BROTHER KILLS BROTHER.

Killed in The Jail at Gatesville, N. C.

MURDERER CONFESSES.

Linwood Wiggins Says He And His Brother William Got Mad Playing Checkers.

Made desperate by confinement, and enraged because he lost a game of checkers, Linwood Wiggins, 17 years old, slew his brother, William, in the county jail at Gatesville, N. C., on Sunday last. William was nineteen years of age. The brothers had been in jail a month. They went in default of a fine for obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Linwood called for Sheriff Riddick to come, saying his brother was hurt. William was found lying on the floor in a pool of blood. He was dying. Blood and brains were oozing from the back of the head, where the skull was crushed.

Linwood was cool, but told an unlikely story. He said they got mad playing checkers, and had a fist fight, during which William fell and struck his head against the iron grating. William lived an hour.

In sight of his dyeing brother, Linwood asked Sheriff Riddick to send some dinner. He was hungry. The meal was brought and the fratricide ate heartily in the death chamber.

Dr. George D. Williams, coroner, was notified. He summoned a jury. Their verdict read that "William Wiggins came to his death from blows with some heavy instrument in the hands of his brother, Linwood Wiggins.

After Linwood had his dinner he felt better. He confessed he killed his brother deliberately. He walked from behind and struck him on the head with a piece of stove wood two feet long and three inches thick. There was an ugly knot on one end of the bludgeon, making it a bad weapon. William's head had been struck several times. The bone was shattered in each place.

ROBBED A DEAD MAN.

New York, July 31.—Policeman Thos. F. O'Brien to-day pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree. O'Brien was charged with having stolen a gold watch, a chain and two charms from the body of George B. Rhoads, President of the Stuyvesant Fire Insurance Company, who was run over and killed by an Eight avenue electric car on June 10th. The chain and charm were returned to the relatives and it was discovered it was O'Brien who had given them back. A pawn ticket for the watch was found on O'Brien.

All weak places in your system effectually closed against disease by De Witt's Little Early Risers. They cleanse the bowels, promptly cure chronic constipation, regulate the liver, and fill you with new life and vigor. Small, pleasant, sure: never gripe, Sold by Griggs & Son.

MR. ROOT SWORN IN.

Mr. Root arrived at Washington and was sworn in as Secretary of war Tuesday morning. The ceremony took place at the Department and the oath was administered by Judge Cole, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Secretaries Gage and Hitchcock were present. General Alger after the ceremony, said to his successor: "I thank you with all my heart. God bless you and give you strength.' The army officers and bureau chiefs were presented.

A NEW USE FOR CORN.

Henceforth, smokless powder will be exclusively used in warfare, not only for the rapid firing artillery, but also for the new rifles which the infantry will use in the field. In the manufacture of this powder distilled spirits play a prominent part, thus opening up a new and quite extensive market for American corn. The fact is one that can not fail to interest the favor, as all civilized nations now use this powder, but this country alone grows the corn. In the light of these facts the prepartion of Great Britain, and the constant rumors of great European war, take on a local and personal interest for every Western corn grower. An extensive war among the great European nations would have a marked effect upon the market for spirits and corn, and as the whole world is to a large extent dependent upon America for this ingredient of smokeless powder, and as this powder is a necessity in warfare, it must be had at any price.

Quickly cure constipation and rebuild and invigorate the entire system—never gripe or nauseate—De Witts's Little Early Risers. Sold by Griggs & Son

The Navy Department has received the first half of an order for 100 new machine guns of a new type, the most powerful in the possession of any goverment. They are one pounders, carrying an explosive shell and can fire 250 shots a minute. They are cooled by a water jacket and it is said that they can put 50 shots into the head of a barrel at half a mile in a quarter of a minute.

Revival of Corporal Punishment

It may be that wehave advanced altogether too fast in the matter of doing away with legal personal chastisement. The latest voice to add strength to this belief is that of Governor Roosevelt, of New York, to the effect that the only way to reform a brute is to make him feel pain Certain it is that there are people who are unresponsive to moral appeals, to whom imprisonment is no disgrace and who revel in their evil associations. When the State undertakes to lodge and feed them, under the name of imprisonment, they are simply living in clover. Of the 2,000 negroes to day in the Georgia penal camps fully 9 per cent. of them are better lodged and better fed than they ever were by their own efforts. Indeed, the statistics show that quite a number of them are serving second and third terms, deliberately sought because they wanted to get among the boys. At the worst, they are quite as well off as the gangs of men who work in railroad or canal enterprises. Is there no better method of dealing with these criminals of choice than that of the State undertaking their support? Delaware has never abolished the whipping post, and her people say they never will. There is nothing which brings a wife-whipper, confirmed vagrant or a worthless character generally, to time with the same celerity as the lash. Every sting of it appeals eloquenty to their fears, and the constant dread of it is enough to make them go into hiding.—Atlanta Constitution.

They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents, Money back if not cured. Sold by Alex Wadsworth, Druggist.

NERVES OF STEEL.

An Engineer Takes a Nap on An Arch 150 Feet Above Ground.

William Burns, an engineer created considerable excitement Sunday afternoon by threatening to jump from the highest point on the South Twenty-second street bridge. Burns had been celebrating during the day, and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he walked out on the bridge and climbed up through the network of structural iron to the top of the arched span and lay down on the very top of the arch to sleep off his drunk.

The man attracted a large crowd by his peculiar actions. Women were excited lest he would lose his balance and dash out his life by falling to the asphalt floor of the bridge. Men yelled at him to come down and boys were amused at his performance. The matter was reported to Officer J. W. Canning, who went to the bridge and tried to induce Burns to descend from his exalted position. The policeman was no more successful than were the others who had made the same attempt. The man lay stretched at full length along the top of the arch, apparently sound asleep and obvious of all that was going on below him.

Officer Channing went to the house of Engine Company No. 12 and had Truck C driven down to the bridge, the idea being to run a ladder up to the top of the arch and bring Burns down. When the truck arrived, Burns raised up [illegible] ture, and, leaning over the edge of the arch, called to the men on the truck:

"What are you fellows up to?"

Upon being told he cautioned them not to put themselves to so much trouble.

"If you run that thing up here I'll jump into the river. That's what I'll do," and, shaking his finger at the men who were preparing to raise the ladder, he continued:

"Now, mind what I'm telling you; I'll do it sure."

There was determination in the man's eye, and Officer Channing called to the men on the truck to wait a while. The top of th arch is nearly 150 feet high and the officer was convinced that a jump meant sure death. Perhaps the man could be induced to come down himself, he reasoned, and one more effort was made. After some more persuasion Burns said:

"Well, I'll come down if you take that thing away, but I don't see why a fellow can't take a sleep on a free bridge without being bothered."

So Burns crawled down the way he went up, and when he reached the bottom he was cheered by the crowd, which by this time numbered several hundred. Officer Channing took Burns in charge and sent him to the police station on a charge of drunkenness.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

Advice to

Consumptives

There are three great remedies that every person with weak lungs, or with consumption itself, should understand.

These remedies will cure about every case in its first stages; and many of those more advanced. It is only the most advanced that are hopeless. Even these are wonderfully relieved and life itself greatly prolonged.

What are these remedies? Fresh air, proper food and of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Be afraid of draughts but not of fresh air. Eat nutritious food and drink plenty of milk. Do not forget that Scott's Emulsion is the oldest, the most thoroughly tested and the highest endorsed of all remedies for weak throats, weak lungs and consumption in all its stages.

THE TOMAHAWK NOW UNBURIED

And Imbrued in The Blood Of Americans.

SOME FIERCE FIGHTING.

The Indians Slaughter Mexicans and Americans.

St. Louis, Mo., August 1.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Orliz, Mexico, says:

Any doubt that Yaquis are on the warpath in earnest was dispelled to-day when news reached here that several Americans and Mexicans had been killed in Pueblos, or town in the Yaqui River Valley, east and southeast of this station.

The courier who came in with the news of the slaughter declares that he saw a desperate fight at a point forty miles southeast of Ortiz and that he has positive evidence that J.F. Remley, a merchant of Hermosillo, and E. Miller, a photographer in his employ, were among the killed.

Remley was one of the best known Americans in Senora.

The inhabitants of the towns in and near the Yaqui Valley are in a state of terror.

General Torres, a commander of the first ilitary zone, which includes Senora, Sinaloa, and Lower California, who was in the field with the Twelfth Regiment, is reported among the slain.

No information is obtainable as yet of the number of fighting Indians under arms, but if the outbreak is of the proportions of the war ended in 1897, the number may be placed at between 2,000 and 4,000.

This outbreak is a surprise to the State and army officials.

It is impossible to secure accurate figures as to the total number killed to date, but the estimate at fifty on each side is not considered excessive.

SEVEN AMERICANS SLAIN.

Manila, August 1.—9:50 A. M.—Sunday's fight at Calamba was a warm one. The insurgents were unwilling to abandon the place which is the key to the lake road. General Hall, hearing that General Malbar was preparing to make an attack, sent Major Weisenberger with three companies of the Twenty-first infantry, three troops of cavalry and one of Hamilton's guns to attack the insurgents. This detachment found a force of 1,000 rebels behind hastily made intrenchments. The rebels held their fire until the contingent of the Twenty-first regiment was within 300 yards when they fired a volley. The Americans dropped in the high grass out of sight and returned the fire. Lieutenant Love, who was walking erect along the front of the men was shot in the arm. An insurgent officer, equally brave, stood at the top of the trenches, directing the fire of the insurgents until he was killed, when the Filipinos fled.

During the fighting on the north side of the town, a small body of insurgents attempted to enter on the southside, but a troop of cavalry repulsed them.

The total American loss at Calamba was seven killed and twenty wounded. Sixteen dead insurgents have been found.

During the civil war, as well as in our late war with Spain, diarrhoea was one of the most troublesome diseases the army had to contend with. In many instances it became chronic and the old soldiers still suffer from it. Mr. David Taylor of Wind Ridge, Green Co., Pa., is one of these. He used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and says he never found anything that would give him such quick relief. It is for sale by Drs. Griggs & Son.

PRESIDENT TO HONOR DEWEY.

Plans Made for a Reception and A Dinner at the White House.

President McKinley will give a reception to Admiral Dewey at the White House when the latter arrives in Washington. The reception will differ in no important respcts from regular affairs of that character at the White House, except that the Admiral will occupy a palace in the line of the receiving party, the President coming first, Mrs. McKinley next and the Admiral. It is expected that a dinner also will be given to the Admiral at the White House and this following the custom at State dinner, will be an elaborate festivity. The Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, members of the Cabinet and their wives, and some others will escort Mrs. McKinley into the dining-room, the President following with the wife of Secretary Hay. As the guest of honor, the Admiral will sit at the right hand of Mrs. McKinley, the President being directly opposite his wife. Between the President and Mrs. McKinley will stand an elabrate work of art in flowers, prepared by the White House gardener probably representing the cruiser Olympia. while down the middle of the long table will extend the mirror frame in gold imported by Dolly Madison bordered by a bank of blossoms and smilax, so as to make it resemble a miniature lake. [illegible] of gold.

SAYS LUETGERT'S WIFE LIVES.

Dramatic Appeal of Counsel at Funeral of Accused Man.

Chicago, July 30.—Thousands of persons attended to day the funeral of Adolph D. Luetgert, the wife murderer, who died at Joliet penitentiary. Prominent in the group about the bier at the Northwest Turner Hall were Luetgert's three children near a floral pillow, with the inscription: "Our Father's Words, 'I am innocent.'"

Lawrence Harmon, former counsel for Luertgert, delivered an address, at the close of which he said: He is dead, but his wife lives. I call upon Louisa Luetgert, the missing woman for whom he suffered without ever uttering an unkind word regarding her, to come forth and remove the unmerited stain from the name of the father and her innocent children. Adolph Luetgert's sudden death in the penitentiary at Jolient on Thursday last has brought to light the fact that State's Attorney C. S. Dincen has had locked up in the vaults of the Criminal Court building for two years a statement made by Luetgert to a fellow prisoner in the jail. It was sworn to by the latter at the time before the State's Attorney. From the document it would appear that Luetgert asked his wife to go with him to the sausage factory office on the night of May 1, 1897 The quarrel that followed he gave her a violet kick in the side. This rendered her unconscious. Luetgert expected [illegible] not. Seeing that she had died, he disposed of the body in the factory vat.

Hamilton Clark, of Chauncey, Ga., says he sufferd with itching piles twenty years before trying De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, two boxes of which completely cured him. Beware of worthless and dangerous counterfeits, Sold by Griggs & Son
