ROLL CALL ON LAST LAP FOR MEMBERS HERE

Business Section Will Be Canvassed By Kiwanis Club Wednesday

SCHOOL TEACHERS IN COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN

Much Relief Work Done By Organization In This County

With two days left in which to complete the Red Cross roll call (Wednesday and Thursday) much work remains to be done by the local canvassing committees in order to bring the quota up to the high mark set last year, when Brevard people joined the organization in large numbers.

Committees from the Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist churches have been active during the past week in the residential section of the town, making a house to house canvass with only fair results reported.

A committee from the Brevard Kiwanis club will call on all the town business house employes and managers this (Wednesday) morning in last lap of the campaign. Last year's returns from the business sections were by far the largest ever to be reported according to statement by the Rev. Harry Perry, roll call chairman, who is in charge of the canvass in Transylvania.

Teachers in each of the county schools have assisted in the work, carrying the campaign to each section of the county, and this phase is expected to add to the increased quota expected from Transylvania county. Reports indicate that teachers have been very active in some communities, while final reports from all sections have not been received, Mr. Perry states.

Stress is being laid on the fact that Transylvania county owes much to the national Red Cross organization, several thousand dollars in relief work having been provided for this county during the past year through assistance of the state and national chapters.

Jos. S. Silversteen is chairman of the local chapter, Alex H. Kizer, treasurer, and Mrs. John W. Smith, secretary.

Davidson River school teachers report one hundred per cent enrollment, this being a five-teacher school. Prof. R. D. Jenkins, principal, was in charge of the roll call there. Other schools had not reported Tuesday.

A very successful summer season was had by the exchange, many sales being reported and a neat sum realized from operation. The bureau plans to again operate the exchange next summer.

HAYNE BOYDEN WINS CROSS OF VALOR IN NICARAGUAN BATTLE

Press dispatches from Managua, Nicaragua, are to the effect that Hayne D. Boyden, well known in Brevard where he made his home for some time, had conferred upon him the Cross of Valor by President Moncada.

Lieut. Boyden, along with other American flyers assisted the Nicaraguan government forces in the recent disorders there, and it was by bravery and distinction in action that the former Brevard man was honored.

BREVARD WON EASY VICTORY OVER H'VILLE

The game of all games, Brevard vs. Hendersonville, was won on the local football field Friday afternoon by Brevard high in a decisive 18-0 score, making happiness reign supreme in local sports circles.

For seven years there has existed a feeling of "do or die" by both teams towards each other, Hendersonville having come off victor from out of these seven games, but never in a more decisive victory.

By CHARLES MORGAN

The Brevard high school gridders downed Hendersonville in the feature game of the season by a score of 18-0 here Friday afternoon. A wet field cut the speed of both teams, but Brevard outclassed the visitors by a large margin.

Hamlin and English followed a hard charging line up and down the field during the first half to score three times and mark up ten first downs.

Brown and Flanagan showed speed enough to tally five first downs during the third and fourth periods, but failed to make any during the first half.

Joe Hamlin, Brevard's best blocking fullback, went through the openings made for him by the Blue Devil front wall to chalk up the first two touchdowns. English could not be halted by the Bearcat line until he had scored once.

All credit goes to the Brevard line, for they held the Hendersonville team back all the time. Hinton and Tuggins played good defensive football. Lance and Pickelsimer played their best brand of ball for the season. Price and Neill at ends, stopped all of Pat Flanagan's end runs. Siniard never er one time let the visitors gain through his position.

Brevard's perfect passing attack was not needed, for Plummer, Clayton and the other backs gained freely all during the game. Hendersonville completed only one successful pass out of four tries. Brevard made one out of three, each team intercepting one pass.

The punting was weak on both teams owing to a wet ball. Hendersonville averaged 22 yards while Brevard averaged 21. Hendersonville threatened to score twice during the third period, placing the ball on the ten and five yard lines.

The line-up:

Brevard (18)		(H'ville (0)
Lance	J. Johnson
	Left tackle
Huggins	Gianokos
	Left guard
Pickelsimer		Sherrill

CUBANS ARE ABSTAINERS ON ACCOUNT OF TORRID CLIMATE

Native Of Island Declares People Are Forced To Refrain Drinking

(By Lorenzo Delgado)

All those who have visited Havana must have been surprised, because notwithstanding the opportunities the Cuban has to get liquors,—even to the point that almost on every corner there is a saloon, bar, or "bodega" where they can be gotten—the Cuban does not drink liquors, it being unusual to see any of them drunk.

The traveler who notices this fact thinks that it is due to the circumstance of having in the island the opportunity of getting liquors and he says: "The Cuban does not drink because in Cuba there are open saloons, because the government does not interfere in his liberty of drinking when and as much as he wants," but the native knows that is untrue. The Cuban does not drink because the climate conditions of the island do not permit him to drink.

In order to make more clear the former statement, let me repeat it in other words. The Cuban does not drink, not because there are saloons, bars, or "bodegas," where the liquors can be gotten easily, but because the absolutely torrid climate of the island does not permit him to drink. The climate of the tropic has made his nature feel repulsion for liquors, because of the heat they produce.

Baptist Minister Gets Automobile

Rev. J. E. Burt Recipient Of Needed Gift From Church Members

Refuting the argument that folks are losing interest in church affairs, is the presentation last week to the Rev. J. E. Burt of an automobile by members of his churches in the county.

The Rev. Mr. Burt, who has been pastor of Glady Branch, Mt. Moriah at Calvert, Rosman, and Oak Grove, for several years, and is a very popular man in all sections of the county, found himself handicapped in his work by lack of transportation facilities. Interested members of his four churches banded together, all "chipping in" a small amount, and Mr. Burt is now riding his circuit.

He wishes to publicly acknowledge receipt of his gift.

OAKLAND MAN IS HONORED BY GROUP

Walter J. Reid, formerly a resident of the Oakland section of this county, was signally honored recently at Miami, Fla., when he was selected as president of the Greater Miami Hotel association.

Mr. Reid has been actively engaged in the hotel business for the past 20 years. He received his early training in the old Battery Park hotel, Asheville, under guidance of the late J. L. Alexander. Before the war he was head steward at Tate Springs hotel, Tate Springs, Tenn.; Toxaway Inn, Lake Toxaway, and the Imperial hotel, Sumter, S. C. During the war he was sergeant in charge of staff officers' messes, 30th division headquarters.

Since the war he has been manager of the Woodland hotel at Morehead City; the Seaside Inn at St. Augustine, and was for one year manager of the Coronado Beach Golf and Country club, Coronado Beach, Cal. For the past 10 years Mr. Reid has managed various hotels at Miami Beach, including the New York hotel, Hampton Court apartments and, for the past seven years, the El Paso hotel.

During the summer he managed Presidential Inn, Conway, N. H., for three years, and for the past two years has operated Lakewood Lodge at Lake Tahoe, Cal.

NO MAYOR'S COURT

Exceptionally fine week was had in Brevard last week, judging from the fact that Mayor Ralph H. Ramsey had not been called upon to try a single offender since Tuesday of last week.

Cubans were wearing white tropical suits in order to counteract the heat of the tropical climate. The overcoat is useless, nobody wears it because nobody needs it. The foreigners,—especially those of cold countries—call the Cubans "ducks", because of their fondness for water, particularly to the cold shower, while the Cubans call the Americans "Florida ducks," because these, just the same as the Florida ducks, fleeing from winter, seek refuge in Cuba. The steam heat, as a means of heating is unknown in the island. Snow never falls there. The sun shines 12 months of the year; there is practically only one season, summer. The fields are always green; sugar cane and corn fields look like another ocean, look like an enormous sheet of emeralds. In such conditions the heat of the liquors produce a contrary effect to the one desired by the nature of the Cuban. The Cuban has not to fight tendencies toward the liquors because in the island such tendencies. Over there drinks can be had very cheap, because the people, for the climatological reasons expressed, "can not drink."

The tourist, because of the opportunities they find to get liquors, leave in the island a great deal of money, and the saloons, bars, and "bodegas," by the taxes they pay for selling liquors, form a good source of revenue for the state. From this angle or point of view, the government does not interfere in that aspect of the Cuban's liberty.

BOY SCOUTS TO GATHER OLD TOYS FOR POOR

Brevard Boy Scouts voted Friday night to gather all discarded toys in the community, repair the broken ones, and distribute them to families of the town where Santa Claus is not expected to make his visit.

A house to house canvass will be made by the boys, and requests for any type of toy that will help to make Christmas more real for those children whose parents are unable to provide other than the necessary things of life, with no margin for buying toys.

W. W. Babb, of Jackson, Miss., who is making his home in Brevard, and who has had several years' experience in repairing toys, will be in charge of the repair department for the Scouts, assisted by George Hayes, carpenter and general repair man. Capt. Fred Miller, Scoutmaster, will direct the boys in gathering the toys and placing them in the most needy homes.

At the meeting Friday night, Billy Nicholson was given his second class badge. C. K. Osborne, Lewis Hamlin, Henry Miller and Sandy McLeod reported several merit badge requirements completed, and request was made for the court of honor to be present at the meeting this Friday evening, at which time the boys will be given opportunity to pass their tests.

Good Attendance Noted At Meet

Nearly 100 per cent attendance was noted at the teachers' meeting held at Brevard high school Saturday morning, and school authorities are highly enthused over the great meeting.

Topic of discussion was study, with Miss Janie Strickland, head of the Brevard commercial department speaking on "How to Teach," and Miss Louise Williams, English teacher at Rosman high school, speaking on the topic of "Teaching Children How to Study." The Rev. H. Perry, rector of St. Philips Episcopal church, had charge of the devotionals.

SEEKING FLOUR SHIPMENT FOR NEEDY PEOPLE

Red Cross Chairman Asks For New Supply From Government Wheat

SUPPLY IS EXHAUSTED IN THIS COUNTY

Many People Dependent On Red Cross Flour For Their Existence

Announcement was made Tuesday by Mr. Silversteen that another shipment of flour would be received in the county within ten days to three weeks.

Effort is being made by Jos. S. Silversteen, chairman of the Transylvania chapter American Red Cross to secure another car load of flour to be distributed among the needy of the county.

Last of the previous shipment was distributed last week, and many families of the county will suffer from lack of food unless another supply is procured from the government-owned wheat.

First shipment was received in the county last June, and has been distributed to needy people in all sections of the county, this being the only wheat bread, and in numerous instances, the only bread supply, that large numbers of families have had.

While distribution has been under supervision of the local chapter of the Red Cross, actual work has been done by committees of citizens in each community who have given of their time without charge.

Substations have been maintained at Lake Toxaway, Rosman and Pisgah Forest, with main station at Brevard. W. H. Arrowood has served as dispenser at Lake Toxaway, assisted by Hosea Lee and C. F. Clarke. Craig Whitmire has been in charge of the supply room at Rosman, with Robert Mackey in charge at Pisgah Forest. Mrs. A. B. Galloway and C. M. Douglas have been largely responsible for the work in Brevard, assistance being given by W. A. Wilson, welfare officer.

Care has been taken at all stations to have the flour given only to those in need, committees of reputable people in each community writing orders or recommendations for those who have been given aid.

Effort has been made on several occasions to "cause trouble" in the distribution by people who felt "duty-bounden" to kick on the way the flour was being distributed, and in some instances check-up has revealed that once serving people had received one or more bags. However, the carefully selected committee members have been very faithful in observance of regulations laid down by the government and the national Red Cross. Those people who are well informed as to manner of distribution, and the further fact that no one derives any salary, commission or benefit from handling the flour, have complimented workers on the way the situation has been handled, and have assisted in making the thankless task more pleasant.

Letters, thanking each worker for the efficient way in which they have done the vast amount of work entailed in distribution of the flour were mailed the first of this week by the chairman, as follows:

To All Committees Distributing Flour

Furnished by Red Cross:

Accept the sincere thanks of your chairman for the very efficient manner in which the distribution of Red Cross flour has been handled by each of you. Your work has been one which (Continued on page two)

AGED NEWSPAPER TELLS OF EARLY PROGRESS IN COUNTY

Two copies of "The French Broad Voice, only newspaper published in Upper French Broad Valley, the Richest, Most Productive, Most Healthy and Delightful Section of North Carolina," were brought to The Times office last week by Mrs. Thos. Edgar Patton of Davidson River. The papers were published in 1899 and bore volume number 2.

M. D. Cooper was listed as business manager of The Voice, and W. P. Johnson, editor, object of the publication being for "Interest of Transylvania County, Devoted to County Interests, Development of Natural Resources and the Dissensing of General News and Information."

Much agitation was then going on concerning the building of a railroad into Transylvania, with part of the people pulling for annexation with Asheville, and strong emphasis being laid on the connection of Carolina, Knoxville and Western road via the Connestee section, the latter route already having some preliminary work done.

H. J. Hart was sheriff of the county at that time, and was stressing through The Voice his plea for collection of taxes. J. H. Duckworth was postmaster at Brevard and along with announcement of mail schedules to Hendersonville, Asheville, Travelers Rest, Pickens Courthouse, and Cashiers, made not that "the law strictly prohibits anyone except the postmaster or his clerk from having access to the mails, or to the part of the office where the mails are opened and kept for delivery." Daily mail schedules were maintained to Hendersonville and Asheville, tri-weekly to Travelers Rest and Cashiers and semi-weekly to Pickens Courthouse.
