AN ENJOYABLE CHAPEL PROGRAM

Miss Ruth Waters and Miss Bill Aiken presented a very enjoyable chapel program. The name of it was "The Little New Year." The little New Year is full of life while the Old Year is sleepy the last thirty minutes he is in office.

Bradley Wyatt was the Old Year and he was so sleepy that they had to awake him to discharge him from office. Each month came forward and introduced himself to the little New Year who resolved to make this year a better one and not to sleep on the job.

WHY THE WORLD LOVES THE STORY "LITTLE WOMEN"

The recent picture, "Little Women" was attended and enjoyed by everyone that could possibly go. The reason this picture was so much loved and enjoyed was because it is of real home life. Everything that happened in the picture could happen to any boy or girl in the world today.

The four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. March were each of a different type. Meg, the oldest, acted as mother to her younger sisters as their mother was away from home working to support her family while her husband was in the army showing his love for his country. Then Jo, who was next to the oldest was regarded as the Tom Boy of the family and this name described her very well as she was continually wishing to go to war and help her father or do some other boy's work. Her ambition was to write novels which the girls often made into plays. Next was Beth, the musician, a dear and nothing else. After having scarlet fever it left her very weak and soon caused her death. Amy, the baby of the family, was rather inclined to be selfish at times but we find that she too was kind and sweet.

BOYS SPORTS

Since the football season is over, the boys have been playing dodgeball and basketball. We enjoy playing basketball very much but we do not get to play as often as we would like to because there is only one court fixed.

THE KIND OF BOOKS WE SHOULD HAVE IN OUR LIBRARY

When we are planning to have a library, we should think about the kind of books we want to have in it.

In a library we should have books that will suit the minds of all different ages. We ought to have books which we can get thought out of. Our books should influence in the right way. They should give good morals. Besides fiction, we want books such as History, Geography, dictionaries and encyclopedias, from which we may know more of our forefathers and gain world knowledge.

Everyone is hoping to get these types of books in our library.

Janet Jenkins

GIRLS SPORTS

The 7A girls have been playing basketball for two months. Although there are seven or eight on a team they get along very nicely. The girls named their teams the "Blue Eagles" and the "Black Hawks" and the players are as follows: Blue Eagles: forwards, Martha Kate Moore, Janie Wilson, Mary Helen Galloway, Violet Sprouse; guards, Avis Morjys, Annie Neil, Harleston McIntosh, Agnes Campbell. Black Hawks: forwards, Annie Morris, Gwendolyn Morgan, Mary Alice Feaster, Emma Lou Loftis, guards, Juanita Freeman, Ruth Case, Pauline Mull, Janet Jenkins.

They do not get to practice often because there is only one court that can be used and the 7A boys play half the time but they hope to have the other court fixed soon.

CARE FOR A LIBRARY

If the school has a library, it should use it carefully. That is to see that the books are out in the right place and not torn. There should be a card file for the cards and when anyone takes a book out of the library, the card should be taken out of the book, and placed in the file where it belongs. The books should be kept neatly in place and should be books of knowledge to anyone and not trash. A person who takes a book out should not keep it over two weeks. You should take one book out at a time or not take out any more at a time than the librarian tells you. A few chairs and a table are necessary for a library. There are many people who like to be bookworms as I am, but I don't blame them, because library books are not supposed to be harmful.

OUR SCHOOL LIBRARY

No school can be a real school without a library. We are fortunate enough to have a library in our school, and though it is small, it is a great help to us in our studies. However, we need more books by standard authors. Also, we need more reference books of various kinds, and some of the better magazines. Gifts of books and magazines are always appreciated by both pupils and teachers.

We are glad to report that Miss Ethel McMinn is at present working as librarian. She is well fitted for the job, and is doing much to improve our library. The Dewey Decimal system of classification is used in our school. In this system books are arranged on the shelves in numerical order, and are grouped in ten general classes. These classes include books on general topics, on religion, fiction, philosophy, science etc. We are learning by this system what to read and how to get the most out of the library.

WINTER

I like winter; do you? I am going to tell you why I like winter.

I like winter because it snows and you can build snow forts, throw snowballs and make snow men. You can have lots of fun when it snows.

I also like winter because of its beautiful scenery of trees bending down with snow and the red roofs covered with a white blanket of snow. It is a lot of fun to watch the little children skate on the snow and how warm they look with their mittens, caps, coats shoes and stockings and snow falling all around. It is not only fun to watch other children play and have a good time in the snow but it is fun to get out in it yourself.

MRS. JENKINS MAKES TALK

On January 25, Mrs. Frank Jenkins came to the Seventh B Grade and told us about Scotland. She made a very interesting talk. She told us about the geography and history of the country and some very interesting facts about the Scotch people. We enjoyed her visit and hope that she will come to see us again.

WHY WE NEED MORE BOOKS IN OUR LIBRARY

We need many more books in our library. We need especially more reference books because we have so few of them now. We need more of these books because we have so many pupils to use what few books we have that a pupil may get so discouraged when he can't get the book he wants that he will give up trying to get it and thus be deprived of what he otherwise could have had. We need more books because many of our books are so torn and ragged from long usage that they are of little worth anything now.

More books are needed in our school not have books in their homes and for whom the library will be of great value.

LITTLE WOMEN

"Little Women" was given at the Clemons Theatre the 29th and 30th of January, and everyone enjoyed it.

This story was written by Louisa May Alcott. It was taken mostly from her and her sisters' lives. Their experiences were interesting. Their father had gone to war and their mother worked at making things for the men in the war. It was in the winter and snow was on the ground. Three of the girls worked and one went to school. Their Aunt gave them some money for Christmas and they bought their mother Christmas presents. One of the girls fell in love with a boy next door. The youngest girl went to Europe with her Aunt. The oldest girl went to board with her mother's friend. She took care of the children. She fell in love with a professor that boarded there. When she came home, her sister was sick and soon after she died. Her married sister had come home to see them. Her youngest sister had come from Europe. She had gone to get milk and was coming back when she ran into the Professor. The maid opened the door and let them in and that was the end.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY

The book I like is named Little Lord Fauntleroy. The book was written by Frances Hodgson Burnett. The character I like in the book was Cedric, or Lord Fauntleroy, which he was later called. Cedric's father had died, and he had been sent away but soon he returned. He and his mother lived all alone except for Mary, the cook.

Cedric had some friends and one was Mr. Hobbs who was the groceryman. Cedric would go see Mr. Hobbs and sometimes he would tell him stories. Another friend was Dick, the bootblack. He was a colored man who shined shoes.

One day while Cedric was at Mr. Hobbs', a man came to see Mrs. Errol. His name was Mr. Havisam; he was from England. An Earl from England had sent him. The Earl was Cedric's grandfather. Cedric's grandfather wanted him to come and live with him in his castle. Later Mrs. Errol decided to let Cedric go. Cedric went to tell Mr. Hobbs and Dick goodbye. They were sorry to see him go. When they were about to leave on the boat, Dick came up to Cedric and gave him a red handkerchief.

It was eleven days later when they reached England. The day after they reached England Cedric went to see the Earl, his grandfather. His grandfather gave him anything he wanted but he wanted him to forget his mother. He gave Cedric a room full of toys, a pony, and a lot of other things. Cedric could go to see his mother every day. At first the Earl did not like Mrs. Errol but later he began to like her. Cedric, or Lord Fauntleroy, he was called, was to become the Earl just as soon as his grandfather died. Cedric, Mrs. Errol, and the Earl were all happy because they were all living at the Earl's castle.

If other children read the book, I think they will agree with me that he is a very nice boy and an interesting character.

WHY WE SHOULD HAVE A LIBRARY

Why do you think we should have a library?

I think we should have a library for us to enjoy reading interesting books, and reading books will help us to read well in our school studies. It gives us information of things we don't know about and things to do. We find books about what has happened in the past.

We need a library in every school. When we take books out to read, we must be careful and not handle them roughly. We should not turn pages down or double them up for book markers. We should get a piece of paper and slip in the books, because someone else wants to read them.

WINTER

When some winter morning you wake up and look out of your window and see white snow sparkling out everywhere, you think of the fun to be had and quickly get dressed.

The best part of the winter is when the big snow comes with a thin layer of ice over it. Every one is out sliding about on the ice and having the most fun to be had. You can get in a sled and go to some good coasting place and away you go like a rolling ball, tossing and rolling about.

When it begins to snow the clouds are gray and dark. The snow begins to fall; it is so white it dazzles your eyes to look at it. It comes down so fast that you can hardly see before you. It is great fun to sit at your window and watch it snow, but still better to be out in it, making snow balls and throwing them at someone else.

Some dread for winter to come but for me it is the greatest fun.

WHEN THE WATER PIPES ARE "BUSTED"

You may talk about the patience it takes to keep a woman straight. When the bed of fine carnations that she planted by the gate, is forever wrecked and ruined by the dog from up the street, or completely demolished by the children's playful feet.

But, if you leave it up to me, I would say the woman can be trusted.

Who can still look and smile when the water pipes are "busted."

Some women you can make mad easy while some are hard to "rile."

But this old world has few women who greet the plumber with a smile.

When the sink trap's busted open, and the bath room flooded, too, and the plumber didn't get there at the hour that he was due, Here's a fact to place on file: Any woman can be trusted.

Who can still produce a smile when the water pipes are "busted."

FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTIONS: What mineral feeds are necessary in the poultry rations?

ANSWER: The usual mineral feeds are bone meal, oyster shell or ground limestone, salt, and grit. The bone meal supplies calcium and phosphorus and builds bone and tissue. The oyster shell or ground limestone is fed for its high calcium content and should be kept before the laying birds at all times. Salt is an appetizer and renders the mash more palatable while the grit is an aid in grinding the feed. These minerals are used in building up the body and keeping it in repair and also for the manufacture of eggs.

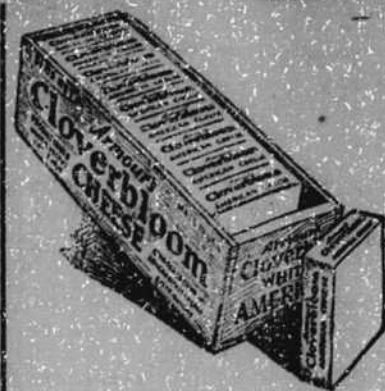

QUESTION: How should a home garden be planned for best results?

ANSWER: Much time and effort can be saved by arranging the garden in sections or units. Plant the perennial crops such as asparagus and small fruits at one side where the hotbeds and cold-frames are located. Quick maturing crops such as garden peas, green onions and lettuce are planted in the next section. Early cabbage, beets, snap beans, and early corn follow in the next section with another section set aside for the main summer crops. Late plantings should follow each section as the first crop is harvested.
