

P. T. A. PROGRAM IS GIVEN HERE MONDAY

A Christmas program featured the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher association held Monday afternoon in the class room of Mrs. Knox DeLong in the Brevard High school building.

Children of the second grade sang two songs, "Hi-O For Santa Claus" and "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." Little George Simpson Jr. sang "The Little Lord Jesus." Christmas readings were given by two young ladies from the expression department of Brevard College, Miss Josephine Jones and Miss Rachel Goforth. The program was concluded with a vocal solo, "Holy Night," by Mrs. A. H. Kizer.

The room was attractively decorated with suggestions of the season, including a pretty Christmas tree. The meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. J. B. Pickelsimer, opened with appropriate devotions conducted by the Rev. J. H. Brendall, pastor of the Brevard Methodist church.

Plans were made by the grade mothers for Christmas trees and programs to be in each grade room and gifts distributed to each child, which events took place in the different rooms Wednesday afternoon.

NURSERY SCHOOL IN CHRISTMAS AFFAIR

Cooperation of the local high school and community with the relief nursery school made possible a Christmas party and tree for the 40 children of the nursery school. The happy event took place at the nursery school on Jordan street Wednesday morning, under the direction of the two teachers, Mrs. Constance Banks and Mrs. John McLean.

Valuable assistance was rendered in the entertainment by girls of the ninth grade home economics class of the Brevard high school, who, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Lucy Slagle, dressed the dolls given to each little girl, made and stuffed the animals and repaired and painted the toys for the children for this occasion. The large Christmas tree was procured and brought to the nursery school by the high school girls and also trimmed by their skillful hands. This assistance with the Christmas party, together with the help and observing of methods in the nursery school, undertaken each day by girls in the ninth grade home economics class, is a part of their year's project in sewing and child training.

Each child was given toys and a stocking filled with fruits and nuts, through the efforts of the home economics girls in collaboration with "Santa Claus" and the local merchants. Santa Claus, in his gay red and white suit and in jovial manner, distributed the gifts from the tree to each child.

Mothers of the children and a few other friends of the nursery school were invited to enjoy the celebration with the children. Over 90 mothers, fathers and nursery children and invited friends were present, and the event was accorded by all a great success.

The enjoyable party was the closing event of the nursery school before the holidays, the school to re-open on Monday, December 31.

Plans are now being made by the teachers for a chicken dinner to be served the children on New Year's day at the school.

CCC LISTS OPEN TO WORLD WAR VETS

CHARLOTTE, Dec. 19—One hundred and seventy-five white and three negro veterans of the World War will be accepted for duty in the veterans' division of the Civilian Conservation Corps next month, Major Charles G. Montgomery, contact officer of the Charlotte office of the veteran's administration, announced Friday.

Major Montgomery urged that veterans wishing to get in the CCC communicate with the Charlotte office of the veteran's administration at once.

"We have a number of applications on file but we wish to distribute the quota over the state as much as possible and for that reason we are anxious for others wishing service communicate with us," he said.

He urged that immediate action is necessary, since the veterans' administration will find it necessary to have its full list of applications on file at least a week or 10 days before re-entrance starts January 1.

BREVARD CHAPTER F. F. A. IN MEETING

The Brevard chapter of F. F. A. held a regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the agricultural class room.

The chapter was opened in form and the following program was rendered: Music was rendered by the F. F. A. Ramblers; a talk was made on the scenic highway by Edward Mackey; talk on wild life in our forest; talk on outside interests by Bobby Sharp; paper on soil erosion by Charlie Gray and a talk on broiler production by Albert Williams.

Hon. W. M. Henry and Hon. Ralph H. Ramsey Jr. were present for the program and made very interesting talks. J. B. Jones gave a very interesting and instructive report on farm activities as being carried out according to the teachings of the agriculture department.

At the close of the program Mr. Glazener gave the boys a little treat in the form of oranges and candy.

The class room was decorated in keeping with the season, including a Christmas tree beautifully decorated. —Edward Mackey, Reporter.

A LITTLE OF THIS AND THAT

Brevard Has Number of Year Round Samaritans; Town Is Gaily Decorated; Colds and Sore Throats Converge.

By JAZZY MOORE

As the Christmas season approaches thoughts turn to gifts. Christmas, a season of unselfishness, is featured by presents to loved ones and to those in need. Little acts of thoughtfulness, representing the good wishes of the giver, make the Yuletide one of joy. The season stands out as one of unselfishness, and one who did not know to the contrary might reach the opinion that, in Brevard, for example, there are no gifts at other seasons of the year.

Yet with the assistance of Father Time, let us turn back the calendar and think of the gifts made during the year—gifts in most instances denoted thoughtfulness rather than value.

That army of Brevardians who are always ready to give their time and offer their means in any public movement is too lengthy for publication. Yet there are a few, at least, who can easily be recalled.

Mrs. Mack Allison, Jerry Jerome, Rev. Mr. Perry, Miss Florence Kern, members of the Kiwanis club, P. T. A. members, and the various book clubs are always ready to aid in charity movements. They and others here seem to possess the all-the-year feeling for the needy.

These are just a few. Let your memory run back over the year and the fact that, in Brevard at least, Christmas is not the only season of gifts. There are many who, for the 365 days of the year, give unselfishly of their time and means.

Current Fame

Fame, current brand, is interesting. Here in Brevard the other day, twelve men and women, selected as average persons, were asked by the writer to select from a list of twenty names those they knew. The names appear in print before them almost daily.

Only two on the list were known to everyone—Joan Crawford and Clark Gable. Only two missed out: Mussolini and Hitler.

Charles Evans Hughes, on the other hand, was known to only three. Several distinguished citizens fared even worse.

This might give some idea as to fields to choose if you would be currently famous.

The Time for "Flu"

Now is the time when we are usually attacked by the annual epidemic of colds, sore throats, and the like.

Those who work in offices or indoors most of the time should be careful about their room temperatures. Room temperature should be between 68 and 70 degrees. Experiments have shown that the very best temperature is 69.9 degrees, but that's getting the thing down awfully

COSMETIC PUPILS TO GIVE BASKETS TO THE BEREAVED

Students of the Cosmetic Art school, of which Mrs. Nettie Benedict is teacher, are observing Christmas this year by placing baskets in the homes that have been saddened by death during the year. It was the unanimous decision of the school to do this instead of remembering each other with gifts.

Other projects and recreational features undertaken by the cosmetic school during the year have been the staging of a style show, cooperation with the Brevard high school in dressing the heads of 30 home economics girls for commencement, and featuring an all-day picnic.

The local cosmetic art school has been classed among the best in the state and the reports have graded 100 per cent. Many officials and others in position to know have said that they have noted the fine results from Mrs. Benedict's school. The classes are conducted on a high plane, and many of the students have received employment in various beauty shops or in the operation of their own shops as soon as they have finished the prescribed course in this school. The local relief officials, under whose supervision the school is directly operated, have stated that it gives them great pleasure to recommend a woman of Mrs. Benedict's ability and they have expressed the hope that she will find permanent work of this type in the state. The school has been in operation here for more than a year, under Mrs. Benedict's management.

The school closes for the holidays on the 26th and will reopen for regular class work on Friday, December 28.

Town Gaily Attired

Brevard has taken on a holiday appearance. Store windows everywhere display articles for gifts and beckon. "Come buy." Churches are preparing pageants, musical cantatas or other programs for use at Christmas. Parents are busily preparing for the coming of Santa Claus, while the children are very much occupied with being good so old Saint Nick won't forget to stop at their house. Verily the Christmas spirit is in the air.
