CRIME COSTING TOO MUCH SAYS FINLEY

The Honorable T. B. Finley, presiding at the April term Superior court here is of the opinion that there ought to be organizations set up in the counties of the state for a study of crime prevention and law enforcement, with all the people of better type in the various communities as active members. This opinion was expressed by the judge in his charge to the grand jury Monday morning.

Cost of crime is too high, the jurist stated, and disregard of laws is all too prevalent. He pointed out that in one county recently where he was holding court there were around six hundred cases on the criminal docket, fifteen of which were capital cases.

Court costs in the United States are running from twelve to fifteen billions of dollars per year, Judge Finley said, costing more than any other branch of the government, and beyond comprehension of the average mind. While the home, schools, churches and community interests should be of sufficient interest to arouse the citizenry of the country to the appalling costs and the hurt of crime, if no other reason, then the matter of economy should cause people to stop and think.

The grand jury's duty is to see that the laws are enforced, that criminals are brought before the courts for trial, but law enforcement is not to be put on the grand jury alone, the judge said, but is a community-wide matter, as every taxpayer is sharing in the prohibitive costs.

The judge also pointed to other duties of the grand jury, such as checking upon justices of the peace to see that their reports had been filed at least ten days prior to the opening of court, and particular attention to the filing of reports and the accounting of guardians of orphan children. Inspection of the county jail, the county offices, and the county home were also specified by the judge as a part of the duties of the body, as well as passing upon presentments made by the solicitor and reporting of such violations as have come to the attention of the jurors themselves.

LICENSE TAGS NOW AT REDUCED PRICE

Automobile license tags are now on sale at the local Carolina Motor club agency, Walker Insurance, for the three-fourth period, cost of tags being seventy-five percent of price as of January first.

Quite a number of automobile owners did not secure tags for the first quarter of this year, and it is expected many will be sold during the coming week.

All persons trading cars are required to make proper transfer of title when the car is transferred, or within ten days after the purchase has been made. It was pointed out that many people who exchanged cars or purchased a used car, operated under the original title until time to purchase license plates, which is a violation and subjects the individual to prosecution.

GOOD SUMMER SEEN HERE BY SOLICITOR

More people will come to the mountains this summer than in the past three years, was the opinion expressed by Solicitor J. Will Pless in a short address at the Kiwanis club Wednesday, and the towns in Western North Carolina who go after these people that are coming to some place in the mountains will be the ones who will reap the biggest harvest.

Diversified entertainment is expected by the better class tourists, Mr. Pless said, and the golf course is one of these main attractions. He urged that proper attention be given the local course.

Mr. Pless was a guest of Pat Kimzey, with A. Emerson Eve as guest of C. M. Douglas. The Rev. J. H. West, pastor Brevard Methodist church, and S. M. Macfie, of Macfie's Drug store, were welcomed back into the club as members.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

I hereby announce myself as a candidate to succeed myself as a member of the board of county commissioners, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary. I have done my best to serve the people during my past term and shall appreciate your support again.

CAPON RAISING PAYS FARMER BOYS WELL

Nine chickens were sold here Thursday afternoon for the neat sum of $13.20, and the buyer asked for more of the same type at the same price.

The birds were capons owned by members of the Brevard high school agriculture class, and were less than eight months old. Melvin McGaha owned two of the birds. Ed Conley five, Hays Merrill one, and Earl Ashworth one. Prize of the lot belonged to Hays Merrill, his bird bringing $1.80.

Effort is being made by the boys to prove that there is money to be made in capon raising, and proof plentiful was seen in the large coop that housed the nine birds for sale last Thursday. Twenty cents per pound on foot is high price for chickens, any dealer will vouch, yet the market for capons is always good.

RAILWAY TRAVEL ON INCREASE SAYS DPA.

R. H. DeButts, division passenger agent of the Southern Railway company, with offices in Asheville, in a letter to The Times states that the new low rates in effect for sometime on the Southern are proving highly satisfactory and that people are using the railway services more extensively since inauguration of the new rates.

The following Easter greeting telegram to The Times, Mayor J. C. Wike, and Jos. S. Silverstein from Mr. DeButts tells briefly of the new rates:

"Easter Greetings stop Experimental fares of Southern Railway system lines now in effect have been very much appreciated by the traveling public and the returns have shown gratifying results, the fares being one and one-half cents per mile for one way coach tickets two and two and one-half cents per mile for each mile traveled for round trip tickets, return limit fifteen and thirty days respectively and three cents per mile one way tickets the latter three kinds of tickets being good in sleeping or parlor cars on payment of proper charges for the space occupied stop we feel you will be pleased to get this information and we hope for your continued cooperation in development of traffic for rail lines stop When the railways prosper many other industries are favorably stimulated stop Regards."

COURT GIVES WEDDING GIFT TO YOUNG COUPLE

"I would like to make a wedding present of a nol prosee to a young fellow whose case is on the docket, Your Honor please," said Solicitor J. Will Pless in court Monday afternoon, and went on to explain to the court that the case against a young man had been taken care of by reason of the fact that the prosecuting witness, a young woman of the county, had become bride of the defendant in a ceremony at the county jail that morning.

The judge added his blessings and shortly thereafter the happy pair left the court house hand in hand, and smiling.

The ceremony was performed by Magistrate L. P. Wilson at noon Monday, with a newspaper reporter, Mrs. Tom Wood and Walter Wood as witnesses signing the certificate. Thus ended a case in court without the usual procedure.

MRS. GALLOWAY BRINGS EDITOR AN "EASTER" EGG

Mrs. Filmore Galloway of Balsam Grove brought an Easter egg to The Times office last Saturday that would no doubt have gotten lost in the dye pot had appropriate coloring been tried.

The small egg, less than the size of a marble, was laid by a Rhode Island Red hen, Mrs. Galloway said, eggs from her flock ordinarily being larger than the average until the small one was found.
