

GOLD FROM OCEAN WATER AT N. C. CITY

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 10.—A nugget the size of a pinhead—half gold and half silver—the first of the precious metals dissolved in the ocean ever to be recovered is the latest feat of American chemistry.

The extraction of this gold and silver from Atlantic ocean water near here was announced to the New York section of the American chemical society here last night by Dr. Willard H. Dow of the Ethyl-Dow Chemical company.

This company extracts bromine from sea water near here. When its plant opened just nine months ago it was not even dreamed that gold and silver also could be recovered from the water. The fact that there was gold in the sea was well known. But the difficulties of extraction were generally conceded by scientists to be insurmountable.

But at the bromine plant it was found that the sulphuric acid poured into the sea water to help recover bromine had changed the chemical nature of the gold and silver. It was predicted then that chemists might expect to extract the ocean gold commercially.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It gently helps the average person's constipated bowels until nature restores their regularity.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use.

SQUIRRELS SCARCE IN COUNTY SAY HUNTSMEN

Squirrels are very scarce this year, according to reports coming to this newspaper via the grapevine route. However, this should cause no worry, as the hunting season in Transylvania county does not open until November 20th, and by that time, older residents who know the ways of the squirrel, say that the animals will all be gone to the south side of the mountains for wintering.

NEW ARRIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jerome announced the birth of a son, Jerry Hart Jerome, at Lyday Memorial hospital Wednesday, October 10.

AT LYDAY HOSPITAL

Patients reported at Lyday Memorial hospital the past week include: Mrs. Jerry Jerome and infant son, Jerry Hart Jerome, Ina Mae Burns, Killian Jarrett, Dr. Allen D. Ballentine and niece, Emma Jean Ballentine, of Wolfboro, N. J., the latter two recuperating from slight injuries received in an automobile wreck.

N. C. Erosion Work Extended

Washington — The federal soil erosion project in the High Point, N. C. region is to be extended far beyond original expectations with the department of the interior now planning to extend the program to include a additional 44,000 acres in the upper basin of the Haw river.

Labor Hits Inflation

San Francisco — In last week's annual convention held here leaders of the American Federation of Labor expressed disapproval of the mounting debt of the government and also condemned currency inflation as a part of the recovery program. But after making protests against increasing government debt and against currency inflation the labor leaders came out strongly in favor of proposed legislation by congress for a 30-hour five-day week.

Giant Air Fleet Proposed

Washington — General Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, outlined the new general headquarters air force last week as a sky-fighting fleet of at least 1,000 bombing, pursuit and attack planes, in five "wings," based on the Atlantic and Pacific coast and in the Middle West. MacArthur said that in case of attack on either coast the mid-west wing would be quickly available to either coast.

OUTSTANDING AT THE COUNTY FAIR

beautifully marked animals shown in the poultry division by Earl Gillespie of the Cherryfield section. The animals looked beautiful, but were just the least bit inappropriate for show animals from the viewpoint of many — they were pole cats (with their stinker apparatus being minus.)

Canned goods, packed and arranged perfectly, were nicely displayed in the main building, practically anything one could wish to eat being shown. Noticeable in this department was the manner in which the fruits and other foodstuffs had been packed.

Then there were cakes, pies, candies, and most anything else in the goody-goody line that would tempt the appetite of the most disgruntled old grumbler. "No samples" were being given out, however, so the scribe could only judge by looks.

Enough beautiful dahlias were in evidence to have been a dahlia show within itself. This display added the necessary touch of color to the main building and did not lack for attention. Dahlias were entered from all sections of the county.

In the vocational agriculture department one could really see just what the young boys who take vocational agriculture are accomplishing — perfect potatoes, corn, hays, and other displays, with blemishes that were noted in the "old folks" display being prominent by their absence.

A neatly arranged and well planned child's room was put up by Margaret White, eighth grader of the Rosman school, with a bed that would appeal to most any child, a little dressing table, book stand, and wardrobe with neatly hung dresses and wraps.

Standing out to itself was a beautiful bassinet in the center of the home making department, made by Hazel Moore, second year pupil of the home making class at Rosman. The bassinet was complete in every detail, lacking only a smiling, cooing baby, and to take care of this shortage a big doll sufficed.

Dresses, wraps, spreads and other home necessities, made by girls in the home making departments of the two high schools were attractively arranged and drew attention from ladies and girls, and even some of the menfolk.

Styles worn by women four thousand years ago, and on down through the ages, through the age of the big hats, the bustles, the hoop skirts, hobble skirts, short skirts and present day modes were displayed by Miss Lucy Slagle, teacher of home economics at Brevard high school. Early Egyptian styles, Roman, Grecian, Spanish, French, English, the Pilgrims, early American and on down were complete to the minutest details, dolls being used as models, with fabrics and colors being as near correct as possible, and accentuated by correct head dress and accessories. Miss Slagle put in several months work on the display.

Altogether the vocational agriculture and home economics displays were leaders in exhibits, but the entire showing was one that Transylvania county could well be proud of.

Many things of interest were noted — but Van Waldrop's paper-eating mare, evidently adverse to publicity, materially deducted from the write-up.

Adding much to the fair was the sign work, pointers and streamers that were made up by Girtha Watkins and Tom Stroup. Special mention should also be made of the work done by the buildings and grounds committee, and members of both vocational agriculture and home economics classes for their work in putting on the fair.

DATE CHANGED FOR ANNUAL MEETING

On last Sunday the annual celebration of Davidson River Day was held in the old Presbyterian church on Davidson River. The church was packed and the attendance amounted to several hundred. The morning sermon was by the Reverend R. D. Beddinger, D. D., of Asheville, who gave a powerful sermon on "Witnessing for Christ." The afternoon services the Reverend J. P. Simmons, pastor of the Brevard-Davidson River church preached. At the afternoon services a short talk was given by W. R. Kinsey on some of the items on the old history of the church, and in connection with his talk a copy of the obituary of John Murray was read. John Murray had united with this church in the year 1802. In 1828 he was a ruling elder and continued a ruling elder of Davidson River church until 1859 when the Mills River church was cut off from the Davidson River church and was an elder of the Mills River church until his death in 1860.

The date of Davidson River day was changed from the first Sunday in October to the last Sunday in September.

The usual Davidson River day picnic dinner was very much in evidence. There were enough fried chickens to feed a regiment with the usual accompaniment of ham, beef, deviled eggs, salads, cakes, pies, et cetera, et cetera.

This is one of the annual celebrations in the county which is always well attended, and always enjoyed by all. The greater part of the crowd, as usual, was from this county but, there was quite a number present from adjoining counties in this state and South Carolina.—Contributed.

Long Beans Grown

A bunch of exceptionally long "snap" beans was sent to The Times office last week by F. P. Tinsley of Route One, the beans measuring sixteen inches in length and being of the snap bean appearance. Mr. Tinsley states that the beans are delicious and aside from the pods growing long and being well filled, the vines are also lengthy and have a number of beans to the vine.

Owes City Plenty

Joliet, Ill.—If he gets intoxicated for the 1,045th time Joe Sheran, 51, is going on the wagon for a year. "You've come up before me 1,044 times for drinking, and more than 600 times you have taken the pledge, each time you were fined and never paid. Now you owe the city $7,549," said the judge, in warning of the year's trip on the water wagon.

Insult Trial On

Chicago—From the books and the records of 75 corporations, the government is assembling proof in support of its claim that Samuel Insull's "Corporation Securities company of Chicago" was only a weapon with which to take $100,000,000 from investors.

Kidnapers Jailed

Wheeling, W. Va.—Trapped in the swiftly moving machinery of the government's new law against kidnaping, two men pleaded guilty here within 12 hours after federal agents frustrated their alleged plot to abduct Betty Bloch, daughter of a Wheeling millionaire, and hold her for $25,000 ransom.

Textile Workers Lined Up

Washington—The organized textile workers are lined up solidly behind President Roosevelt's capital-labor truce proposal, but has issued warning that "renewal of conflict" is imminent unless peaceful methods suggested by the president are soon put into effect.

MacDonald Backs Roosevelt

London—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald said last week that President Roosevelt has used practical methods to solve practical problems.

EUROPE IN TURMOIL BECAUSE OF DEATHS

MARSEILLE, France, Oct. 10 — King Alexander of Yugoslavia, dictator-ruler of the land where the World war spark first flamed twenty years ago, and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, France's champion of peace, were shot to death by a Yugoslavian assassin five minutes after the king arrived here Tuesday. From all the capitals of Europe came concern that the spectacular slaying would unsettle the balance of peace on the continent, although no immediate danger of war was foreseen.

The assassination took place as King Alexander was being escorted from the vessel on which he arrived to government buildings in Marseille. The assassin jumped upon the side of the car in which the royal visitor was riding and there fired the fatal shots. He was cut down by two blows from the sword of a French cavalry officer. The killer continued to fire after he fell to the ground and twelve persons were wounded.

To the Balkan throne in Alexander's stead will come the 11-year-old Crown Prince Peter, but upon a regency will rest the shaping of policies that may alter the makeup of the western world.

Auto Wreck Sunday

ROSMAN, Oct. 10.—Alza Gallo-way, of the Wolf Mountain section, and D. L. Glazener had a head-on collision in an automobile accident near Calvert Saturday night. Mr. Glazener's car was badly wrecked. Mr. Glazener was en route home from Willetts, where he is employed. He received several cuts and bruises in the accident but was able to return to Willetts Sunday afternoon.

CARDINALS BEST DETROIT TIGERS

Dean Brothers Complete Saga Unmatched In History Of Baseball

Detroit, Oct. 10.—Completing the spectacular saga of the Deans with a history-making climax, the great Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean pitched St. Louis to the baseball championship of the world with a record shutout triumph, 11 to 0, as the Cardinal clouting crew slaughtered the pitching staff of the Detroit Tigers in as wild and riotous a finish as any world series has ever witnessed.

The National league champions blasted the last defense of Mickey Cochrane's battered Bengals with a smashing seven-run attack in the third. They bombarded six pitchers all told for a total of 17 hits while Dizzy Dean, turning in the fourth victory for his team and family, emerged from the seventh and final game with the most lopsided series shutout margin since Christy Mathewson blanked the Athletics, 9 to 0, in 1905.

The Cardinals gained the championship of their own league by coming from seven games behind the New York Giants in the last month of the season. The Dean boys, Dizzy and Daffy, had able assistance in the first part of this spurt but took the closing games of the season on alternate days. The Dodgers, in keen recollection of the pre-season taunts of the Giant manager, helped to make the Cardinal claims secure by cowning the Giants in the last two games of the season. Detroit, meanwhile, had coasted in with a large lead.

The first game of the series was just the same old story: too much Dean. Jerome turned in a win over Alvin Crowder. The Detroit ace, Lynwood Rowe, finally came out winner in a superb hurling duel with Wild Bill Hallahan, who pitched perhaps the best game of the series, only to be defeated 3 to 2.

The Dean family took up the burden again for the next day and Paul Dean bested Bridges, curve ball artist for the Tigers. Aucker, rookie Tiger, turned in a win over Carlton to square the count. Bridges then gave Jerome Dean a defeat to give the Tigers the lead, three to two.

From there on out it was the Dean boys again. Paul bested Lynwood Rowe and Jerome came back with a day's rest to blank the Tigers for the winner's cut of the series money.

RELIEF TEACHERS WILL MEET SATURDAY MORN

(By E. R. Pendleton, Chairman) Teachers in Emergency Relief Education for this county are called to meet at the court house in Brevard Saturday, October 13th, from 9 to 12 o'clock, to receive latest instructions from headquarters on regulations of reports, enrollment and other business. As it is professional work it may be counted on your time.

An Endorsement...

E. M. (Kay) Collins

For the past 22 years I have been dealing in logs, wood and bark, and have sold practically all such products as I have handled during these long years to the Gloucester Lumber company at Rosman.

About nine years ago, when Mr. Collins, (Kay to me and all people in this county) started working in the office of the Gloucester Lumber company, I was the first man to have dealings with him in his new work, and at that time found him to be fair, upright, honest, and a man of ability. In my dealing with the Gloucester Lumber company through Kay Collins I have done better than twenty-five thousand dollars worth of business during the years he has been serving the public, and I deem it a pleasure now to endorse him as a man that is all that could be expected of any gentleman. In none of my dealings have I found Kay to be partial either to me as a customer or to the company for which he works.

Therefore, I take the greatest of pleasure in recommending Kay Collins to my friends and the voters of Transylvania County as a man they can implicitly trust, and feel sure that the county can do no better than to elect him to the House of Representatives at the election to be held on November 6th.

Respectfully,

TOM J. WOODS.
