ROBERT R. MULLIKIN

CANDIDATE
For Congress
SAYS:--

We are entering upon a new era, or renaissance, socially and industrially, the recognition of human rights being the paramount issue in government, and the development of which requires new blood to guide its forces. There must be a revival, or resurrection, of real Jeffersonian democracy. I do not think that the American people are yet ready to adopt the English Monarchical system of government by perpetuating people in public office. Under our organic law—the Constitution—we elect a congressman every two years; a President every four years. Now, the framers of that law had but one idea in mind—that the Congress is supposed to be the guardian and protector of the people's rights—not their master or oppressor; and, further, that when a man is continued in public office for a long period of time he becomes obsessed with the idea that the position is his—not the people's, and overlooks legislation that ought to originate in his mind for the benefit and welfare of all the people, rather than for the favored few, or monopolies or special interests that have enjoyed special privileges or vested rights.

I have carried on a high-class campaign, free from any tinge of mud-slinging or attacks upon my opponents, and while there have been controversies, rumors, etc., I have refused to be drawn into any political controversy and expect to continue to wage a high-class campaign.

I have not come to attack Mr. Weaver's record in Congress. The people are just as familiar with his record as I am. I do take the position, however, that the patronage, so-called, belongs to the Democratic party and not to the congressmen individually. I further take the position that inasmuch as we have honored Mr. Weaver over a long period of years, and now that we are entering upon this new era, and having been a life-long Democrat and having a desire to attain a life-long ambition and play an active part in democracy's new challenge, I trust that the constituency of the Democratic party may give my candidacy favorable consideration, its influence and support.

ELIMINATE SALES TAX—REDUCE LAND TAX: HOW?

There must be a bold assertion of "State's Rights." That is one of the fundamentals of democracy. What rights?

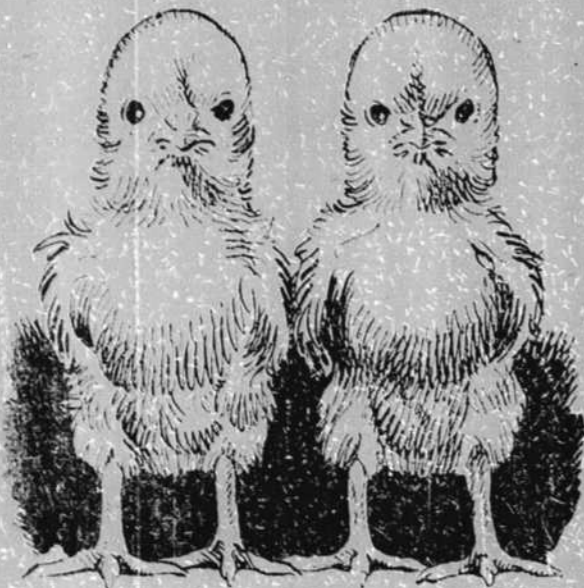

First, the states, collectively, are the father of the nation. The states, collectively, by a grant of powers in our organic law—the Constitution—have built up and solidified one of the most powerful, richest nations of the world by means of taxation—taxes paid to the federal government.

Secondly, we want to say to the Congress that we are in an impoverished condition and want a reduction, or refund, to the state of at least 10 per cent of the taxes paid annually to the federal government.

In 1933 the state of North Carolina paid into the federal treasury $245,000,000, 85 per cent of which was revenue paid by the tobacco manufacturers. On every one thousand cigarettes manufactured, the manufacturer pays to the federal government $3.00. Now, we must demand that Congress lower that tax to, say $2.50 or $2.75 per thousand which will enable the state legislature of North Carolina to levy the other 25 cents or 50 cents per thousand in the nature of a manufacturers tax which will amount to about $25,000,000 annually for the state of North Carolina—a sum sufficient to eliminate the sales tax—cut the land tax in half and restore the school system to its former high standards. Southern statesmen have overlooked that.
