YOU'VE GOT TO LIKE THIS KIND

"Business as usual" has been the general expression of local people during the past several days, and this in the face of the general tie up of banking facilities. No whining and growing, but a spirit of "taking it on the chin like a man" has been evident on every hand.

Facing facts as they actually are, people in this community are steadfastly looking and building for a stabilized condition in the future that will have none of the uncertainty that has been so prevalent in all lines of endeavor for many months.

You have to like this spirit—the spirit that doesn't grovel in the dust, with hands spread apart, face drawn out, and spreading the contagion of fear. You have to like a business man who goes on smiling, working, boosting and encouraging when he has barely enough cash on hand to make change, accommodating his friends whenever possible, in fact, "doing all he can with what he has."

THE PRESIDENT'S ECONOMY MEASURE

Under this heading The Charlotte Observer ably discussed last Sunday a matter that is very vital to the country at large—that of cutting the tremendous expense of the national government and its agencies.

Proving that he is a REAL LEADER, the president has shown a nerve that no other man has dared to show—that of cutting the Veterans appropriation. It is not the intention of the president to cut and slash when deserving fellows are concerned. Those who have watched Roosevelt are absolutely certain that no action will be taken that will bring discomfort to the noble men who gave their best when their country called, and are now incapacitated—but believe that this move will bring about a "weeding out" process which will be healthy not only for the country at large, but to the Veterans as well.

There are men in Transylvania county today who should be getting a decent pension from the Federal government but who are unable to care for themselves because of disease or infirmities directly traceable to their service for their country—yet these same fellows are literally on the mercies of the world because that share of the money that should rightfully go to the ex-soldier unable to care for himself is being gobbled up by those who by all rules of right should not be getting a cent.

Then too, it will eliminate some of those high and mighty birds who are sitting pretty in the administration of the Veteran Fund who should be out earning their living like other folks are trying to do. This, as we see it, should be welcomed by Veterans' organizations, and the public at large.

The American government owes a debt that money cannot pay, a debt that is just and due, but every Veteran should appreciate a move that will give fairness to the man who is unable to care for himself. The editorial from The Observer follows:

"Congress continues to invest in President Roosevelt its confidence and abide his dynamic and daring leadership.

"Concurrence on the part of the House in his drastic economy measure, supported by enough Republican members to offset defections on the Democratic side, will unquestionably meet with the approval of the people of America.

"When President Roosevelt, in his sweeping and all-inclusive program of governmental reformation, touches on such a delicate issue as that of veterans' appropriations, he approaches ground that is vibrant with sentiment.

"It is an attestation of the powerful hold he has upon the American people as well as the present Congress that the House has gone with him in his determination to allow no political or sentimental uprising to sway him from his determined course in this matter.

"The Observer is confident that the masses of the American people, without regard to political affiliation, are with President Roosevelt in this economy move.

"It is absurd to talk about bringing order out of the present economic confusion without an aggressive effort to bring the Federal budget more nearly into balance, and there is, obviously, no way to accomplish this worthy objective without engaging in some radical slashing of appropriations.

"It is the duty of the war veterans in this emergency to lend their support to the President in this wise and unavoidable program.

"They can be very helpful to him, to Congress and to their Country by showing a spirit of cooperation and confidence in this move not only, but by advising, through their accredited leadership, as to where the cutting should be done to the end that worthy veterans who have seen service, who have been disabled in the ranks of the American army and who are deserving of governmental bounties, are not imposed upon, while others, far less able to validate their claims for pensions, are shifted out and stricken off the governmental payroll."

Of all the joys known to man, that of running a country newspaper is—some people think—the greatest. Nobody ever comes around with pet ideas they want someone to pat over; no one ever asks the paper to boost something which they think for the moment is RIGHT regardless of the other fellow's ideas; no one ever hops on the editor because he ought to be running sixteen pages instead of eight so that everything that is of news value can be gotten in regardless of whether there are enough ads to pay for but one or two pages; no one ever hops on the editor because he doesn't see things just like 100 per cent of the people who read his paper sees it; no one ever gets peeved at the editor of a country newspaper—no never.

Heaven is going to be made up of newspapers, edited just like the beautiful white winged angels want them—carrying such news and such features as the angels want carried—boosting such things as are right in a way that angels should boost them and seeing things just like angels—which means that there will be no room in Heaven for anybody except people running newspapers.

District Manager

District Convention News

I attended a meeting at Hickory Friday night and those Hickory Woodmen said to tell all Camps and Groves to send large delegations to take part in the many things they will have arranged for our pleasure and profit. They will have unusual additions to the program—don't ask me what that will be—I don't know. They would not tell me; we will have to go and find out.

The Wednesday night program will be held in the "Moose Hall" and will begin with a banquet. The banquet tickets will be 50 cents each. You can write to Mr. T. S. Keever, care Hickory Nut Shop, Hickory, N. C. for banquet reservations. Please do so early so he will know how many plates to have prepared. Mr. E. B. Lewis, W. O. W. State Manager, Mrs. Effie Rogers, State Manager Woodmen Circle, and Head Consul Barrington T. Hill and other prominent members will appear on the program.

The Wednesday morning session will be held in W. O. W. Hall and the free lunch will be served there.

You can find rooms to suit your pocket book, at $1.00 or down; ask Keever or any Hickory Woodman and they will direct you to the hotel or boarding house.

State Convention

Everything is working out nicely for Head Camp Convention. Every Camp with twenty or more members should send a delegate. All Woodmen attending the morning session will get to hear President Bradshaw speak, and believe me that will be worth a long, long trip.

The Bank Holiday

Sovereigns, don't let the bank holiday discourage you and our work; everything will soon be running smoothly and we will get back our faith in our banks, bankers, friends neighbors and churches and perhaps some of our politicians. Let's try boosting, pulling, pushing and helping to right the old ship of state, then our Woodmen Camps will grow by leaps and bounds; your income and mine will increase and perhaps we will be able to get that new suit, paint up the house or buy that new furniture or what not.

Last Week's Trip

Last week I drove through Transylvania, Jackson, Buncombe, Rutherford, McDowell, Cleveland, Catawba, Burk and Caldwell counties. Saw many of the old timers and made a few friends, it needless to say, I was glad to see them all and tell them of the coming District and State Conventions. Perhaps the thing that impressed me most was the fact that every last one was still interested in the future welfare of the good old Woodmen of the World and the high ideals the organization stands for, with such faith and confidence we must advance.

GLANCING BACK AT BREWARD

Taken from the files of The Sylvan Valley News, beginning 1895, through the courtesy of Mrs. W. B. F. Wright.

(From The File Of April 9, 1897)

The new drug store on Broad street in rear of the Brevard bank is being fitted up with additional shelving, prescription cases etc., and Brevard will soon have two drug stores. Dr. Geo. H. P. Cole is the mover in this new business venture. We wish him abundant success.

Wilson Pool, who is taking a course of instruction at Cathay's business college, Greenville, S. C., was visiting friends here the first of the week.

Farmers who haven't yet made up their minds to buy a Clark's cutaway harrow should ask the opinion of W. K. Osborne, W. H. Allison, T. S. Wood, John Mills, Jasper Orr, Geo. C. Neill and others who have bought from J. E. Clayton.

A "right smart sprinkle" of visiting lawyers from adjacent counties were here during court, but only two, W. A. Smith of Hendersonville, and W. E. Brees, Jr., of Asheville, remembered to make the NEWS a call.

The fence law injunction which was proving a serious obstacle to many of our farmers, was dissolved by the court here last week. The gates are now being placed in position, and the "stock up" law will soon be in force. As the best method of abolishing a bad law is to thoroughly execute it, we hope it may be given a thorough test by our citizens.

We notice that "reduced rates" are offered to our people by the H. & B. railroad, but as no copy has been furnished us they probably do not want our readers to find out.

Dr. Morey, the dentist, was so well pleased with his recent visit here he intends to return the last of May.

Business is booming at the Racket Store. Those in search of bargains always call on Smith & Robinson.

LOST: Somewhere between time and eternity, a fine large job of prosperity of a bright yellow color, with a collar of confidence fringed with national bank patriotism. When last seen was dressed in a suit of corporal promises made in glass houses of private property. A suitable reward will be paid for any information by applying to an unemployed or half paid dupe who voted to corral the animal last November—Brookville Democrat.

What good does it do to drive whisky out of town by ordinances and laws when bottles and jugs are brought in from every direction on public occasions, to make the town trouble and expense without revenue? Is there any better method than the dispensary to manage intoxicants?

The new tariff bill which is to set the wheels of prosperity in motion passed the house and was sent to the senate last week. When that body gets through with its provisions it is doubtful if its authors or the trusts for whose benefit it was framed will recognize it. One thing is very certain; Reed does not manage the senate and it is doubtful if Hanna has sufficient influence to introduce "gag law" in that austere and dilatory assembly.

The Cubans laid down their arms eighteen years ago on the Spanish promise of reforms in Cuba. They now propose to lay down their arms after they have secured the needed reforms. They have discovered that promises don't count where Spanish honor is concerned, and freedom from the Spanish yoke is their ultimatum.

If there is any visible difference between "Cleveland hard times" up to inauguration day and "McKinley prosperity" since, it would require a microscope to discover it.

A dispatch dated Asheville, April 4, containing the sad intelligence that "Millard Jones died here this morning," was received by his family on Monday, and was the first intimation his family had that he was sick. Mr. Jones left Brevard by the Friday evening train, in his usual health, to go to his recently purchased home on Hominy creek, and the message fell like a bomb in his home and among his friends and acquaintance here. Reliable information as the cause of his death is not at hand, but there is a rumor that hemorrhage (whether of the lungs or stomach is not known) was the immediate cause. He died at the home of his brother, H. C. Jones, in Asheville, Sunday morning, and an effort was made several times during the day to forward a telegram to Brevard, but without success, and it was well up in the day Monday before his family were notified. There is no position of honor or profit in the county to which Millard G. Jones might not have aspired could he but have obeyed the injunction, "Touch not; taste not; handle not."

The upper French Broad valley has had its flood and the farmers are looking blue. A continuous rain of 28 hours, commencing early Sunday morning, in addition to the surplus water which had fallen during court week, sent the river out over the valley until it looked like a vast inland sea. Farmers both above and below Brevard report the highest tide in three years, and much damage to

Whitmire Appointed Crop Production Loan Member In Transylvania County

T. W. Whitmire, at the Waltermire hotel, has been appointed by the Crop Production Loan department to assist in making out applications. There is no charge for this service. Fees for notary public, clerk of court and register of deeds are all the expenses entailed in procuring the loan, this total being set at $1.60 for Transylvania.

S. S. Williams, of Waynesville, field inspector, was in Brevard Saturday and assisted a large group of farmers in making their applications. He announces that he will be at the Waltermire hotel, Brevard, on Monday of next week, March 20, from ten o'clock in the morning till 2:30 in the afternoon, at which time all applications made up to that time will be taken up and forwarded to Washington.

Prospective borrowers need not write to Washington for application blanks and detailed information about the loans, Mr. Williams said, but may get the material direct from him.

The application blank this year requires a statement of the amount of the loan desired, the number of acres for which seed and fertilizer are to be purchased, the amount desired for feed, and the amount desired for fuel and oil for tractors. The application also requires a statement of the amount of the loan which is to be used for making repairs or for the purchase of other supplies. The sum total of these several items must not exceed the maximum rates per acre specified in the regulations.

A legal description of the land on which the crops are to be planted is also required, together with a statement of the acreage of crops grown by the applicant in 1932, and the yields obtained. The applicant is required to file a statement of seed and feed on hand at the time of applying for a loan.

To obtain the loan, the application blank stipulates, the applicant must agree to use the money loaned only for the purchase of supplies necessary for crop production in 1933 on the land described. Prospective borrowers must also state that they have neither the means nor the credit with which to secure these production supplies, and that unless the loan is granted, they will be unable to farm in 1933.

Significant differences between the 1933 and 1932 regulations governing crop production loans are that this year the maximum permitted to any borrower is $300, and that, to qualify for a loan, borrowers must agree to reduce their acreage of cash crops 30 per cent below their 1932 acreage, provided their farming operations are above the specified minimum. As in 1932, a first lien on the 1933 crop is required. Loans are to be repaid on or before October 31, 1933. The regulations make it unlawful for any person to dispose of or assist in disposing of any crops given as security for any crop loan, except for the account of the Secretary of Agriculture and provides for fine and imprisonment for violation of such requirement. The regulations require each borrower to agree to plant a garden for home use and to plant sufficient acreage to provide necessary livestock feed.

BALSAM GROVE NEWS

Misses Zona and Junnie McCall, of Brevard high school, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. McCall.

The health in our community is not so very good at present. The infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Owen died recently with pneumonia.

Misses Maxie and Georgia McCall of the Macedonia section Sunday night with their sister, Mrs. Harry McCall.

Several folks from Balsam Grove were Brevard visitors Saturday. Messrs Kenneth and Oscar McCall spent the week-end with friends and relatives at Pickets, S. C.

Flody Brown visited Miss Lois McCall Sunday.

Will Daves and Tommie Smith were dinner guests Sunday of W. M. McCall of Macedonia.

Aunt Sis Galloway has been ill the past week.

Katherine Owen of Jackson is spending a few days visiting her sister, Mrs. Robby McCall.

Ira McCall spent Sunday with Miss Ellen Owen.

Emmett Moore spent Sunday with Miss Alma Broom.

H. S. Parker and wife were guests Sunday of W. A. McCall.

Roscoe McCall was a recent visitor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Arch Galloway.

Doctor McCall is very sick at this writing.

Though he has a herd of 20 cows and produces grade-A milk for the town of Hickory, J. R. Wallace of Catawba County has never had a silo because of the cost. He recently dug a trench silo and will fill it next summer.

FISH SEASON OPENS IN SMOKY MOUNTAIN

Tennessee Side Ready—N. C. Date Set For April 16—August 31

Asheville, N. C., March 7—Trout fishermen may soon enter the Great Smoky Mountain National Park according to J. E. Eakin, superintendent of the national playground. Streams in the area will be opened to fishing in the North Carolina portion of the park in April, and in the Tennessee section of the area in March.

Fishing in the choice streams on the North Carolina side of the National Park, will be allowed during the period from April 16 to August 31. The open season in the Tennessee section will extend from March 2 to November 30. Many scores of miles of good fishing water in the national playground will be open to anglers this season.

For the purpose of restocking streams, several of the brooks and creeks will be closed to fishing this year. Such streams have been plainly marked as closed streams. They include: Bradley Fork of Oconee Lifty River, Twenty-mile Creek, and Deep Creek in North Carolina, and Crosby Creek, Fishcamp Prong, and waters of the Little River above Fishcamp Prong and West Fork of Little River in Tennessee.

Fishing will be permitted with rod-held in hand, only. Set poles are prohibited. The daily limit is set at 20 trout per person and the size limit is six inches or more for brook trout and seven inches or more for rainbow trout. Fishermen will be required to have state licenses while fishing either in the North Carolina or the Tennessee portions of the park. State fishing laws apply in these two areas.

Over 600 miles of fine trout fishing waters are to be found within the boundaries of the national park. On the North Carolina side of the great central divide are a number of streams which are famous among anglers as fishing waters. Quite the most renowned of all streams in the area is the Cataloochee Creek, the location for a new dude ranch which will be opened on April 15 in the national park.

Stocking of streams within the national park is going forward steadily and within a few years, streams now closed will become popular fishing in the national playground.

A medicine that does something for women

A woman is old at thirty when she has let herself run down. And she is young at sixty if she knows how to keep clear of chronic sluggishness.

Have you never tried the harmless medicine that is made for this very condition? Do you know that two or three weeks of its gentle stimulation has done the most amazing things for lots of women?

This means of stimulating the system to new life is a doctor's prescription. It is known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is made from fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. From the day you begin with it, you will feel better; one spoonful disposes of any bilious headache; a larger dose removes any constipated condition. A little now and then will keep you guarded from the auto-intoxication that dulls appetite and ambition in any man or woman.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is known to all druggists; they always have it on hand. It is the most likeable and remarkable medicine you ever tasted. Try one bottle and compare your condition with the way you felt before!
