Golf Course Will Be Lost Unless Citizens Here Can Carry On

Word was received in Brevard Wednesday to the effect that Federal Relief labor could not be used in putting the golf course in condition, which very tersely tells this story—Brevard will have no golf course unless boarding house keepers, hotels, and business houses here pay to make it go. Conservative estimates are that it will take $250 to put the course in shape, and after that, greens fees will take care of maintenance. The town had secured a lease and option on the course, but federal regulations are such that no private property can be enhanced by federal funds, and the town has no funds for such work unless it is levied for and paid by taxation.

The course represents an investment by local people of $41,000, which stands to be lost unless there is quick intervention.

Elliot at Kiwanis

The Rev. P. L. Elliot, who is conducting revival services at Brevard Baptist church, will be guest of the Brevard Kiwanis club at the meeting to be held at the England Home on Thursday of this week at noon.

WORK STARTED ON BREVARD CCC UNIT

Fire Trails, Roads and Conservation Work To Be Done By Enrollees

Material is being laid down at the new CCC camp location just north of Brevard with construction work expected to get under way immediately. A small crew of men under Lieut. A. P. Nesbit is now engaged in clearing the land for the camp site.

The camp is scheduled to be completed by the last of July and will house 200 enrollees and sixteen or more locally employed men as leaders and foremen. Work of building the camp will be done by local labor.

The camp proper will be operated under the war department, with the state department of conservation and development furnishing work projects in Transylvania and Henderson county private property.

W. K. Beichler, district forester, was in Brevard Monday and stated that plans had already been made for the building of 45 miles of truck trails in forest lands and 26 miles of telephone lines for fire protection.

One lookout tower will be built on Big Hogback mountain, to connect with the system already set up. Telephone lines will connect all large boundaries of timber in the county, and the truck trails will be built by the CCC men to serve both as highways and fire breaks.

Three-fourths of the work planned is to be done in Transylvania county. District Forester Beichler stated, one fourth to be in Henderson county. Purpose is to cooperate with local citizens and officials of the county in protection of forests on private lands. Mr. Beichler pointed out, and stated further that with proper cooperation the hazards of fires in wooded areas here would be cut to a minimum.

Tanners Will Play Tryon Here Saturday

Transylvania Tanners meet the Tryon team of the Industrial league here Saturday afternoon, the game to be played on either the college or high school field.

The local outfit retained its top position in the eight team circuit last Saturday by severely drubbing the Beacon nine by a 16-6 score before several hundred fans.

While the game was marred by several miscues, yet the large crowd was kept interested by brilliant playing and the hitting ability of the locals.

Ray Byrd led the Brevard team in slugging, getting a double, three singles and two free passes out of his six times to face the opposing pitchers. In addition to hitting consistently, Byrd scored five of the home team's runs and drove in three others.

Benny Echerd, college shortstop, played an excellent game at second, covering his territory like a veteran, and hit safely twice. Morris and Carson looked good in the outfield.

Rosman WOW Camp In Memorial Service

Memorial services for deceased members of the Rosman Woodmen camp were held Sunday morning at Zion Baptist church with the Rev. W. H. Nicholson of Salem, a former pastor of the church, in charge.

The Rev. Mr. Nicholson, who still retains his membership in the Rosman Woodmen camp, used in a very appropriate sermon the worthwhileness of fraternal orders and stressed the fact that the greatness of fraternal orders came from the fact that here was unity of spirit and action. The church, the greatest of all organizations, the minister pointed out, could be a greater factor for good if there were more unity of spirit as taught in St. Paul's writings and less of the bickerings and strife so often found in churches.

A large group of Woodmen attended the service, with Jack Eldridge in charge of the preliminary services for the camp.

College Building Is Given Big Boost By Student Body Friday

Nearly fourteen hundred dollars in voluntary pledges were given by students of Brevard College last Friday morning at chapel toward building costs of the new gymnasium.

At the conclusion of a talk by President Eugene Coltrane with reference to the three-year program of expansion which the administration is ready to launch, a student arose and said he would contribute $10 toward the expense of a new gymnasium. This immediately led to individual pledges by students and organizations within the student body to an amount of nearly $1,400. Additional contributions from students still are being received. It is expected that the students will contribute a total of at least $1,500 on the project.

The proposed gymnasium will be erected during the fall months and should be ready for use by December 1. The total cost will be at least $6,000. Other proposed buildings include an infirmary and the library and class room building combined. Included in the program is provision for additional gifts which will total $10,000 each year for the next three years and a total endowment fund of $300,000.

At a meeting of the faculty Thursday afternoon each member pledged his service for the summer months without guarantee of salary. Some members of the faculty will conduct the summer school and others will spend their time in the field in the special interest of the college.

C. E. Buckner, new dean of the college, arrived with his family Friday and has taken the apartment in the Frances Ross dormitory. Mr. Buckner for the past four years has been principal of the Burlington high school. He is a graduate of Weaver College, a native of Buncombe county, and has A.B. and A.M. degrees from Duke University.

Bids Again Opened On Highway No. 284

Bids will be received by the state highway and public works commission on June 11 for construction of a little over five miles of highway in Pisgah National Forest, known as No. 284.

This stretch, or 4.76 miles of it, was let several weeks ago, but for reason of error in the bidding was again put up for bids. The stretch starts near the mouth of Looking Glass creek and runs up the creek. Lower end of the road connecting with the Boylston road has not been let.

Final examinations are being given this week and will be completed Saturday morning. That afternoon a group of students will visit the Biltmore estate in Asheville and Saturday evening the annual banquet of the Alpweev fraternity, the most powerful organization on the Brevard campus, will be held at the Pierce-Moore hotel.

Indications point to a satisfactory enrollment for the summer session of the college, which begins Tuesday morning of next week.

In addition to about 30 members of the sophomore class who will remain to complete their work in the summer, a great many members of the freshman class will begin their sophomore work in the summer quarter. There will also be a new class of freshmen who will enter the college for the first time.

The cost of instruction in the summer quarter has been set at $22.00.

All Town Employes Succeed Themselves For Another Term

All employes of the town of Brevard were re-elected at a meeting of the board of aldermen held Monday night.

Harry H. Patton, clerk and treasurer, tendered his resignation, stating that he had been in the work for several years, and he felt it would be beneficial both to himself and the town that he be replaced as soon as the budget was made up and the new tax books made. However, the board refused to accept Mr. Patton's resignation and renamed him to the post. Mr. Patton has served very efficiently as clerk and treasurer for several years.

Others elected to succeed themselves were: B. H. Freeman, chief of police; C. C. Morris, night policeman; Winston Ashworth, foreman street and water department; J. P. Deaver, watershed patrolman; J. Melvin Owen Charged With Death Of H. McCall; Bound To Superior Court

Melvin Owen, 25 year old resident of The Balsam Grove section of Transylvania county, was held without bail to the December term of Superior court by a coroner's jury here Saturday afternoon, charged with the death of Harry McCall, who died at Lyday Memorial hospital last Thursday.

The coroner's verdict as returned was that "Harry McCall came to his death by reason of meningitis which was brought on by a rock thrown by Melvin Owen and we recommend that said Melvin Owen be held for action by the next grand jury without bail."

Evidence at the inquest was to the effect that Owen and McCall had a fight on Sunday afternoon, May 26, following an argument over rumors growing out of McCall's arrest several years ago. During the fight Owen was said to have struck McCall with a rock, inflicting head wounds. Dr. C. L. Newland, surgeon at Lyday Memorial hospital, testified that McCall was brought to the hospital on Sunday afternoon in serious condition, suffering from fractured skull, and that meningitis set in on Wednesday following as result of the fracture, causing death.

Melvin Owen Charged With Death Of H. McCall; Bound To Superior Court which McCall is alleged to have received the injury that caused his death, testified at the coroner's inquest that he and Harry McCall had been fishing together near the home of Elbert McCall in the Balsam Grove section. After getting out of the road and starting down the road, English said that they met Melvin Owen, accompanied by a man from Canton whom he did not know. English testified that he passed by casually and that McCall stopped and presumably was talking to Owen. He (Mr. English) turned around and saw McCall and Owen as if they were scuffling. However, the men lighted a cigarette, and he presumed it was no trouble.

Mr. English did not overhear all the conversation that was carried on between the two men, being several steps away, but he did overhear Owen tell McCall: "I did not report you for stilling," and heard Harry reply "I know you didn't."

Owen, the witness testified, then began cursing and he heard a blow and looked around. He saw Owen reach into his pocket and take out a knife. Witness said he told Owen to give him the knife, and if there was to be a fight, to fight like men.
