

TROWBRIDGE NAMED TO COLLEGE OFFICE

New Members Added To Faculty—Fine Report Made at Trustees Meeting

At a meeting of the board of trustees of Brevard College, held in Hickory on Tuesday, several changes were made in the faculty, with three additions elected to the teaching staff, according to an announcement made by President E. J. Coltrane.

C. H. Trowbridge, dean of Brevard College the past year, was elected to the position of vice president of the college.

Taking Mr. Trowbridge's place as dean will be C. E. Buckner, at present principal of Burlington high school. Mr. Buckner has his A. B. and his Master's degree from Duke University. He is a native of Buncombe county and is a member of the Methodist church.

The board also approved the election of D. W. Colver, of Bera College, as teacher of agriculture and manager of the farm.

These elections were made effective June 10, though Miss Craig will not assume her teaching duties here until the beginning of the fall term in September.

Beaver Colony Leaves Biltmore for Rosman

(Asheville Citizen)

Without signifying the cause of their dissatisfaction with their original abode, the colony of beaver which was established on Biltmore Estate several years ago, has moved toward the headwaters of the French Broad river and the population of more than 30 are now busy building dams near Rosman, it was learned yesterday.

L. I. Barrett, associate silviculturist of the Appalachian Forest Experiment station, said yesterday that it was discovered recently that the beaver colony had moved. No report was made of them for several days, but last week a report was received from Rosman to the effect that they are building their homes on the French Broad river in that section.

Probably two or three beaver remain on Biltmore Estate, but they will more than likely follow the leaders, it was explained. Mr. Barrett said that no one knows why beaver move from time to time, but that they invariably do so. Three pairs of beaver were placed on the Biltmore Estate several years ago and they have rapidly increased. Mr. Barrett said. About two years ago a number of the older members of the colony moved up Bent Creek into Pisgah National forest. It is estimated that there are approximately 40 beavers in this section at the present time.

Series Probably Last Through Next Week—Rev. W. A. Rollins In Charge

Much interest is being shown in the revival services held at the Brevard Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. W. A. Rollins, presiding elder of the Waynesville district. The special series of meetings will probably continue through ten days, or possibly two weeks, as announced by the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Brendall.

Forceful gospel messages are being delivered at each service by the presiding elder, which it is felt will result in much good to the church and the community. The fifteen-minute song service held each night preceding the regular preaching hour is conducted by the pastor and the choir, assisted by Mrs. Leon English Jr. at the organ, and Mrs. J. H. Brendall at the piano.

Services are held by the presiding elder and the pastor each morning at Brevard College at the chapel assembly period; at 3:30 o'clock each afternoon for children of the grammar grades; at 4 o'clock for young people and adult; and at 7:30 each evening.

Special attention is called to the parents of grammar grade children of any denomination to encourage attendance of their children at the children's service each afternoon from 3:30 to 4 o'clock at the church. Preparations are under way for a program of music and other features of a sacred nature to be given by the children Saturday night, the service at this time to be given over entirely to the grammar grade children. Mrs. J. H. Brendall directs the children's afternoon hour, at which time rehearsals are in progress for Saturday night's exercises.

Initial revival service held Sunday morning was in the nature of installation ceremonies for all officials of the church and Sunday school. Fifty or more officials were installed at this service, conducted by the pastor.

Tanners Bow To Tornado in Short Tilt

Brevard College Tornado baseball team took the long end of a 8-1 score in a four inning practice game with Red Misenheimer's Tanners at the college field Friday. The game was halted by rain. Errors and wildness on the part of the Tanners pitchers were responsible for the large score, the Tanners booting nine chances and their pitchers giving five passes. Only one college score was earned. Shuford and Graham divided the hurling for the college lads while Loftis and Barley toiled for the Tanners.

Ralph Morris was offensive star of the afternoon, getting a double and a single in his two trips to the plate, and came near pulling off a circus catch in the field. He spoiled an otherwise perfect day by allowing a ball to get away from him on the ground, the batter turning a single into a home run.

It was the first game for the Tanners while the Tornado has played two nine innings games, losing both of them.

Fishing Season Opens In County April 15

The fishing season opens in Transylvania county Monday of next week, April 15, no streams being closed this season, except those posted by individuals where restocking is in progress.

County Game Warden E. R. Galloway calls attention to rules and regulations for fishing, and calls on citizens of the county to assist in enforcement of the laws for protection of the sport in this county, as follows:

Rules and regulations of the department of conservation and development relative to the fishing in North Carolina are designed for the sole purpose of protecting the sport of fishing. There is no idea of limiting or restricting the pleasure of any person, but on the contrary, the intent is to perpetuate the sport for those who would enjoy it in the future as they have in the past. It protects the rights of the most humble as well as those of the most powerful.

Those who destroy fish recklessly and unlawfully and without regard for the future are the enemies of every lawful angler and are foes to the general public. Every fisherman should not only discourage such practices as a dynamiting seine game fish and other violations of the law, but should assist the wardens in the apprehension of guilty persons.

If these illegal and destructive practices are not curbed, only a few years will lapse before the fish population of the state will be reduced to a minimum and some waters will be almost if not entirely depleted.

Any elector who does not desire to have his name entered on the separate registration book for any political party, or who desires to register as an independent, or whose political party does not enter a ticket in the elections in said county shall be registered in the "General Registration Book."
