RUMORS THAT FLY THICK AND FAST.
 Old Dame Rumor is a popular sister in this section. Fact is she is about the most popular person in all of the county.

"And I heard that....." and so on, this and that, and the other, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred somebody has either lied or willingly and knowingly repeated what is known to be a lie.
 There are a lot of things that happen which are not so sweet and there are lots of things that should be looked into by the right people, and if people would stop to think long enough in the right manner, instead of going on to the next person and the next person saying "and I heard....." they would go direct to the person or persons involved and help get the whole thing straightened out.
 Hell is going to be over crowded with folks who will get there on nothing more than "I heard....."

THE FRENCH BROAD RIVER PROJECT.
 Agitation has been started in Hendersonville for clearance of the French Broad river channel and the resultant reclamation of thousands of acres of bottom land. The Times-News, in an editorial on the topic Saturday has the following to say:
 Dr. W. W. Carpenter of Hendersonville has initiated consideration of a project that would prove as profitable to Transylvania, Henderson and Buncombe counties as any public enterprise on which the federal government could spend money in this section of North Carolina.
 This is the proposal to clear the channel of the French Broad river of obstructions and put it in condition to prevent overflowing of flood waters. A large amount of damage is done almost every year in the valley of this river in the three counties by high waters. Land is damaged and crops are destroyed when the floods come. In addition to these losses, additional losses are sustained where fertile lands lie idle because the danger of overflow makes the gamble of cultivating it unprofitable.
 Dr. Carpenter would have the federal government improve the channel of the French Broad so that it will carry whatever volume of flood water comes down the valley, prevent overflow, and safeguarding the lowlands and the crops of the farmers along the river. The importance of the proposal is obvious and if a first class job was done the people of the French Broad valley in the three counties would reap many thousands of dollars in benefits in the years to come.
 The clearing and lowering of the channel of the French Broad would be a long step toward the proper drainage of the valleys traversed by the numerous smaller streams in this section. For example, it is said that much of the overflow in the Mud Creek valley is due to the fact that the level of the French Broad is so high it prevents the flow of water into the larger stream. The result is that obstructions and sand accumulates in Mud Creek and conditions in that stream steadily become worse.
 If the channel of the French Broad was put in proper condition, in the course of a few years the smaller streams would be improved by natural drainage.
 This proposal is a conservation and reclamation project which would be of vast benefit to this section. As the French Broad is under control of the federal government, it is necessary that the people of the section go to the government with any plans for improvement of the river.
 A few years ago, government engineers made public an elaborate survey and plans for a vast amount of government work on the French Broad river. It was proposed that a power dam one hundred feet high be erected near Biltmore, among other things. It was said that this dam would back the waters of the French Broad almost to Brevard and up all the smaller streams of the section, for example, in Mud Creek up to the city of Hendersonville. This project would cover the larger part of the lowlands of Henderson county with a vast lake, which would extend up the French Broad valley into Transylvania county.
 As there is no particular demand for a lake of this extent in this section, and the citizens of this county would seriously object to being deprived of their lands for the purpose of converting them to this purpose. The Times-News suggests that if the federal government desires to do something practical for the people of three North Carolina counties, the opportunity is presented in the plan of Dr. Carpenter. The job that gentleman wants done is very small in comparison with the job dreamed of by government engineers. It will cost more money than the people of the French Broad valley could contribute for the purpose; but it would amount to an insignificant sum for the United States government.

 If some of the money that has been appropriated and is being expended for government relief in this section could be applied to improvement of the French Broad river, a job that would be worth much more than its cost, that would be a profitable investment of public funds for many years to come, could be performed.

the foregoing by way of suggesting the possibilities of this project and the profits to be derived from it; but the fact is, probably, that when it is brought to the attention of the federal authorities it will be found that the government expends money only for the improvement of navigable streams and not on drainage projects. The French Broad is not navigable in this section and could not be made navigable and there is no reason why it should be made navigable. So there is where any effort to enlist the federal government in this project will probably end.

However, it may be that Franklin D. Roosevelt's plan for development of the Tennessee valley contain the solution of this problem. If not, the Times-News suggests that as Uncle Sam is regularly in the business of loaning money to his relatives, he could loan the people of the French Broad valley the money necessary to make these improvements along the streams, the cash to be repaid over a period of years by the land owners who derive benefit from the work.

Always believing that the principles set out in missionary churches are fine, and that the work of teaching and encouraging the poor deluded "furriners" to see things religious and uplifting like we of America do, we hesitate to say just what should be done with folk like the one who took the pot shots at President-Elect Roosevelt last Wednesday,—but the fact sticks out like a sore thumb—if the bars are let down to anything and everything that wants to come into America the people of America can expect nothing better than a re-occurrence of the tragedy of last Wednesday.

MAKING A MOCK OF GOD
 (By C. E. Burney)

I am afraid that a great many people are losing the real value of church going. I am afraid that there are a great many people who are lowering the dignity of the religious worship. There should be no applauding of our religious services.
 The church is not a place for amusements; neither is it a place for glory of man. If a person wants to be amused they should go to a theater or where ever amusements may be carried on.
 But as we enter the Holy Temple of God we should leave formality off; leave everything off that will get between God and us; and our minds should be focused on God and Him only.
 I believe in good singing in our religious worship over and over, that singing in the Church is what dessert is to a nice delicious meal.
 It is fine to have our choir and our quartets in our churches, but if they are not going to sing that God may have the praise, and that men may be drawn to Him they become liabilities and a mock of God.
 When quartets are singing and saying in their singing "Have a seat my bass," you too my tenor, etc. God is omitted and is mocked; and that part of the service becomes a menace to civilization, and a fine representation of the jungles of Africa.
 Christ says: "Let everything be done decently and in order."
 God wants ministers who will not sell His cause for a mess of pottage. God wants ministers who will not commercialize the Christian religion.
 God wants ministers who are willing to place their lives on the Altar for Him, and to preach the gospel without compromising with the devil and who are willing to trust Him for everything.
 Hypocrisy in religion is the greatest folly as well as wickedness, since the God we have to do with can easily see through all our disguises, and will certainly deal with us hereafter, not according to our profession but our practices.
 God wants ministers with backbone, men who will not stoop to the wrong to serve the hour. God wants ministers who will always hold up the cross and the atonement of Jesus. Hence let our choirs, quartets and any other singing organization in our churches re-dedicate and reconsecrate their lives to Jesus, "for the way of the cross leads home."
 Let us sing our Anthems of praise, but let it be done to the glory of God, and not of man.
 Let us sing the sweet hymns of Zion, such as: Abide With Me, The Old Rugged Cross, Faith Of Our Fathers, Amazing Grace, Go Preach The Gospel, I Am Happy In Jesus Alone, I Am Going Through With Jesus, A Charge To Keep I Have, I Do, Don't You, Am I A Soldier, A New Name In Glory, and A Child Of The King, etc. Let us sing as though the Heavenly choir was singing in unison with us, but let it all be for the glory of God.
 "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for what so ever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Gal. 6, 7.

The county agent of Martin County has reclaimed and treated enough tobacco see dto plant 164,000 square yards of plant bed for 47 farmers.

GLANCING BACK AT BREVARD
 Taken from the files of The Sylvan Valley News, beginning 1895, through the courtesy of Mrs. W. B. F. Wright.
 (Week of March 19, 1897)
 Our streets and sidewalks are at present unspeakably horrible and totally unfit for publication.
 We have the information that the wife of R. B. Rains died at her home Monday morning. No particulars.
 We are informed that Caldwell Galloway and Emma Whitmire, of the Tip Top section, were married Sunday, February 28. No further particulars have reached us.
 Trade is reviving. We are informed that T. H. Galloway, our enterprising west-end merchant, and English McGaha swapped hats this week.
 Hon. E. A. Aiken has gone to Washington in the interest of the pie brigade.
 John Neely, a member of the Redwood firm in Asheville, was a visitor at the home of his parents here Sunday.
 Maj. W. E. Breese, of Asheville, landed in Brevard Tuesday, and is stopping with the pleasant family of John E. Smith, miller at the Breese heirs' mill.
 Married at the groom's residence on Turkey creek, this county, on Thursday last, James A. Thrift and Amanda E. Lyday. Rev. Newton Orr performed the ceremony.
 Umbrellas are about the only dry goods on sale now, and there are those who borrow instead of buying.
 T. W. Whitmire recently bought a lot on Broad street from W. A. Gash, and sold it the same day to S. N. Foster, who will build a nice residence at an early date. Whit says: "Sell lots now and let them go helps out so to make a town grow."
 The great slugging match between Jim Corbett and Fitzsimmons, at Carson, Nevada, St. Patrick's day resulted in the knock out of Corbett, the world's champion, in the 14th round. Our only regret is that they didn't use sledge hammers and put an end to each other—and the prize ring for public brutes.
 More than 50 persons in this county, who have had the NEWS more than a year without paying anything for it, will receive it no more—until they call at the captain's office and make a deposit. We have been very glad during the past year to receive any farm produce our readers could spare on subscription, so we know there is no excuse for them to be in arrears.
 Postmaster Cooper wears a huge smile while the numberless hungry candidates for Brevard postoffice are feeling somewhat as Jonah did—down in the mouth. The ruling of Postmaster General Gary that all postmasters, fourth class as well as presidential, would be allowed to serve out a full term of four years is the cause of the smiles and tears above referred to. This gives Mr. Cooper a lease of the office until near the end of the present fiscal year—July 1. Those who have moved into town with the expectation of handing out the mail to our people will be compelled to live on expectation some months yet.
 Joe Zachary, storekeeper and gauger at the Davidson river distillery, has moved his family to Brevard, and is occupying the W. B. Duckworth residence.
 The question is asked, why is it that the Asheville Gazette does not reach Brevard on time? It is frequently two or three days old before we get it. We have investigated and believe the trouble to be on the train—the run from Asheville to Hendersonville is too short to properly sort the mail. A pouch from Asheville to Brevard would obviate difficulty. The GAZETTE is the only daily that can possibly reach us the day of publication, and it should never fail.
 Some crazy lunatic has presented McKinley with a St. Bernard spaniel weighing 147 pounds. There is no danger that the president will retire from office a millionaire if he has that "purr" to feed; and there is no prospect of a surplus in the treasury if it feeds at the public trough.
 The extraordinary session on congress convened Monday, the 15th. Now look out for prosperity and don't stand in its way, but give it a chance. Don't agitate the money question, but just wait and see how the McKinley tariff, made to order by the manufacturers and trusts, will raise the price of farm produce.
 The Pickens SENTINEL came to us last week under a new management—Julius E. Boggs having sold out to Homer A. Ritchie and J. L. O. Thompson. The latter gentlemen are well known to our citizens Mr. Thompson having been at one time located here as publisher. The politics of the paper will be democratic.
