pay in cases wherever possible in return for horse hire and rent.

All plots of land under cultivation by those receiving aid will be under direct supervision of the Welfare Board, with the agricultural instructors and their assistants seeing that the work is carried on in schedule manner. Those refusing to work under the plan will be denied aid of any sort, all agencies combining in an effort to make the people of the county as nearly self-sustaining within the next several months as possible.

Another meeting of the board and members of the agricultural council is scheduled to be held Friday night of this week for further perfection of plans.

Announcement is also made by the Welfare Board that any suggestions or criticisms of the work now going on or to be conducted be made prior to the meeting to any member of the council, and these suggestions and criticisms will be taken up at the meeting.

It was pointed out at the meeting held last Friday night, that allegations and criticisms had been made in several instances in regard to the work of the welfare department that were found to be groundless. However, it was the consensus of the board that these suggestions and criticisms should be made by all citizens of the county when and where there was need felt for same, and the matter would be investigated thoroughly and all reports, when made to any member of the board would be held strictly confidential, merits or demerits as the case might prove to be, reported back to the party making reports.

CONNESTEE NOTES

The friends of Lambert Baker are in sympathy with him in the misfortune of getting his arm broken while cranking an automobile Saturday.

Miss Nola Gillespie returned home from the hospital Sunday, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. We are indeed happy to know that she is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Batson have returned to their home in Chicago. The Connestee school children enjoyed a lovely Valentine box on Thursday afternoon. Many beautiful valentines were distributed, and hearts were made glad by their messages of friendship and love.

It is sad to record the passing of another one of Connestee's most honored citizens. Oh, that all men would exemplify in their lives as did our good neighbor Esq. A. C. Landreth that high and noble principle of truthfulness, honesty and uprightness. A friend and neighbor hard to duplicate anywhere. His advice to friends was always from a deep and abiding principle of right and justice.

VERNER SAYS BANK BILL SHOULD PASS

no mere whim; they represent fundamental principles of justice, honesty and efficient public administration. I restrict this to the banking bill, hoping to comment on the tax-reform bill next week.

"What Mr. Galloway seeks to do is really to realize resources tied up in closed banks whose withdrawal is helping to paralyze business when there are so many other additional causes of trouble. The absurdity of one man's owing a bank, and the bank owing another and neither of them able to clear up their relations except in the present clumsy, slow, and tortuous method is sublime in its ridiculous illustration of the paralysis produced by red-tape in governmental procedure. The principle involved in the reform proposed, by which claims may be bought and sold, is only a return to the basic principle of equity, which has begun to be lost sight of in the welter of confused financial procedure. That principle can be worked out in administrative details as easily as the present lack of principle; and the stamp of law on the principle will free the liquidating agents to go forward with much greater ease and efficiency. At present those agents are bound by a host of legal considerations based upon the tangled web of a system long ago outgrown and directly productive of the bank failures and inequities which have so terribly harassed and distressed our people. It is not necessary, the fault of those agents that they cannot expedite the liquidation of the banks; it is the law that controls them. Put Mr. Galloway's ethical principle on the statute books and tell those agents to facilitate the clearing up of those accounts on both sides of the ledger and there ought to be an immediate revival of confidence. The people are tired of lame excuses. They have a right to demand action to effect the restoration of their money and of their freedom to transact honest business."

Respectfully
S. P. VERNER

GIRL SCOUTS TO GIVE PLAY ON MARCH 3RD

Members of all four patrols of Girl Scout Troop No. 2 will participate in a big entertainment feature scheduled for production in the High School auditorium March 3, according to announcement made by the troop leaders.

The local Scouts will present two one-acts plays as a part of their annual drive for funds to finance a Girl Scout Camp. The entire proceeds will be used to help defray expenses of the ten-day outing which will probably be held in June.

"Our Aunt from California," hilarious farce, will be the first attraction. In this play, a rich aunt promises her three nieces that the one of them that is best able to please her will be given a trip to Europe. Their efforts to please the old lady present an interesting and laughable picture.

The second part of the program will feature "The Kleptomaniac." This is an intriguing story of high society, with robbery, jealousy, and romance woven into the plot. The very title of the play foreshadows its interest.

Miss Beulah Mae Zachary is directing the productions, and she is being assisted in the work by Miss Ethel McMinn and Miss Lillian Jenkins. These young ladies have been connected with the local Girl Scouts for several years, and their work is showing gratifying results.

A large and enthusiastic audience is expected to support the Scout movement by its attendance Friday night.

THREE "BABES IN WOODS" FOUND HERE ON MONDAY

The three babes in the woods had nothing on as many youngsters who were located in Brevard early Monday night. It seems that three little tots, around the seven-year age, came to the home of W. S. Hooker on the Country Club road at dusk and asked to be allowed to warm themselves.

Mr. Hooker questioned the children while Mrs. Hooker prepared a warm meal for them. Assured that the children were actually lost, Mr. Hooker got Sheriff Tom Wood, and the two gentlemen carried the children to their home in the Selma section, where they found the parents frantic, and a large number of people already forming searching parties.

ROSMAN Y. T. H. F. BOYS VERY ACTIVE

The boys are setting out shubbery around school house, carrying out one of their annual objectives.

The eighth and ninth grade are studying orcharding and have ordered 200 grafting stocks and will graft the kind of apple scions on those to make trees for sale and to supplement home orchards and start new orchards.

The tenth and eleventh grade boys have been studying farm machinery but have changed over temporary to tobacco in order to get the fundamentals on sowing the tobacco beds which should be put in right now. Augustus Norris and Wallace Gillespie are preparing their beds.

Tobacco has as good an outlook for a money or tax paying crop as any crop this year and a market is assured. Any community wishing to have a few meetings on tobacco should get in touch with the department and we will hold some meetings right off in time to sow the seed. We have a supply of Judys' Pride seed on hand direct from Mr. Judy in Kentucky.

M. D. Hardin and his two sons, Dwight and Gordon, have recently built a dandy brooder house, a brick brooder and ordered some good quality chicks to put in it. This house and brooder shows interest, thought, plans and effort seldom demonstrated. They are putting out a young orchard of good varieties and are ordering grafting stocks to make many of their own trees which will save them several 100 per cent. Any one interested in buying trees or grafting material should get in touch with the department and save lots of money.

Warren Case of Lake Toxaway is planning to build a brick or rock brooder soon, also J. C. Parsons, of East Fork is going to build a brooder house and rock brooder.
