SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—Disaster plucked the airship Macon into the ocean 110 miles south of here Tuesday night and navy vessels responded to frantic SOS calls, rushed through fog and rain to pick up Commander Herbert V. Wiley and other survivors of the 80 crew members.

An explosion was believed to have torn the Macon apart, navy men believed. A wireless message told of a "bad casualty" in the air.

A red rocket shot into the darkness when the Macon struck the water 17 miles off Point Sur. The message "all survivors rescued" did not make clear whether any of the crew of the airship had perished in the explosion.

Springtime Signs Show Plainly In Brevard

"Ennies . . . Slips . . . first after you . . ." and on through the category that goes with the all-American boys' game of marbles shows unmistakably that springtime is here, as youngsters sweep off spots in vacant lots and shoot for "keeps."
Noticeable among the marbles-ites are several youngsters who are of the tribe of Ham, with white teeth showing as they pick up marble after marble of the "white chile" stock.
Aimable, generally, the game sometimes reaches the stage of fisticuff, but altogether it is one that seems to be highly enjoyable for youngsters. Anyway, it's a sure sign of spring.

CLEMSON TO HAVE DAVID COPPERFIELD

"David Copperfield," a masterly picture adapted from the novel of Charles Dickens, will be the screen showing at Clemson Theatre Monday and Tuesday of next week. The picture, which runs for two hours, is said to follow the novel faithfully, depicting among other details of the story young David's happiness with his mother; the heartbreak and misery caused by his cruel stepfather; the boy's apprenticeship in the London bottling works; his flight to Dover where Aunt Betsy lived; his school days; his marriage to the impractical Dora; and finally his return to Agnes, Dickens' characters, in fact, live again in movie, and as many incidents of the book as possible are sincerely incorporated in the picture.

Four pictures each day will be shown for David Copperfield, the shows to begin at 1 and 3:15 for the matinees, and 7 and 9:15 for the night showings. The management advises that the picture be seen from the start to get the full benefit.

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter will appear in "One More Spring," from the novel by Robert Nathan. This is an inspiring drama of today, with high adventure and gallant courage. The popular hero and heroine of the screen together glorify the courage of love.

"Blazing Guns," with Reb Russell and Rebel, the marvel horse, will be shown Friday and Saturday of this week. Reb and his famous steed Rebel fought and galloped their way through the stormy scenes of action that make this production one of the best outdoor pictures of the season.

Farmers Called To Meet Saturday For Organization Under TVA Plan

A telegram was received by Julian Glazener from District Agent Goodman late Wednesday afternoon stating that Representative Powers of the TVA would attend the meeting here.

Organization of a TVA farm unit for Transylvania county will be perfected at a meeting of farmers and business men to be held in the county court house at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

It is pointed out that the Tennessee Valley Authority is willing and anxious to assist this and other western counties which border on or are a part of the Tennessee River watershed, to improve farm conditions in general, and to work toward a definite goal in reforestation, soil erosion, and farm improvement in general. However it is necessary, before the TVA will take any part in the work, that a definite plan of procedure be mapped out, and it is for setting up this phase of the program that the meeting will be held Saturday.

Professor Julian Glazener, who will act as temporary chairman of the meeting here Saturday, states that it is the wish of the agricultural extension department of State College and the TVA that all farmers of the county be present at the meeting and express their ideas of the best program to be planned, and form the various ideas gathered at the meeting.

STOLEN CAR FOUND AT HENDERSONVILLE

Sheriff Drags Brevard Man's Auto From Lake Minus Tires and Battery

A Ford car belonging to Ed Owenby, Brevard barber, was recovered from Osceola Lake, near Hendersonville Tuesday by Sheriff Morris Orr. The car was stolen in Brevard early Monday night.

Mr. Owenby reports that he parked his car on Main street, Monday evening while he attended the picture show, and that upon leaving the show could find no trace of the car.

Report was made to Sheriff Orr at Hendersonville some time Tuesday to the effect that oil was rising to the surface of Osceola lake, and after having the car pulled from the 25 feet of water it was found to tally with description of the Brevard car that had been broadcast by Sheriff Tom Wood. The car had been stripped of all tires, battery and other accessories before being run into the lake.

Three Prisoners Flee Transylvania Bastile

J. B. Owen, Hayden and Harry Crane sawed their way out of the county jail here early Friday night, making their exit by sawing one bar in a back window and sliding down from the top story of the jail on blankets knotted together.

Brevard College students saw the third member of the party making his escape and notified Sheriff Wood. However the prisoners had made good their escape in the darkness.

The two Cranes were being held to Superior court on charges growing out of a "rough house" at the Gloucester Lumber company store at Rosman just before Christmas, while Owen was recently lodged in jail on federal charges preferred by officers of the Balsam Grove CCC organization. Sheriff Wood states that little damage was done to the jail, and that he will eventually get his men, but he hates to have a jailbreak—this being the first one since he has been sheriff.

SHERIFF FINDS VAST PICKUP IN BUSINESS

Two Expensive Moonshine Outfits Found In Upper Section of County

Four hundred miles by car, fifty miles on foot and several miles sliding and falling down mountainsides when feet and hands were more or less in the air at the same time, netted a fair haul for Sheriff Tom Wood and his deputies during the week-end.

Eight round trips were made into the upper end of the county, some of them in the Toxaway-Gloucester side and some into the Bohaney section, and while all trips were not fruitful, a total of two thousand gallons of beer, a small amount of whiskey, two stills and two men were netted.

A wave of housebreaking and chicken stealing was given a setback with the arrest of Ralph Alexander, who is being held in jail in default of bond. Alexander is charged with stealing chickens from H. G. Rogers and with breaking and entering the Cochran home in the upper end of the county.

Anderson Chandler was arrested Monday in connection with raid on what is said to have been the most complete moonshine outfit found in the county in years. The up-to-date steamer outfit, capable of turning out enough whiskey daily to supply upper South Carolina and Transylvania county, was still hot when the officers arrived. It was located near the summer home of Clyde Chappel on the headwaters of Bear Wallow creek. A trail from the still was followed by the sheriff to Chandler's home. The upright boiler and other paraphernalia was destroyed on the spot. Chandler was brought to jail where he had not made bond late Tuesday.

Artistic workmanship was found at the 50-gallon still located on Horse Pasture river Tuesday, the copper condenser and copper tubing showing the master's touch. Along with this complete copper outfit the owner also lost 11 home made barrels which were filled to the brim with beer that was only waiting for a few more days of sunshine before it would have begun its continuous trickle from the expensive set-up to jugs and jars, and then to the palate of those who have learned to enjoy Transylvania corn.

Sheriff Wood in making report of his three-day activities said that he had covered enough ground to have arrested an army but that all the "signs weren't exactly right" in some of the instances.

Daniel Crow of Asheville, driver of the bus, stated that his brakes failed to work as he started down the grade and that he was unable to make the sharp curve. The bus is thought to have turned over twice before landing upright on its wheels from 50 to 75 feet down the hill.

Occupants of the bus were brought to Brevard by passing truck where they entered Lyday Memorial hospital. Mrs. Elbert A. Styles of Franklin, was the more seriously injured, her condition being regarded as serious by the hospital staff for two days. She was considerably bruised about the head and body and suffered from shock. However her condition is improved.
