

BANK BUILDING SOLD TO COMMISSIONERS

Deposit Claims Held by Transylvania County Traded For The Property

The Brevard Bank building, located on the corner of Caldwell and Main streets has been acquired by the county of Transylvania in a deal with the liquidating agent of the bank, the county trading all deposit claims against the defunct Brevard banking company, approximating $550,000.00 in return for the building.

The deal was made by the county commissioners and Pat Kimzey, liquidating agent and attorney for the bank, with approval of the commissioner of banks, and has been approved by Judge Michael Schenck, resident judge of the Superior court.

Deeding of the bank building to the commissioners is in settlement of all claims of the county against the Brevard Banking company, L. V. Sigmon, county accountant, and Pat Kimzey, liquidating agent, stated. However, the county still holds for collection collateral notes that were placed as deposit guarantee with the county in the approximate amount of $200,000, Mr. Sigmon said.

Settlement of this claim of the county against the bank reduces liabilities of the institution from over a million dollars to approximately $500,000, Mr. Kimzey said, and means that depositors will receive, when dividends are paid, twice as large as they would have had the deal not been made.

The liquidating agent reserved the right to use the same offices in the bank building as he now occupies until such time as the county sells the building or liquidation of the bank is completed.

BAD LUCK TO DRINK NEAR THE CITY HALL

It's bad luck to drink whiskey in front of the town hall, and especially is this true if Chief Freeman and Policeman Morris are in the same vicinity.

It seems that two more or less distinguished men of the town had imbibed rather freely Saturday night and proceeded to come out and see the bright lights and the hurrying throngs of people.

Both were rather heavily loaded with the contraband stuff that has considerable sale about Brevard, and after bumping into "the law" decided that they would go home. However, the walk of several blocks evidently called for a little extra steam so they stopped in front of the city hall to add a little fire to their already steamed up boilers.

Chief Freeman already had his weather eye open for the two gentlemen and when they began drinking he began walking, and consequently the two thirsty gents were soon landed in the county hotel to finish their celebration with water.

It is feared that several teaching positions will be eliminated at the beginning of the 1934-35 term on account of the low attendance brought about by the measles. Number of teachers are allotted by the state board on average attendance for the past year.

Federal funds are expected to be received in the near future for the payment of county teachers.

SEEKS INDEPENDENT PLACE IN CONGRESS

M. E. Hilford of Naples was in Brevard Tuesday afternoon in interest of his campaign as an independent candidate for congress and left several petitions in Brevard asking that signers help him get his name on the ballot, ten thousand voters being required.

One of Candidate Hilford's platform plans is: "I stand for the nationalization of money, i. e. taking the money issuing power away from the banks and restoring it to the government exclusively. Backed by its store of precious metals and its taxing powers, the government could then provide adequate supplies for all legitimate purposes, and enforce its proper use as a circulating medium by a tax on its circulating privilege; thus making hoarding impossible, and providing a tax that the most clever plutocrat could not evade. In this way the soldiers' bonus could readily be paid. The government could thus eliminate the vast interest bearing bonded indebtedness, issuing money to all government units without interest charges, on the security of their bonds backed by a definite but small tax levy for their retirement. This would save billions of dollars in taxes. Both social and economic justice demand the elimination of tax exempt securities."
