To Petitions

Several hundred people attended a meeting held in the county court house last Saturday afternoon in interest of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan, and after hearing several speakers discuss the plan practically all who had not already done so, signed the petitions to be presented to next United States Congress, asking that the plan be made

T. C. Henderson presided at the meeting, and introduced J. M. Clarke of Penrose, who has been active in furthering the plan in this county. Mr. Clarke spoke interestingly of the benefit to be derived if the plan is put into practice, and stated that it would bring to the old people of Transylvania sounty approximately $143,400 monthly. He explained that there are now twelve pairs of peti-tions being circulated in the county and that around 1,500 names have already been secured.

W. B. Henderson, W. E. Breese, W. M. Henry, S. W. Radford, Mrs. A. R. Gillespie and others spoke briefly commending the plan.

The following statement has been prepared by Mr. Clarke, which goes into detail about the plan:

CRIMINAL COURT TO GO INTO NEXT WEEK

Largest Docket of Cases In Many Years—Grand Jury Work Not Completed

With Judge Wilson Warlick of Newton presiding and Solicitor Clar-ence O. Ridings of Forest City rep-resenting the state, criminal term of superior court was making good progress here Wednesday.

One of the largest criminal dockets in many years, around 200 cases, faced the court at the beginning of the term Monday morning, with majority of these having been cleared Wednesday night at adjournment.

It is expected that the three cases involving the taking of life will be heard during the last of this week, with possibility of the criminal term extending into next week.

Tom Masters of East Fork is charged with the death of DeWitt Roper; and two cases involving negroes—Roy Whitesides charged with the death of Conrad Killian, and Elija Mooney charged with the death of William Ledbetter. One of these cases will very probably be gone into Thursday.

The grand jury had not finished its work late Wednesday, with a few more bills of indictment to be passed upon Thursday, plus checking of the county court house, jail, county home and other county affairs.

Large crowds have been attending court here this week, the court room being filled most of the time to over-
