

Chevrolet Announces New Model Car And Price Reduction On All Classes

DETROIT, June 2—Chevrolet yesterday formally announced "the world's lowest price six-cylinder car" with the introduction of the new improved 1934 standard six models, supplementing the master Chevrolet models previously presented.

With announcement of the new six was also announced a price reduction of from $25 to $50 on cars and trucks of all models and sizes. This price reduction being due, according to officials of the company, to the great volume of business being done by Chevrolet. Reduction in the prices is naturally expected to increase the already heavy sales, thus giving employment to more men and tending to increase volume of business done by allied industries.

The new cars are replete with major improvements designed to achieve better performance, riding qualities, comfort, and appearance. Both chassis and body have been completely redesigned in keeping with the latest advance in engineering and styling.

Roadability, and especially stability, have been enhanced through the adoption of a wider chassis frame and more widely spaced leaf springs front and rear, in conjunction with a longer front axle and increased tread of the front wheels. These chassis improvements have permitted the use of big road bodies having maximum width and ample leg room.

In the power plant, smoothness, economy and flexibility have been improved through a revision of the inlet and exhaust systems with higher compression and a refined valve and tappet mechanism, including a redesigned camshaft.

The new models share with the master series such appearance features as sleek, flowing lines, deep fenders hugging the tires, long hood with horizontal louvers, and steeply inclined radiator grille. Numerous interior refinements similarly enhance the style and finish of the passenger compartments.

The exterior has been generally redesigned to add to style and utility. Deep front fenders, extending far over the tires, conceal unsightly chassis parts, with only a shallow "valley" remaining between fenders and hood. Front fenders are formed to extend to the center of the car under the radiator, eliminating the separate radiator splash guard. Fender skirts have been given sharp, graceful contours, making them appear to fit closely to the tires. Edges of the fenders have turned in flanges for extra stiffness.

The re-styled front-end ensemble includes new designs for the hood and radiator grille. The hood is unusually long, and has three horizontal louvers. Front fenders, radiator and head lamps are supported as a unit on a stabilized mounting of improved design, insulated from the frame by a single centrally located rubber cushion. Running boards blend smoothly into the fenders and are finished with a longer rubber mat, extending farther toward the rear.

Closed car models are equipped with improved Fisher no-draft ventilation and with a reversed cowl ventilator, opening toward the rear, similar to the arrangement of the master models.

Among the special structural features of the newly styled closed bodies are increased strength resulting from a new design of cowl braces and the bolted roof rail structure; and numerous improvements in the doors, which are equipped with an adjustable diagonal brace, shorter and sturdier hinges, improved dovetail and striker plates, and new half-round lock bolts. Other improvements have been effected in the windshield sealing, the door locks, and the streamlined outside door handle. The closed cars are wired for radio.

The two open models, phaeton and sport roadster are innovations in the domestic line on this chassis model. Both cars are gracefully streamlined and have the same type of beaver-tail rear end as the closed models. The safety glass windshield is set at an angle of 25 degrees to prevent annoying glare. Seats, located so as to provide maximum leg room and a comfortable back angle, are finished in high grade imitation leather over double acting springs with soft tops. Standard equipment on all models includes speedometer, electric gasoline gauge, oil gauge, ammeter; safety glass windshield, vacuum windshield wiper; combination tail and stop light, and shock absorbers front and rear.

The standard chassis frame is entirely new. It is designed to effect improved weight distribution and better spring mounting, and to provide for a new design of engine suspension. The new frame is wider throughout its length than the 1933 model, and its side rails converge from the rear to the narrowest width at the front axle, where they diverge to spring eyes and bumper mountings, provide wider centers for the front. The new construction permits an increase in front wheel tread from 54 to 56 inches.

IN MEMORY Of Little Martha Ann McGinnis (By Miss Nellie Wild)

During the long hours of a sad evening in the fall of 1932 the death angel winged his way to earth and took a loved one from us little Martha Ann McGinnis, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McGinnis of the Cherryfield section.

"Martha Ann is gone to live with Jesus
In that appy home home on high
We shall miss her, but we shall meet her
When we breathe our evening prayer.

"She was always kind and happy
And we miss her day by day,
But she's sleeping, sweetly sleeping,
Waiting for her loved ones over there.

"We loved her but our Savior loved her more,
And He called her to join him on the bright eternal shore.
It is sad to part with loved ones,
But our blessed Lord knows best.

"Twill be sweet to meet in heaven where
We'll see our loved ones' face to face.
O, we'll love to think of heaven,
That beautiful home on high.

"There's no sickness or pain in heaven,
No funeral coach in the sky,
No graves on the hillside of glory,
For there we shall never more die."
