SMALL FOX IS PET OF ROSMAN WOMAN

Most folks have become familiar with a woman carrying around a Persian kitten or fuzzy poodle for a pet, but when one comes to town stroking a two-months-old fox that's a different story.

Wherever Mrs. Wm. Brittain of Rosman went Wednesday she had a curious crowd looking over the keen little fellow who seemed to enjoy being the center of attraction in a department store as much as "Old Bret" Fox" enjoys throwing a pack of dogs off his trail in the piney woods.

Mrs. Brittain took him over before his eyes were open and has fed him on milk and "petting" ever since. Her husband has a fox dog and there's no end of racket around home so she has decided to sel him to some one who has a flair for something different in the way of pets.

With the little fox gone she will still have a pet ground hog, but he runs around at the end of a chain and does not play substitute for a "lap-fox."

MOTOR CARS NEAR MECHANICAL APEX

The 1934 motor cars are more nearly mechanically perfect than any models thus far brought out, in the opinion of J. F. Winchester, supervisor of motor vehicle equipment for the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and affiliates, operators of the second largest fleet of passenger cars and trucks in the country.

"Today's automobiles can be put on the road immediately upon taking delivery and will run at maximum efficiency," Mr. Winchester explained. "A few years ago we often had to effect various mechanical changes before we were satisfied to use newly purchased cars. On some models we added oil or gasoline filters. On others we changed the system of oil pumping, altered the gear ratios, changed the carburetor jets or did other work to bring the automobile up to the proper standard of mechanical efficiency."

"With the new cars all we have to do is put a special break-in oil in the crankcase and fill the gas tank. Frequently we test new models in the laboratory before placing them in actual road service. After such tests the car is observed and checked periodically. Our thousands of cars and trucks thus serve actually as a laboratory on wheels for the testing of our products and for research work in connection with new fuel and lubrication developments."

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey fleet includes virtually every well known make of American automobile. As new developments are introduced new cars are purchased and used to determine what changes in lubrication requirement will be called for by the new developments.

SOAP BOX DERBY TO BE IN AUGUST

Dayton, O., July 11—A three-eighths mile hill in Dayton will assume national significance to American youth August 18-19, when the first nationally sponsored "All-American Soap Box Derby" will be run over the bricks of Burkhardt hill.

Originated as a local feature stunt last year by Myron E. Scott, Dayton Daily News photographer, the event attracted approximately 45 entrants and more than 40,000 spectators.

This year, through the cooperation of Chevrolet Motor company and its dealer organization, more than 40 cities in the United States will conduct local soap box derbies and winners will have their cars shipped here to compete for the world's championship under the auspices of the Daily News and Chevrolet.

Chevrolet dealers in each city are furnishing entry blanks, rule books and plans for the building of soap box racers, which are the old familiar box and wheel vehicles which at some time or other have provided transportation for almost every boy.
