in the direction of an industrial awakening in North Carolina. A correspondent of that paper writing from Charlotte, says:

The Legislature just adjourned has authorized a number of towns to issue bonds for municipal improvement, and it is estimated that in one city alone—Wilmington—there will be under construction by private enterprise within thirty days buildings to the value of between $95,000 and 100,000. Charters have been granted to twenty-three banks, sixteen railroad companies and eight insurance companies, and nearly all the new banks are the result of the demand for banking facilities created by the cotton mills. He adds:

"All the previous records will be broken in the establishment of local banks, the formation of insurance companies, the development of water powers, the installing of electric power plants and the building of railroads and textile mill plants. All this extraordinary industrial pace was set by the cotton mills. They lead, and there is nothing for the financial and commercial interests to do but follow." The result is an industrial race that will be attracting the attention of the whole country to this State before the year is out."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the past few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local treatment, and insisted upon failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hood's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only consistent remedy on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars to any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. March 28th, three United States fish commissioners met the three fish commissioners of this State at Edenton, N. C., to discuss the advisability of the removal of the fish hatchery across the Albemarle sound, in one of the branches of the Chowan river. The hatchery is now over in Pamlico county and located in a stream that is infected with juniper water, which is injurious to shad fry.

MISS GRANDY'S RE-MAINS BROUGHT HOME.

Miss Lessie Grandy, was killed last Friday during the burning of the Hotel Windsor in New York City, she having jumped for her life from the seventh story window. Her remains were brought home Tuesday and were taken to the residence of her mother corner Road and Matthews streets, where they remained till 4 p.m., and were viewed by her many friends and relatives. The body was then taken to the Episcopal Church and the funeral conducted by the Rev. L. L. Williams, in the presence of a large number of sympathizing friends. The remains were interred in the Episcopal cemetery in the family plot. Messrs. H. A. Greenleaf, C. W. Melick, Abner Aydlette, Logan Old, W. J. Woodley, and W. T. Old were the pall bearers.

Miss Grandy was the eldest daughter of the late Hon. C. W. Grandy, who, for a number of years, was a prominent lawyer in the First District of North Carolina. Some sixteen or eighteen years ago she accepted a lucrative position in the Treasury Department in Washington City, which she occupied until recently.

Came From New York State.

Rocky Mount, N. C. March 10, 1890. W. L. Groom, of this place, who, with his family came here from Elmira, N. Y., states that he feared a change in climate and water would bring on sickness. They therefore began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have had no need of any other medicine. When anything is the matter with any of the family, they take Hood's and it sets them right.

The Norfolk Ledger says: "The sideswheel car float, John W. Garrett, now in this port, is having cabins put on her for the passenger traffic she is expected to do in connection with the transfer of freight cars for the Norfolk Southern Railway between Edenton and Mackey's Ferry, N. C."

THE LAZIEST PEOPLE ON EARTH.

The laziest and dirtiest people in the world have recently been discovered in the Caucasus. They live in an inaccessible mountain range between the Black sea and the Caspian sea, and as they were 2,500 years ago so they are today. Seen from without, there is a certain picturesque quality about a Svanetic village, although it merely consists of miserable stone hovels without any attempt at form or adornment. Within the houses are inconceivably filthy. They are filled with rags, vermin and dirt of every description. They possess no fireplace or chimney. All the cooking, in fact, is done over a hole scooped out in the middle of the floor. In these houses men and women and children are huddled together. During the long winter months they are shut in for days at a time, the cattle often sharing their quarters. Every aperture has to be closed on account of the cold. This long imprisonment is perhaps the cause of the degradation of the people. Horrible diseases result from it, which are aggravated by an abnormal consumption of alcohol. Besides this, it is an invariable rule to make four days a week holidays, with saints' days as extras. Since they have adopted the holidays of every other country with which they have been in contact, it is not surprising that the men find little time for work. Fanning, bee culture and cattle breeding are the only industries of these people, while throughout their territory there is not a single manufactured article.—New York Ledger.

LEANING TOWER OF PISA.

One Cannot Help Being Nervous in Looking From Its Top.

In St. Nicholas, John Ward writes of "The Bell Towers of Italy." Mr. Ward says of the most famous of them all: "Pisa seems like a sleeping city, as she lies so quietly and silently along the two borders of the river Arno. She fell asleep several hundred years ago, after she had struggled valiantly for her independence and had won renown during the ages-struggle between the Ghiblins (partisans of the pope) and the Ghiblins (partisans of the emperor). Though Pisa has long since forgotten the days of her greatness, the world cannot forget them when it looks upon that wonderful beautiful group of four marble white buildings standing apart in the sacred corner—the cathedral, the baptistry, the campo santo (or burial ground), and, what interests us most of all, the remarkable campanile, so well known as the "leaning tower." This famous tower was built in 1174. Its construction is peculiar. There is in the center a hollow brick tube or cylinder; around this plain round tower the architects built eight stories of open galleries, with beautiful, slender columns of white marble supporting semicircular arches. The general effect is one of great delicacy and lightness, a fairylike tower of wonderful grace. The summit is 179 feet from the ground. As you all know, the tower leans 18 feet out of the perpendicular and looks as if it would surely fall over at any moment, but, as the center of gravity is still within its base, it is as safe as if it were erect. The foundations were probably imperfectly built at the start, for the tower began to lean before it was half finished, and we can see where at one point the builders tried to bring it back as much as possible to the vertical line by making the columns on the low side higher than the others. The walls, too, are strengthened with iron bars. Fancy the consternation of the architects when they saw their beautiful tower leaning over and its foundations sinking in the ground! It requires very steady nerves to carry us to the top, and we find ourselves clinging to the wall when we are on the leaning side.

This is what Charles Dickens says about the tower in his "Pictures From Italy." "In the course of the ascent to the top the inclination is not very apparent, but at the summit it becomes so and gives one the sensation of being in a ship that has heeled over through the action of an ebb tide. The effect upon the low side, so to speak, looking over from the gallery and seeing the shaft recede to its base, is very startling, and I saw a nervous traveler hold on to the tower involuntarily after glancing down, as if he had some idea of propping it up."

When we reach the summit, we must not forget that this was where the great astronomer Galileo watched the stars, experimented on the fall of bodies and studied the law of gravitation. Here, too, in the upper story, hang the six bells, the largest of which weighs more than 19,000 pounds. The bell founders of Pisa have wide reputation for casting bells of beautiful tone, sonorous and harmonious. They lavished on them all their art and their talent.

The Pasquarocci (the Paschal bell), the most famous of the Pisan bells, the one which was tolled when criminals were taken to execution, is ornamented with a figure of the Virgin and the deities of Pisa and has a rich, full tone.
