LET'S FACE THE FACTS.

Legalized beer may be an awful pill to swallow for some of us, while at the same time it is bringing joy to the hearts of others. No matter how one feels about it, facts are facts, and must be faced as such.

Beer has been legalized in a number of states, and as it looks now will eventually be followed by most of the others. North Carolina people (that is, lots of them) may feel that the idea of letting the bars down for sale of even a 3.2 per cent content beer and wine drink is all wrong—that it is not best to put the stuff in front of those who would be tempted to over-indulge, and that they much prefer an absolute bone-dry type law—this, however, does not change the status of things. Beer is going to be sold in North Carolina whether people want it sold or not.

Trucks, hundreds of them, are going to use the North Carolina highways in transporting beer and wines to the states on each side of us where the sale will soon be made legal, and all forces that the State of North Carolina can muster will not be able to cope with the situation. There will be a certain amount of its way into the state, just like whiskey has done with the absolute "bone-dry" law in effect that has been more or less active for more than a dozen years.

To say that active patrols can be maintained to insure transporting trucks passing through the state without dropping off part of the cargo here and part of it there, is just like saying "I'll build a great big windbreak of chaff and the storms won't blow my house down."

The man who wants beer is going to have it just like the man who wants his whiskey is now getting his, and people may as well how to the inevitable—either legalize beer sales in North Carolina or permit a bootlegging industry to be set up that will make the present whiskey handlers look like a mere spot on the horizon.

This paper is opposed to the sale of either whiskey, beer or wine in any form in this state. The Times holds no brief for alcoholic drinks, but there is no such thing as saying that they will not be sold in quarts, gallons, barrels and truck loads in Transylvania county, to every man or boy (and women, too) who can dig up the price, legal or no.

PRESIDENT GREEN OFF THE HANDLE.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, seems to be off the handle just a nite when he tries to get the idea across that Roosevelt's plan to put several thousand unemployed men to work on government forest projects at one dollar per and feed is lowering the wage scale.

Were the president conscripting men and putting them to work at one dollar per day and subsistence, that would be another thing—but the measure, as we see it, is simply to give some good fellows who cannot otherwise find employment, something to do, at a wage which they can get by on and not be on charity as they now are.

We would not be willing that the government set a wage scale—but that's not the idea at all—there are millions of men who cannot find work of any sort, who would be more than glad to work for one dollar per day until things get started back on a normalcy road, who would welcome the chance to get their food and clothes and thirty dollars per month, a greater part of which could be passed along to the family that is now in all probability getting along on one-third that amount or less.

We confidently believe that things are on the road back—that wages along with other things, will soon be in demand and that a decent wage scale will be in vogue. But right now, we can see no objection to any man working for one dollar per day and keep when he has no job. We know plenty of business men in Western North Carolina that have failed to make a dollar during the past two years, let alone the keep.

ALL DON'T SEE ALIKE.

People, and especially people in this county, ought to realize that there is a difference in the makeup of each and every person, and likewise, a different view taken by each thinking mind. This may not be a wide difference, but it is a difference just the same.

Assuming that this statement is correct, we can see no reason for folks getting all riled up because everybody does not follow suit in all things. If you look at a question one way, study it out in your way of thinking until you are pretty certain that you are right, but are unable to convince the fellow who thinks otherwise, there is no use getting mad about it—that won't help you, and most assuredly it will not make the other fellow think any more of you.

Put up a fair argument and then quit if you have failed in showing the other fellow that he is wrong in not thinking as you do—there is a possibility that you are wrong yourself.

EPIDEMIC HIT THE COUNTY.

An epidemic of petitions seems to have hit the town and county within the past few days—four having made their appearance to our knowledge—with possibly others, that have failed to pass our way.

First there is one for beer; one for cutting the water rates and one for not cutting the sheriff's salary and one for not cutting the county accountant off.

Petitions are of a kind, as far as they go, which is not very far sometimes, but the idea that we are trying to get across is this: No need of one getting all riled up just because everybody who is accosted fails to sign the particular petition that is on the rounds at that particular time—the other fellow has a mind of his own, too, you know.

GLANCING BACK AT BREVARD

Taken from the files of The Sylvan Valley News, beginning in 1895, through the courtesy of Mrs. W. B. E. Wright.

(From the files of April 27, 1897)

H. S. Moore, wife and daughter of Utes, N. Y., who have been spending the winter among our citizens, started for their northern home by the Sunday train. Mr. Moore was so well pleased with the benefits received by his sojourn here that he promises to return next fall.

Some shifting of families has been going on recently: C. D. Morgan has moved back to his old home; Robert Kilpatrick occupies Mr. Morgan's new cottage; C. P. Jones takes Mr. Kilpatrick's residence south of town, and J. W. Cogdill's family will take the Jenkins cottage near the academy vacated by Mr. Jones.

S. W. Chapman, brother of Rector Chapman of St. Philips, is on a visit to the Sapphire section.

The sidewalk in front of W. S. Ashworth's store and running past the hotel is being put in prime condition for perambulators. Mr. McMinn understands how to make his premises attractive.

Wm. M. Davies was up from Asheville Tuesday, circulating among our business men in the interest of the Raleigh Tribune.

T. S. Boswell, who has just completed one of the dams under construction by the Toxaway company, is at home on furlough.

A rate has been secured for lumber shippers of $4.80 per load over the H. & B. road. In other words $4.80 added to the rate from Hendersonville, will ship a car load of lumber from Brevard. Whether the same rates will prevail in bringing in machine worked lumber for building purposes, report saith not.

In the settlement of Millard Jones' estate, which by his sudden death is left in rather bad shape, an effort is making to secure an administrator. His father, J. R. Jones, a leading and respected citizen of Buncombe county, has been here some days in the interest of a settlement. He has our sincere sympathy in this affliction of his declining years.

Brevard ought to be studying the question of a water supply. While we are not able to put in an expensive system, we must have a supply of some kind. E. J. Miller, Wheeling, Va., who makes water-works a specialty, has been in correspondence from him is looked for at an early date with our town officials and a visit. Study the question, "Shall we have water works, and how?"

At the Easter election, Monday, the following officers of St. Philips church were chosen: Alfred Jenkins, warden; A. E. Boardman, Wm. W. Symington, Dr. C. W. Hunt and Wm. A. Johnston, Vestrymen. Delegates to the convention, Albert Jenkins with Frank Jenkins, alternate. The rectory fund has now on hand over $800, and the building will be commenced at once. It is to be located on a lot adjacent to the church on the east, donated by Mrs. Boardman from her beautiful residence property, and a home for the rector to cost $1200 or more, will be erected in the near future.

War has been declared between Greece and Turkey, and what effect this may have on the destinies of humanity is at present an unsolved problem. The powers of Europe must align on one or the other side, or unite to stop the war. There is no doubt but, in the cause of humanity and Christianity, the barbarous Turk deserves a severe drubbing even if it costs that country its existence. The Rothschilds control the destinies of nations by owning their bonds, and they own a good sized slice of Turkey which they are not yet ready to have cooked. With a war in progress in Europe international bimetalism would be easily secured.

Tillman R. Gaines was here Tuesday distributing copies of his magazine, The Lyceum, published at Gaffney, S. C. and Asheville.

Mrs. M. L. Duckworth is finishing the inside of her cottage on East Main Street, preparatory to accommodating summer boarders.

Frank Jenkins, manager for the Breeze heirs, started a drove of 52 young cattle, which he has waded, to a rather distant range on Monday. They go to Black Mountain, 60 miles from Brevard, to summer.

Taylor Brooks, a colored man in the employ of Thos S. Wood, met with a serious accident Wednesday, which may yet terminate fatally. By a sudden start of the team he fell backward from a wagon, striking on his head. Paralysis ensued and he has no use whatever of his limbs.

Brevard and Hendersonville—a democratic paper from away back—and the NEWS in harmony with the democratic party on the vital issues before the people, we fail to see the opening for another democratic paper in a field which has a support for only one paper of any kind. As long as the SENTINEL was run in the interest of the republican party in Brevard we advocated the purchase of a controlling interest in the NEWS by the democracy, the selection of some prominent democrat as editor, and as we expressed it, "fighting the devil with fire." But the republicans were too smart for them, and without a suspicion of any contemplated change made a sham sale and launched a monorel—one side democratic and the other gold-standard republican. Ask Wiley Shook how "democratic" the "conservative" CLIPPER will be with W. M. Lanier its virtual head, though not nominally so.
