SETTING

ACT Dising-room of Perkins farm-b , on a summer afternoon. ACT II Living room at Miss Barton's house, the next day.

ACT TH Same as Act I, set 1 days later.

SYNOPSIS

Leander Perkins, who is a type al old farmer, rents the Annex to summer boarders. Two college boys give a demonstration in Brite Ever Aluminum Ware and guests from the Annex and friends of the Perkins attend. The demonstration is brought to a close by a sudden shrick. Junior proposes to Sammy and ex-plains his hasty proposal is due to the sudden illness of his favorate aunt. They received a telegram from Miss Barton, Junior's Aust, telling them to come at once. Sammy leaves with Junior Field.

Someay and Junior arrive at Miss Barton's, but Sammy be-comes very worri 1 over the marriage situation, and wonders what the outcome will be. Junior's father visits the Perkins' to Miss Barton's unexpected. Sammy and Miss Barton relect Sam-m's factoris unexpected. Sammy and Miss Barton relect Sam-m's troussenu. Sammy and Junior leave as they had planned

There is quite a bit of discussion as to who will own the An-nex. Randall and Admiram Hawks try to buy the Annex, and so does Miss Barton who wants to give it to Junior and Sammy for a wedding present, but they find out later that the Annex really belongs to Sammy anyway when she becomes of age.

A party is given in the Perkins home in bonor of Mr. and A party is given in the retains none in honor of MP, and Mrs. Perkins' wedding anniversary and all the guests at the An-nex, friends of the Perkins family, are well entertained by a group of special entertainers. The play closes amid a riot of good spirit, and curtain fails at the unexpected announcement of FOUR weddings.

The operation, "China Silk," tells Rosemary, daughter of a noted artist, who has just arrived in China, where she meets Wee Long whom she had known well in America when Wee Long was at school there.

Wee Long and her friends explain to Resemary the Chinese customs and tell her of the goddess of silkworms-the Si Ling Chi. They tell her also of the approaching wedding of the princess.

As midnight strikes in the feast of Si Ling Chi, the treat silk moths change into mischievous sprites, and punish Resemany for her secret by turning her into a garden post. The princess, mistaken by the silkmoths for Rosemary, is turned into a high stone, and is not to be found when the time comes to carry her to the home of her father-in-law for the wedding.

By the help of the flowers all is made right; the princess gets her wish and she and Rosemary have a wonderful time at the feast of Si ling Chi.
