LEGALIZED WHISKEY IN U. S. ON TUESDAY

 tion has no jurisdiction—taxes.
 The federal tax on whiskey until changed by congress will be $1.10 a 100 proof gallon with a $5 tax on imported spirits.
 The senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee will begin a joint study of taxation on December 11. Many of the members are reported to favor $2.20 levy on whiskey and other distilled spirits.
 A part of the President's liquor program includes levies low enough to encourage the consumption of beer and wines.
 Representatives of the distillers have reported they have on hand about 4,500,000 gallons of aged domestic whiskey. Through rectification and blending this could be multiplied four or five times.
 The whisky figure is exclusive of 224,721 gallons of rum; 305,061 of gin; 1,768,909 of brandy; 22,311,164 of grain alcohol; and around 70,000,000 gallons of wine.
 The government has already taken steps to license imports of about 4,000,000 gallons up to February 1st.
 After that import quotas will be assigned to the various countries on the basis of concessions they make for the admittance of American agricultural products.
 In 23 states, the sale of liquor will be legal after prohibition is repealed or within a brief period. The open saloon is outlawed in most.
 The rules laid down within the states vary widely but in most the trend is toward the sale of liquor in unbroken packages unless it is for consumption with food on premises where sold.
 The states where liquor may be sold are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New York, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Washington, and Wisconsin. South Carolina, while not permitting direct sale in the state, allows imports from other states.
 Ratification of repeal Tuesday by Ohio, Utah, and Pennsylvania marked the end of a nationally and theoretically dry era of 13 years, 11 months and 11 days, although the saloons were actually closed by wartime prohibition on July 1, 1919.

The Young People's division of the Methodist church enjoyed a social gathering at the church Tuesday evening.
 Games, songs and music featured the evening's entertainment. Refreshments of hot chocolate and sandwiches were served during the evening.
 The young people served refreshments also to the members of the board of stewards meeting at the same time in another room of the church.
 Mrs. Oliver Orr and Mrs. Leon English Jr. were chaperones of the party.

BAPTIST SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS FOR YEAR
 Election of officers for the ensuing year featured the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors.
 Following were the officers elected: President, Mrs. M. H. Holliday, 1st vice president, Mrs. B. F. Beasley 2nd vice president, Mrs. John Ashworth; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Dodsworth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. B. Jones; treasurer, Mrs. W. T. Bosse.
 The society will sell Christmas seals at the booth on December 20 and 21. Mrs. E. H. Duckworth and Miss Helen Erwin selling on the 20th, and Mrs. M. H. Holliday and Miss Roberta Bryant in charge of sales on the 21st.
 An interesting program in charge of Mrs. T. E. Reid was presented on the subject, "First Day of Prayer for World Missions." Mrs. Reid was assisted by Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. Julian Glazner and Mrs. T. C. Galloway.

SHOULD TUNE IN ON INSTITUTE PROGRAM
 People of Bevard and Transylvania county are asked through W. L. Aiken chairman of the board of county commissioners, and J. C. Wike, mayor of Bevard, to tune in their radios on the Institute of Government program to be given on December 12 from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock.
 Original plans as noted in a proclamation by Governor Ehringhaus called for mass meeting of officials and citizens, and for group meetings of all school children and teachers in order that the program could be heard. However, this is not being done in this county, Chairman Aiken and Mayor Wike asking that all people tune in on the program.

JORDAN GIVEN TWO YEARS IN ATLANTA
 ANDERSON, Dec. 1—A term of two years in the Atlanta federal prison was imposed this afternoon in United States district court by Judge H. H. Watkins upon Charles C. Jordan, 58-year-old former road builder, who was convicted earlier during the week for the use of the mails in an extortion plot.
 The sentence was pronounced after Judge Watkins had reviewed the case at some length during which he stated that the jury's finding he felt was in line with the evidence in the case and that it was the stress of financial troubles that had led the defendant to commit the crime. Jordan, sitting with his wife and other members of the family, received the sentence calmly. His attitude of calmness characterized his demeanor throughout the trial, but while he remained outwardly composed his wife, upon whom the strain of the trial had a telling effect, sobbed as the court pronounced the sentence and during the remarks of the court immediately preceding the imposition of the prison term.

TRIAL OF MUCH INTEREST
 It is probable the defendant will be taken to Atlanta within the next day or two to commence the service of his term of imprisonment although this afternoon it been definitely determined that the marshal's office will be removed to the afternoon.
