

BREVARD COLLEGE OPENS ON MONDAY

Heavy Snow Causes Postponement—Increased Number Pupils Expected

Brevard College will open Monday, January 6, instead of Thursday, January 2, as originally planned, following the Christmas holidays, due to the heavy snowfall of last Saturday night.

President E. J. Coltrane stated Tuesday that many of the students had wired and telephoned the College Monday and Tuesday to the effect that they were so deeply covered with snow that travel was dangerous, and requested that opening be delayed.

Students were notified through newspapers on Wednesday and Thursday to the effect that the college would open Monday of next week. President Coltrane said that he expected an increased enrollment on Monday, adding to the four hundred students now in college here.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS QUIET IN COMMUNITY

The holidays in Brevard were very quiet, cold weather adding to the impetus to spend the time around the family fire-sides.

Very little drinking was in evidence, according to Chief of Police B. H. Freeman, and number of cases in mayor's court on Monday night was below usual.

Resettlement Offers To Lend Money Here

Rural Resettlement offices for Transylvania and Henderson counties have been established in Brevard at the county court house, under the direction of F. A. Shoe, county supervisor for the two counties.

Landowners, share croppers, renters, or tenants, may secure loans through the resettlement office for securing better livestock, poultry, farming equipment or general farm supplies. To be eligible a farmer must be of good moral standing in the community in which he resides, as applications are passed upon by a committee of farmers of the section from which the application is made.

Applications are now being received by Supervisor Shoe at his office in the upstairs section of the county court house building, and he will be glad to explain the setup to any person interested.

LUMBER COMPANY BUYS LARGE TRACT

O'Conner Land In Upper End of County Involved In Morris-Taylor Deal

Announcement was made Wednesday to the effect that the William O'Conner tract of timber land in the upper end of Transylvania county has been sold to the Morris-Taylor company of Asheville, and that the newly organized company plans to start cutting and marketing the timber immediately.

The tract extends into three states as follows: 18,000 acres in Jackson and Transylvania counties, North Carolina; 19,000 acres in Oconee county, South Carolina, and 4,000 acres in Rabun county, Georgia.

The sale involved the sale of all the timber, mineral and other rights, it was explained. Negotiations extended over several months, and is one of the largest transactions of its kind in several years.

Gilbert H. Morris, vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company, announced today that he and W. Granville Taylor, prominent Asheville lumberman, had formed the Morris-Taylor Lumber company of Asheville, Inc., to carry on the cutting and marketing of timber from the large tract. It is anticipated that 15 years will be required to cut over the entire property, said to be the largest tract of available virgin timber in this section of the United States.

Several saw mills will be located at strategic points within the boundary, and a concentration yard, dry kiln and planing mill will be constructed at West Union, S. C., about one mile from Walhalla, S. C. More than 200 persons will be employed in the initial operations.

Mr. Morris and Mr. Taylor purchased the property—known as the William O'Conner tract—from the Whitewater River Lumber company of Wellston, Pa., for an unstipulated sum but it is recalled that Mr. O'Conner prior to his death several years ago had refused $1,250,000 for it. The tract has never been cut over, and includes large quantities of poplar, white oak and other hardwoods, and white and yellow pines.

W. O. W. Meeting Installation of officers will be special business of the local camp Woodmen of the World on Monday night of next week.

The board, together with the county superintendent, held a meeting Wednesday, and after checking up on the condition of the side roads over which the school buses must travel, decided that in order to relieve the hazards of transportation and to economize on fuel, the wise plan would be to defer opening of schools until the 13th.

While the state highway department has been able to get the main highway open to traffic following the deep snow of Saturday night, yet the side roads where the bus hauling children would have to travel are considered dangerous.

Planning Farm and Garden Is Essential

(J. A. Glazener, Agent) It is quite true that this kind of weather calls for more timber work in the way of fire wood than any other phase of farm activities; but while sitting around the fire is an awful good time to do a little farm and garden planning.

May I suggest that we begin with the home garden, for of all the acres on the farm none are expected to do more than the one that is to produce our family supply of vegetables. Give it serious consideration from the selection and preparation of the land to the choosing of the various vegetables that are to be grown. After having decided what vegetables are to be grown and the amount, then comes the one important thing and that is getting good seeds or plants whichever is to be used. Now is a good time to plan the entire garden for by so doing he will know what to plant and the amount when the planting date arrives.

While thinking of plans why not give a little time and thought as to what is to be grown on the different fields, in the way of soil improvement crops, feed crops and cash crops. The cash crop is one that should have serious thought otherwise one may make a very great mistake for what will best suit one farmer and his soil may spell failure to another. Some time later I plan to discuss garden plans in detail, including varieties of different vegetables recommended for this section and the amount suggested to grow for an average size family.
