

SENIOR CLASS PLAY IS WELL PRESENTED

Large Cast In "Daddy Long Legs" Wins Approval of Record Attendance

A play reflecting much credit upon the performers and their director, Miss Martha Boswell, was the annual senior class play of Brevard high school, which was presented Thursday evening in the high school auditorium before a large audience of patrons and friends of the school. The play given was Jean Webster's four act comedy, "Daddy Long Legs."

Grace Duckworth, as heroine, taking the part of Judy Abbott, the orphan, and J. Mack Allison Jr., playing the part of the hero, Jervis Pendleton or Daddy Long Legs, both demonstrated unusual dramatic ability in their excellent performance of ease, grace and naturalness. Comedy parts were ably presented by the five orphans of the John Grier Home, Frances Jenkins, Helen Henderson, Sarah Bishop, Marjorie Tinsley and Belle Frady, as was also the part of Kathleen Poor, as matron of the home, Christine Yongue, as Mrs. Pendleton, and Margaret Fullbright, as Julia Pendleton, were both exceptionally good in performance, and the parts well chosen. Charlotte Patton, as Sallie McBride, Velma Sharpe as Miss Pritchard, and Esther Mae McCrary, as Mrs. Semple, all portrayed well their respective roles in naturalness of performance. Edgar Loftis, as Jimmie McBride, was another outstanding character in his ease of manner, with the humorous vein cleverly carried out. Dora Aiken, as the maid, Mitchell King, as Griggs, James Misenheimer, as Cyrus Wykoff, Richard Grimshaw, as Abner Parsons, and James Deaver, as Walters, all presented well the comedy parts and otherwise.

Each one of the acts was set in an elaborate scene, especially appropriate to the time and place portrayed. Act three was particularly well staged, with its furniture and decorations in a setting almost perfect in its reflection of the period of 1890. Many favorable expressions were heard regarding the unusual and appropriate stage setting in all of the four acts, adding much to the success of the play. The costumes, so well in keeping with the time and place depicted, were also the cause of favorable comment.

Other enjoyable features of the evening were between-act performances by Helen Erwin, vocalist, little Wayne Fullbright, saxophonist, and Miss Sattie Parker and Mrs. Carroll Kilpatrick, pianists.

Others assisting in the play were: Marie Galloway, Kathryn Snelson and Elizabeth McCoy, back stage; Mrs. Charles McCrary and Ernest Tilson, makeup; George Bromfield, lights; Walter Clayton, curtain; and the following ushers: Thelma Collins, Mabel McNeely, Ruby Edmondson, Mabel Gillespie, Carrie Lee Powell, Mamie Mason, Virginia Candler, Elizabeth Jenkins, Mildred McIntosh, Mary Sue Jennings.

Following is the cast of characters in the play: Mack Allison, as Jervis Pendleton, Edgar Loftis, as James McBride, James Misenheimer, as Cyrus, Richard Grimshaw, as Parsons, Mitchell King, as Griggs, James Deaver, as Walters, Grace Duckworth, as Judy Abbott, Velma Sharpe, as Miss Pritchard, Christine Yongue, as Mrs. Pendleton, Margaret Fullbright, as Julia Pendleton, Charlotte Patton, as Sallie McBride, Esther Mae McCrary as Mrs. Semple, Kathleen Poor, as Mrs. Lippett, Dora Aiken, as the maid, and the five orphans, Frances Jenkins, Sarah Bishop, Helen Henderson, Marjorie Tinsley and Belle Frady.

ROADSIDE MARKETS URGED BY KNAPP

The roadside market is a potential source of considerable profit to farmers who are situated so they can take advantage of it, points out Dr. Joseph G. Knapp, associate agricultural economist at State College.

North Carolina farmers, he said, would do well to follow in the footsteps of growers in Massachusetts and New Jersey, where roadside marketing has been developed to a high degree and associations formed to insure the public of quality produce and full weights and measures. Next in importance to high grade produce and honest measures are attractive markets and courteous and intelligent service. The public likes to stop at inviting places, but passes by those which look shoddy and unbusinesslike.

Take a tip from the experience of filling stations, Dr. Knapp advises. Observe how the modern, high class places get the business, while the "joints" gradually go into bankruptcy.

The location of a roadside market is also important. It should be convenient for the motorists, and visible for some distance in both directions. Motorists traveling fast are not inclined to jam on their brakes to stop at a place that flashes suddenly into view.

The top of a hill or the outside of a mild curve have the advantage of getting the drivers attention while he has slowed down. The best location, however, is undoubtedly a straight road. The right side of the road going into town is also best for more produce is purchased by people returning to the city than by those leaving it.

Plenty of good parking space is also essential. Some attractive flowers or natural foliage will enhance an inexpensive but attractive stand can be built for a few dollars. Sometimes a few display racks under a shade tree will suffice.

Signs several hundred feet or more down the road on each side of the market will help draw attention. A few words are best, such as fresh fruits and vegetables for sale, or sunshine road market just ahead.

"Love" and "Luck" Charms Prohibited

WASHINGTON—The federal trade commission decided Friday that it was anti-superstitious and anti-sentimental. On that decision it entered a stipulation banning sales by a New York firm of novelties and curios upon pretext that purchasers will be successful in love and business affairs.

Poison ivy is found in almost all parts of the United States, except high mountains and deserts.

Drive it only 5 miles and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car

CHEVROLET When you pay the price of a Knee-Action car, you naturally want genuine Knee-Action and all that goes with it. You want the new gliding ride at its smoothest, safest, and best. You want simple, foolproof, and trouble-proof construction—the huskiest, sturdiest front-end you can buy. And, of course, you want shock-proof steering—it is the natural companion of the gliding ride. You pay for these things, and you want them all—but you can get them, in the low price field, only from Chevrolet. The reason is simple. Fully-enclosed Knee-Action wheels are costly to build—so costly that only Chevrolet, world's largest builder of cars, can afford to make the necessary huge investment in new machinery—and still keep prices among the lowest of the low. Only Chevrolet has the resources and the assured volume of sales that permit this extra production cost. Chevrolet does it because Chevrolet believes that, to KEEP ON SELLING THE MOST CARS, YOU MUST KEEP ON BUILDING THE BEST. And judging from the popularity of the 1934 car, America agrees with Chevrolet. CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH.
