

TROWBRIDGE AND JAMES ELECTED TO COLLEGE FACULTY

ences with more than 60 teachers before the appointments were made.

The faculty is not yet complete, however, there being at least three positions to be filled. President Coltrane said appointments to these positions would be made within the next few days.

Miss Mary Potat, who will head the department of English, holds the A. B. and M. A. degrees and has already finished work for the Ph. D. degree at Duke University. She has had several years of successful experience both as a high school and college teacher. She is expecting to spend the summer in England in further preparation for her work here next year.

Mrs. Isabel Doub Coltrane, who is well known as a teacher in the public high schools of North Carolina, will also teach English. A few years ago Mrs. Coltrane was a member of the faculty of the Hendersonville high school. She has an M. A. degree from Duke University. During the past two years she has traveled widely with her husband in the cause of public education throughout the United States.

M. G. Fangle will be the head of the department of history, economics, and sociology. He is a man of considerable experience in college teaching, having taught in Morris-Harvey college and other institutions. For the past five years he has been a leading member of the faculty of Boiling Springs Junior college.

Springs Junior college. Mr. Pangle has an M. A. degree from the University of North Carolina. He will be assisted in the department by C. O. Cathey, who formerly taught in Rutherford college and is well known in the western part of North Carolina. Mr. Cathey holds an M. A. degree from Davidson college. Miss Lucile Smith, now dean of girls at Weaver college, will be the other member of the department. Miss Smith has had many years of successful teaching experience in Brevard Institute and Weaver college, and is well known to hundreds of students who have studied in the two institutions. She will also be dean of girls in Brevard college. Miss Smith has an M. A. degree from the University of Georgia.

Mrs. Loula Pangle will be the head of the department of mathematics. She has had many years of successful teaching experience in different institutions. For the past five years she has been teaching in Boiling Springs Junior college. Persons who know Mrs. Pangle state that she is a scholarly woman and an excellent teacher. She holds an M. A. degree from Columbia University and has studied widely in other institutions.

B. D. Franklin, of Newland, will also teach mathematics. In addition to five years' study in Berea college, Mr. Franklin has an M. A. degree from the University of North Carolina. For the past several years he has been a successful principal of the Landis and Granite Quarry high schools in Rowan county. Mr. Franklin is the only member of the faculty who received his early education in Berea college and since Brevard college is to be operated on the same general principles as Berea, he should be an important member of the faculty, the president stated.

J. Wesley Williams, now of the Weaver college faculty, will be another member of the department of mathematics. Mr. Williams is the son of the Rev. J. W. Williams of Forest City. In addition to graduation at Duke University, Mr. Williams has a B. S. degree from the Georgia School of Technology, and is preparing to enter the University of Chicago this summer to begin work on his doctorate. Mr. Williams is one of the most popular teachers at Weaver college.

C. H. Trowbridge, president of Weaver college, will come to Brevard college as professor of science and college registrar. For many years Mr. Trowbridge was head of Brevard Institute and for the past 11 years has been president of Weaver college. He has an M. A. degree from Harvard University and has done considerable work on the doctorate in other institutions. "His students and educational friends know him as a scholarly, Christian gentleman and he will assume an important part in the administrative affairs of Brevard college," President Coltrane said.

Mrs. Erna Pederson Trammell will be the head of the department of foreign languages. Mrs. Trammell has had teaching experience in Drake University, Limestone college, and more recently in the Hendersonville high school. In addition to her two degrees from the University of Wisconsin, Mrs. Trammell has the Ph. D. degree from the University of Michigan. She speaks three languages fluently and is especially prepared to teach Latin, German and Spanish. Her college friends and her friends in Hendersonville have given her the highest recommendations.

President Coltrane will be head of the department of religious education and psychology. Mr. Coltrane has made a special study of various phases of religious education and is well prepared to teach psychology in its relation to both the religious and the secular phases of education. He has studied in several different institutions and has had wide educational experience in North Carolina.

D. S. Trammell will be the head of the department of music. Mr. Trammell holds the B. Mus. degree from the Chase Conservatory of music and has studied under such masters as Ernest Hutcheson, Florence Brinkman, Cecile de Hovarth and Franz Kusan. For 13 years Mr. Trammell was instructor in piano in the Chase Conservatory of music and has held positions in other institutions. More recently he was director of music in Limestone college.

Ralph James, a native of Asheville and a graduate of the Asheville high school, will be the director of athletics. For four years Mr. James was a star athlete at Wake Forest college and for the past five years he has held coaching positions at the Blue Ridge school for boys and Weaver college. Mr. James is a seasoned athlete and has had successful experience in coaching and directing athletics. Incidentally, the college authorities have announced that a sane and aggressive program of athletics will be conducted at the college.

SCOUTS TO BENEFIT BY PLAY PROCEEDS

There have been many requests for information regarding the spending of the money taken in on "The Butter and Egg Man," which is being sponsored by the Wednesday Club for the Girl Scouts. The proceeds will go for a summer camp. This camp was formerly sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club of Brevard, and it provides swimming, life saving, camping, athletics, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Hinton McLeod donate the use of Illahe, the staff donates its services without charge and this leaves the meals as the big expense item.

The Girl Scout troop was first organized in 1923 by Miss Florence Lyle. After two years the troop was divided into two sections with Miss Annette Patton as captain of the younger girls and Miss Bertie Ballard as captain of the older girls. Since then the Misses Bill Aiken, Gladys English, Ethel McMinn, Beulah Mae Zachary, Mrs. Macfie and others have served as captains and advisers with Mrs. Hinton McLeod as director.

The original troop consisted of Nancy Macfie, Annie Yongue, Elizabeth Shipman, Edna King, Christine Osborne, Mary Johnson, Louise Hughes.

The present troop will help with the play in selling tickets, acting as ushers, etc.

Birds are not the only long-distance travelers; caribou of North America are known to migrate 800 miles.

WEAVER COLLEGE IN FINALS THURSDAY

Commencement exercises of Weaver college begin Thursday evening of this week and continue through Tuesday evening.

The commencement sermon Sunday morning at the Weaverville Methodist church will be delivered by the Rev. B. C. Reavis, pastor of the Morganton Methodist church. President E. J. Coltane, of Brevard college, will deliver the literary address to the senior class on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, followed by the annual community dinner on the campus at 12:30 o'clock. It is expected that many graduates, former students and friends of the college will be present on commencement day.

The annual music recital will be held Thursday evening, the senior play "Only 28" on Friday evening, the last chapel address by President C. H. Trowbridge at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, the junior debate on Saturday evening, the declamation and oration contests Monday morning, the reading contest Monday evening, the exercises closing with the alumni banquet Tuesday evening.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whitmire had as their guests the past week Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Wehnt and baby of Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Styers of Cherryville, Clyde and Grace Searight of Asheville and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Orr and little daughter Diane of Forest City.

Ernest Paxton of Greenville was a Brevard visitor Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Grogan and family expect to leave this week for Trenton, N. J. to make their home, joining Mr. Grogan who has recently been made state manager of the W. O. W., with headquarters in Trenton.

The south has approximately 1800 textile plants in addition to 400 cottonseed oil mills and more than 1500 cotton gins. It has 62 per cent of the country's cotton spindles and 76 per cent of the country's spindle hour operation was in the South in 1933.

A Final Appeal FOR Honesty AND A Square Deal IN Saturday's Primary Election

A call to all factions to deal honorably with and towards their fellow candidates.

Saturday's Primary Election will probably have a more far-reaching effect upon the future of the Democratic Party in Transylvania County than anything that has transpired within the memory of those participating in this election. Not so much by the results of the election itself but by the manner in which these results are obtained.

There have been issued, I am advised, approximately five hundred absentee ballots to be voted in this primary and approximately ninety per cent of those have been gotten by just three candidates that are up for re-nomination. A leaky system of communication revealed the fact some days ago that these absentees would be used for the defeat not only of opponents of these particular candidates but also other anti-ring candidates. Further information that certain ring candidates have been and now are planning to procure the appointment of markers at the larger wards—but I cannot see how the Board of Elections can do this in a primary—by which it is planned to "mark out" such candidates as are not acceptable to the ring.

The anti-ring candidates have not asked for, nor are they now asking for, anything but simple justice in this contest. They have striven for the elimination of the out-of-state absentee voting simply to avoid any future complications that might arise from its use in this primary. Not an anti-ring candidate wishes to profit politically by any improper manipulation of absentee ballots nor by the wilful mis-marking of the ballots of those who cannot mark for themselves.

Even election officials in some wards have shown so much bias in connection with the management of this primary that anti-ring candidates feel a hesitancy in approaching them for legitimate information. And with the ring candidates in possession of the lion's share of everything—election officials, absentee ballots, markers—if they succeed in getting them named—anything is liable to happen. Under such conditions the anti-ring candidates can only appeal to the honest, fair-minded voters in the Democratic party to bestir themselves and go out on Saturday and see to it that equal justice is done to all. A warning might well be served now on any who might be party to any unfair manipulation of the advantages either group may hold over the other to the end that political crookedness is not to be tolerated within the Democratic party in Transylvania County.

Yours for a square deal for all and for an honest election.
May 29, 1934.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want, it is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association.

Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state-chartered members of the Reserve System.

Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members of the Reserve System the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination for the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn should produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments, the division declares.
