

NINE HUNDRED HEAD CATTLE EXPECTED

Holden Wants to Place Western Cattle On All County Farms

Nine hundred head of cattle from drouth areas of the west are expected to arrive at Davidson River on Thursday or Friday of this week, according to Flave H. Holden, who is in charge of this work under the federal government's relief agency.

Mr. Holden states that he has already received 1,975 head of cattle, most of which have been distributed to various sections of the county, and that he has orders on hand from Transylvania farmers and landowners for around 2,000 more, all of which will be filled.

The government is paying fifty cents per head per month for open grazing lands, and one dollar per head per month for fenced pasturage.

Mr. Holden requests that any farmer who can take care of five or more head of cattle on the above basis, which he believes to be a profitable one, get in touch with him immediately.

Some trouble is being had, Mr. Holden stated Wednesday, in keeping herders in charge of open range cattle. The men doing this work are paid $48 per month, and are taken from relief rolls. Mr. Holden said that a number of men who had been placed on these jobs had quit, leaving the cattle free to do as they liked, and causing great inconvenience to his program.

Mr. Bush stated Wednesday that he had received notation from Dan C. ## Twenty-Five Thousand Brook Trout Placed In Pisgah Forest Streams

Twenty-five thousand brook trout were placed in Upper Davidson River Wednesday afternoon by the forestry department, with Wm. Keil and W. P. Duncan in charge of distribution.

The fish arrived here about one-thirty, in a special car, from Lee-town, W. Va., and were immediately transferred to the Pisgah National Forest. Ten trucks were used in hauling the buckets of fish from the car on the Brevard siding with 180 men and boys being used in the work of unloading, hauling and distribution.

The fish were removed from the car in the cans in which they were shipped and then hauled to their destination in various sections of the Upper Davidson River, where they were given their first taste of Transylvania county pure mountain water, a little water being added at a time to the cans until the water was "tempered." Then the fish were placed in the streams, three and four at a place.

Fifty cans were placed in Looking Glass Creek, 50 in Avery's Creek, fifty in Cove Creek and fifty in Grogan's Creek, and others in Davidson River, no fish being put in the main Davidson River stream below Laurel Fork bridge. Another shipment is expected at an early date, Mr. Duncan said, of rainbow, which will be placed in the main Davidson River stream below Laurel Fork bridge.

The fish were from four to six inches in length and have a fine chance to live and thrive, according to Mr. Keil, who has been here for some time making preliminary surveys and supervising work on the streams in which the fish were placed.

Work was started several weeks ago, with a crew of A-grade prisoners under Superintendent W. Lloyd Cutting. ## TECHNICAL CHARGE AGAINST W. LYDAY

Auto Accident Is Fatal To Virgil Simms—Coroner's Jury Signs Bond

Wilson Lyday was ordered held for involuntary manslaughter by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of 12-year-old Virgil Simms last Wednesday night. Immediately after returning the verdict of involuntary manslaughter, all members of the jury signed Mr. Lyday's bond which was set at $500.

Evidence brought out at the hearing which lasted for several hours was to the effect that young Simms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Simms also of the Enon section, came to his death from jumping from a moving auto driven by Wilson Lyday.

The youngster, together with three other boys, was riding on the outside of the Chevrolet coach, having gotten on the car at Enon hill. Near the Glade creek bridge Simms is said to have lost his hat, and as the car was being slowed down he jumped off, fell on the pavement and injured his head to such an extent that he died at Lyday hospital a short while later.

While no blame is attached to Mr. Lyday for causing the accident by those who heard the evidence at the coroner's inquest, the jury held that he was technically guilty in allowing the boy to ride on the outside of the car which is a violation of the North Carolina state law. The jury debated for several hours before returning their verdict, and then as a gesture of their belief of the blamelessness of Mr. Lyday, signed his bond.

The boy was buried at Enon. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Simms, one sister, Catherine, and two brothers, David Lee and Shelton, Jr.

BUILDINGS DONATED TO COUNTY FAIR USE

Transylvania County Fair will be held at Rosman this fall, according to arrangements that have been completed by J. Wade Dickson, president of the fair association.

Original plans made last fall after holding the successful two-day event in Brevard, were to hold the fair at the county home near Sellers, this being regarded as a central point of the county, and the county commissioners gave their consent erection of permanent buildings. Effort to have the work done through the Civil Works Administration last winter did not materialize, and it was found impossible to finance the work locally.

No suitable buildings could be found in Brevard for staging the fair one of the large buildings in use last year having been rented, and the committee appointed by President Dickson decided to hold the fair at Rosman this fall.

Two large buildings, owned by J. W. Glazener and O. L. Erwin have been placed at disposal of the fair association, and the fair is scheduled to be held in Rosman around the last of September.
