BREVARD COLLEGE IS SCHEDULED TO HAVE LARGE ENROLLMENT

Miss Poindexter Will Teach Commercial Work-Several Pupils Here Now

Present indications are that Brevard College, which is scheduled to open Monday, September 10, will be filled to its capacity before the opening date according to a statement by President Coltrane. Mr. Coltrane has recently completed a series of conferences with prospective students in several cities and towns in Western North Carolina. Everywhere he reports tremendous enthusiasm in the college. On some days as many as twelve applications are being received for dormitory rooms.

At a meeting of the executive comwas done and plans projected for the opening of the college. Five additional teachers were added to the faculty, was launched here Monday morning when plans perfected by Mrs. Florence Ryan resulted in canning operations in the basement room behind the B. & B. feed store on the corner of Main and Gaston streets. Canning for the Brevard district and immediate territory is to be done there Mon-day, Tuesday and Wednesday, this schedule to continue until further notice. The canneries are being operated by the relief organization.

Plans were scheduled for canning at Quebec Thursday and at Rosman, near the bridge on Pickens highway for Friday and Saturday.

Relief cases were being instructed to bring produce to the nearest can-nery on dates arranged. Jars will be furnished for home canning, Mrs. to have originated from a defective Ryan said, only in case of such families as might live a great distance from any of the three canning locations. ### 2 SCHOOL BUILDINGS ON CONDEMNED LIST

Repairs Ordered On Brevard High School Auditorium and Primary Building

Auditorium of the Brevard high school was pronounced unsafe last Saturday by A. M. Case, Brevard building inspector, and order was given by him to the county superintendent of schools to have repairs made before the auditorium is again used. The Brevard primary building was also condemned by the city build-

Frank Jordan, of Asheville, deputy insurance commissioner for the western district of North Carolina, who was here Saturday in conference with Mr. Case, examined the two buildings and concurred in the condemnation of the two buildings.

Estimate of the cost of repairs on the two buildings is placed at several thousand dollars. It will be necessary, Mr. Case said, to build pilasters from the ground to support steel trusses upon which the roof of the high school auditorium will have to be placed. At the primary school building, part, if not all of the brick veneer will have to be replaced, ac-
