

COUNTRY CLUB GOLF COURSE OPENS SOON

Community Joining in Putting Project in Good Condition for Play

Brevard Country club golf course will be ready for play by the middle of the week, formal opening date being set for next Wednesday.

Fairways, greens, roughs and crossings are being put in shape, crews of workmen now engaged in mowing, trimming and rolling the fairways, while another crew is putting the greens in first class condition.

Expense of reconditioning the course is being borne by the Chamber of Commerce and public spirited citizens, who realize the importance of a golf course to a tourist town. The course has been leased from the owners, Henry Carrier, Jos. S. Silverstein and Randall Everett, for the sum of one dollar for the year.

Original plans were to secure aid from the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for labor on the course but this could not be secured and at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce two weeks ago it was voted to start the work at once on funds provided by the community. Harry H. Patton, Ralph H. Ramsey and Jerry Jerome were elected by the Chamber of Commerce as a committee to have complete charge of the work.

While sufficient funds have not been secured to carry on the work, the committee deemed it advisable to proceed with opening of the course, and take care of the expenses incurred.

The course was built several years ago at a cost in excess of thirty thousand dollars and title is such that unless it is maintained the land reverts to the original owners, hence the necessity of keeping the course in shape, aside from the fact that it is an essential to tourist business of the county.

Peculiar Formation On Gloucester Road

Alley Oop, of one of the comic strips, may have lost his "Dinny" near Brevard years ago, judging from a peculiar formation on the bank of the Gloucester Gap road in Pisgah National Forest.

Pictures of the outline were made by Mrs. R. M. Neely and may be seen in The Times office.

Geologists might term the formation a fault in sandstone through which the road is cut, but to the numerous people who have viewed the spectacle this summer since rains have uncovered the clearly outlined "something," it is a prehistoric animal.

The formation is easily accessible to motorists. The route taken from Brevard is northwest on 284 through the Memorial Arch west of Pisgah Forest station, past John's Rock CCC camp and to the left via Gloucester Gap, Balsam Grove CCC camp and then down the Gloucester road to Rosman and U. S. Highway 64 back to Brevard, making an ideal sight-seeing trip.
