OFFICERS CUT DOWN HUGE STILL SUNDAY

Moonshine Outfit Capable Of Turning 500 Gallons Per Day Is Destroyed

The largest and most complete illicit still ever to be destroyed in Transylvania was cut down Sunday by Sheriif Tom Wood and a group of federal officers headed by Director T. E. Patton near High Falls in the eastern part of the county.

The still had a 500-gallon capacity per day, with attendant beer and mash facilities of nearly ten thousand gallons, several thousand gallons of beer being nearly ready for the run, with the moonshine apparatus all hooked up and ready for action

The still was of the steamer type, using an upright boiler eight feet in height and four feet across, coke being used for fuel, thus lessening J. C. ORR, of Pisgah Forest R-1, the tell-tale smoke. Two "clive bar- has read the Brevard paper all his rels" connected to the boiler, each of life and has been a subscriber himself the "clives" capable of cooking five for 34 years. hundred gallons at a time were used, a long copper pipe running from the barres into the nearby creek, thus dispensing with the usual condenser outfit. As the whiskey left the long copper pipe condensing outfit it was lit was natural for J. C. to take the supposed to run through a filter fillsupposed to run through a filter filled with charcoal, cotton and sand, into large containers, onto trucks and then very probably down the old Buck Forest road by the power plant on Little River and into the hands of the jobbers and distributors.

Sheriff Wood said that in his opinion the still had been in operation eight to ten months, judging from appearances of the timber which had been cleared away to make room for setting up the large outfit. Trucks had evidently been used to transport the meal, sugar and other properties for making whiskey into properties for making whiskey into the place, with some of the low places in the road having been cross-laid with poles and planks.

The still was located last week by Sheriff Wood and sentries posted to nab the operators, but after several nights close watching no one appeared, and the outfit was destroyed

Heavy Rains Bring Question Of River Work To Forefront

Heavy rainfall was reported all sections of the county the first of this week, with the official register at the city hall in Brevard showing 5.34 inches for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning, or approximately one-twelfth of the annual pre-

City Clerk Harry Patton's figures show for Monday, .72 inches; Tuesday, 2.10 inches; Wednesday,

All streams were reported bankfull and over Tuesday night, with the French Broad river out in several places Tuesday morning.

Several people have mentioned the fact that overflow of the French Broad river does thousands of dollars damage annually in this county and in Henderson and the suggestion is made that the counties would be accomplishing something very worth-while if the river could be cleared of debris so that the water would be carried off faster.

The matter of draining the French Broad has been very widely discussed for several years, and on different occasions interested parties have made trips to Washington in an endeavor to have the federal government aid in clearing the river.

Jetties that were placed in the river forty or more years ago when effort was being made to make the river navigable from Asheville to Brevard are blamed by older residents for causing overflow of the river and at the same time making much valuable land along the river

Art Exhibit Draws Large Groups Here

Much success was accorded the art exhibit of North Carolina artists, circulated by the art department of the State Federation of Women's clubs, and sponsored here at the grammar school by the Brevard Fortnightly club on Tuesday and Wednesday.

In addition to the exhibit of North Carolina artists, which received ex-pressions of praise and interest by the many people viewing it, were also a varied assortment of exhibits by children of the elementary grades and high school. The school children's exhibits included posters, booklets. sketches, maps, clever soap carvings and other things of interest of their own production. An exhibit calling forth particular interest was that of Miss Lena Allison's 6-A grade. It Miss Lena Allison's 6-A grade. Transylvania Cases Tried In U. S. Court

Federal court at Asheville heard cases from Transylvania on Tuesda-and Wednesday with liquor law and game violations being cases against several people from this county.

One man sentenced Tuesday by Judge Yntes E. Webb, told the court that he had gone to a moonshine still to get some whiskey "for his rheumatism" and that he did not have anything to do with the operation; that he was only passing by when the officers appeared.

However, the judge told him he would give him ten months in which to treat his rheumatism.

Orchard Meeting To Be Held Here Friday

(J. A. Glazener, Co. Agt.) All persons interested in orchard development and improvement are requested to meet in the county agent's office Friday evening, Nov. ent and discuss the important phases of successful orcharding. The Brevard Future Farmers' string band will furnish music for the occasion. Here is hoping that several farmers will be present and as a result of the meeting assist in getting more and better home orchards established in the county.
