

FOR SALE.

On account of very bad health and acting upon the advice of my physician I have decided to offer the entire FISHERMAN AND FARMER plant for sale.

In the office is one large eight column Potter Cylinder Press, two good job presses, an immense quantity of newspaper type, nearly one hundred fonts of job type, some of them of the very latest styles made, four large stones, paper cutter, galley &c., &c., in fact everything usually found in a first class printing office. The newspaper has a good circulation and a splendid advertising patronage, and the job department is always busy.

Will sell at a sacrifice on good easy terms.

Respectfully,
A. H. MITCHELL.

The remains of Mr. John Matthews arrived here from Baltimore Thursday for burial. The funeral services were held from the Episcopal church by Rev. L. L. Williams. Mr. Matthews was a native of this city, but for some time has made Baltimore his home. A brother of the deceased accompanied the remains here.

The Eastern Courier says: The Republican Congressional and Senatorial Conventions met here Wednesday. The colored man was conspicuous as to his absence. It was who and who could say the most and use the most unpleasant words. There were two factions. One by Isaac Meekins and the other by the south side of the Albe-marle. The racket was over the Chairman, Secretary, and delegates to the National Convention. The south side were the victors every time, setting down hard on Bro. Ike. Dr. J. W. Perkins of Pitt, was elected Chairman and Mr. Joseph Biggs of Martin, was elected Secretary. The delegates to the National Convention were Wheeler Martin, of Martin county, and Dr. D. H. Abbott, of Pamlico, alternates, J. L. Phelps and W. R. White. Prof. R. M. Lee, colored, went forward and commenced speaking, but was interrupted by his pale brethren and finally he was shut out. This ended a Convention which was in every way as good as a Barnum show.

The Senatorial Convention was a tame affair, there being such a few in attendance.

Springer, of 112 Howard st, Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. THE SUMMER WAIST.
Now doth the festive summer waist appear upon the scene, in every shade from white to red, and hundreds in between; it dazzles every man's eye, and stretcheth every neck, and maketh am'rous fellows haste to follow at her beck as down the street fair Doris lightly trips, a vision rare from ankle neat to dainty finger-tips; and there are hosts of others—all most gleefully parade, with some in stripes and some in plaids and some are silken, some are wool, some linen, some pique, and e'en the flannel and nersilk are seen in the array; and some do blaze like coals of fire while some are verdant quite, and every shade of yellow, brown, blue, red, green, is in sight; and thus, when warning zephyrs kiss the early-leaving tree, the streets become kaleidoscopes of femininity; and marvel of marvels! Each bright damsel feels that she doth wear by far the swellest waist of all that company! All maidens love the summer waist, the waist of giddy hue, and lad dies love to love the maids, who love this loving too! So here's a toast, a merry toast, to maidens sweet, encased within the gay, alluring, neat and giddy summer waist! Ex.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c., guaranteed, at Standard Pharmacy Drug Store.

ENGAGE YOUR FARM PRODUCTS.

The farmer in order to dispose of many of his products to advantage will find it a good plan to engage them previous to taking them to market. For instance, if he has cucumber pickles to sell, if he takes them to the stores they will in all probability have barrels put up by manufacturers, and they retail them out at 25 cents a gallon. A farmer cannot take this for pickles put up in pure cider vinegar, and nicely spiced when many families will take these pure articles and pay well for them. Many times have we seen farmers go to town with large loads of pumpkins and squashes and the pittance they received for them wouldn't pay for the wear on the team. In this locality many a farmer can take his choice between a sum far less than a load of wood is worth, or haul his wood back home, when the farmer "who is watching the corners" will engage his wood during the summer months and haul it in the fall when the roads are good.—H. ### WHY THEY MARRIED.

Reasons Given by a Number of Benedicts in a New York Town.

[Exchange.]

We lately sent out postal cards to the married men of a small town in Western New York with the inquiry, "Why did you marry?" We give a few responses. We would be glad to hear from other young men, and also the women:

That's what I've been trying for eleven years to find out. Y.

Married to get even with her mother, but never have. W.

Because I was too lazy to work. I. V.

Because Sarah told me that five other young men had proposed to her. C.

The old man thought eight years courting was almost long enough. B.

I was lonesome and melancholy, and wanted some one to make me lively. N. B. She makes me very lively. D.

I was tired of buying ice cream and candies and going to theatres and church, and wanted a rest. Have saved some money. J. C.

Because I did not have the experience I have now. J.

Because I thought she was one among a thousand; now I sometimes think she is a thousand among one. E.

I think it was because I was cross eyed; now I am afflicted with two pairs of cross eyes daily. PETER.

The governor was going to give me his foot, so I took his daughter's hand. H.

I thought it would be cheaper than breach of promise suit. A. C.

That's the same fool question that my friends and neighbors ask me. C. H.

Because I had more money than I knew what to do with. Now I have more to do than I have money to do with. B. D.

I wanted a companion of the opposite sex. P. S.—She is still opposite. A.

Don't mention it. F.

Had difficulty in unlocking the door at night and wanted somebody to let me in. BOB.

I was embarrassed, and gave my wife the benefit of my name so that I could take the benefit of her name signed to a check. SCROGGS.

Because it is just my luck. J. P.

I didn't intend to do it. S.

I yearned for company. We now have it all the time. KARL.

Have exhausted all the figures in the arithmetic to find out an answer to your question; between multiplication and division in the family and distraction in addition, the answer is hard to arrive at. OLD MAN.

I married to get the best wife in the world. SIMON.

Because I asked her if she'd have me. She said she would. I think she's got me. BLIVINS.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.
