I observe that there are several acres planted to late beans. If the owners of these beans will write a card to this office or get in touch with either of the vocational teachers, it seems that there should be no trouble in marketing the beans. Don't wait until the beans are ready to sell to let us know, but do it now, stating how many you expect to have and when they will be ready for market. This will enable us to get in

We cannot promise a positive sale for all the produce you let us know about, but it is a known fact that we cannot put buyers in contact with producers unless we know who the producers are and what they have to offer the buyer. A penny postal card when it will be ready may be the means of selling several dollars worth of produce that otherwise might go to waste.

BREVARD COLLEGE

SPECIAL WORK AT

National Youth Administration Group To Be Here For Four Week Period

Arrangements are complete at Broof over one hundred young women who will arrive here Sunday from various sections of the state to enter training under the National Youth Administration.

The educational camp or training school will be of four weeks dur-ation, the special term to close on September 21, with the college open-ing scheduled for September 23.

The National Youth Administration is a part of the FERA, and the teachers being brought to Brevard College for one month of special training will receive instruction in the organization and conduct of community schools for adults.

Seventeen of these educational camps or schools will be held in 11 states, with the Brevard school being for four weeks, and the Meuse Forect high school setup, near New Bern for six weeks. The third training institution is to be in the south central part of the state, the first two for white women between the ages of 16 and 25, and the last one to be for negro women.

The program will be similar to that carried on last year, when there were 2 residential schools and edu-cational emphasis will be placed on adjustment and counseling in order that the women may attain a better idea of how to adapt themselves to changing economic conditions.

After conferring with Mayor A. H. Harris and members of the board of aldermen, President Coltrane said the town would cooperate with the college officials in making the stay of the large group of young stay of the large group of young women as pleasant and profitable as possible. Maintenance Funds Announced By State

Expenditure of $5,362.75 for maintenance and improvement of Brevard streets used as highways has been announced by Capus M. Way-nich, chairman of the state highway commission, during the coming twelge months. Rosman will receive $243.00.

The tentative allocation is part of the two-year program of municipal street-highway manitenance author-ized by the 1935 general assembly, which called for $500,000 to be expended each year during the 1935-37 biennium for repairing streets used by through highway traffic.
