Rev. J. E. Burt preached at Oak Grove Baptist church Sunday, delivering a forceful message on the importance of knowing Jesus and having His abiding presence with us at all times.

The county superintendent recently stated in The Times that there is to be a deficit of $500.00 in the school funds about the end of this school year and that transportation of pupils will have to stop at the end of seven months unless the extra funds needed are provided. He asks for suggestions as to how to raise the money to meet the deficit. Some have already made suggestions, one stating that the county superintendent might contribute that amount "for the good of the cause." That would perhaps be too liberal a contribution to ask of the superintendent even if he were disposed to give that amount.

Here is our suggestion, one that is fair and reasonable and will give every one who desires to do so an opportunity to help.

Let the county superintendent start the list with a contribution of $50.

Next let the principals of the two high schools of the county give $25 each, and the two teachers of vocational agriculture $25 each. Then let the Parent-Teachers Association of Brevard high school appoint three committees of two members each to canvass the town and county and receive contributions from the citizens of the county other than the teachers. After that is completed, if a sufficient amount has not been received, then divide the remainder among the teachers of the county, not including those mentioned above, on a per cent of salary basis, letting them pay it out of their seventh month's salary. By this method the amount that will be needed to finish paying the bus drivers for their services can easily be raised.

Of course, as we have a state supported eight months school term, the schools will not stop at the end of seven months and thus prevent any of the pupils from finishing their grades and from graduation. It would be undemocratic and the worst kind of folly, however, to stop transportation at the end of seven months and deprive the pupils who are transported from completing their year's work along with the other pupils in the schools.

So let's buckle right in with a bit of a grin.

Then take off our coats and go to it; Let's start in to sing as we tackle the thing

That cannot be done, and we'll do it.

PROGRAM GIVEN BY EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth grade of Rosman high school had charge of the chapel program Friday, November 6. On the program was an amusing speech by Ray Winchester entitled "My Daughter Nancy" an interesting play, "The Goose-Feather Bed." The characters were as following:

Mr. Dodd, Harold Hogsd; Mr. Jinks, Roy Eldridge; Dennis McFaden, Hovey Waldrop; Mrs. Flattery, Blanche Petit.

Mrs. Flattery's husband had died and she takes washing for a living. A gentleman, Dennis McFaden, wants her to marry him but she refuses. So she decided she would find a man, she advertised a room for rent and said men were preferred. But something was wrong with all of them. So she at last accepted Dennis' proposal.

New Telescope

Corning, N. Y.—The world's largest telescope mirror, still a mass of 20 tons of red hot molten glass, was placed in an electric annealing oven last week to cool. Scientists were unanimous in predicting its success.

Makes Valuable Find

Rockland, Maine—Young Roderick Crandall of this city is a member of that most exclusive and envied circle—the finders of ambergris.

At the same time he became the potential owner of a sum estimated at $16,000.

Falls Still Breaking

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—The gradual recession that eventually will wipe out Niagara Falls last week had deposited a 200-ton pile of rock in mist-shrouded Niagara Gorge, result of the third slide at the cataract in three years.

No change was visible at the falls.

Executions in Russia

London—A Warsaw dispatch to the London Daily Express last week said wholesale executions of suspected enemies of the Soviet government have taken place in Russia. The lives of more than 200 persons, including Leonid Nicolief, accused assassin of Sergei Kiroff, and many women and children, were snuffed out by firing squad.

Rayon From Pine

Savannah—The manufacture of rayon yarn from pine pulp in the pulp and paper laboratory of the Industrial Committee of Savannah, Inc., was announced by Dr. Charles I. Herty, director.

Rayon yarn, he said, has been made in one of the greatest rayon plants in the country from pulp prepared in the Savannah laboratory. This is the second successful experiment with pine pulp, the previous one being the manufacture of newsprint.
