

REVIVAL SERVICES START HERE SUNDAY

Series of Meetings at Methodist Church and Brevard College by Rozzelle

Revival services will begin at the Brevard Methodist church Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock, according to an announcement made by the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Brendall. The special series of meetings will continue through the following Sunday, and possibly longer.

The Rev. C. Rexell Rozzelle, pastor of the Main street Methodist church, Gastonia, will do the preaching at each service. In addition to the nightly services held throughout the week at the church, there will be a service held each morning at Brevard College during the chapel period beginning at 7:45 o'clock. The first college service will be held Monday morning.

An inter-denominational children's service will also be held at the church through the next week each afternoon from 3:30 to 5 o'clock for children between the ages of six and twelve.

The Rev. Rozzelle is a native of Gaston county and began his ministerial life there, before finishing at Vanderbilt University. He was asked to finish out a contract at Mt. Zion church, after which he was sent to Hickory Grove, Ga. after this a serious throat trouble developed, which sent him to the west and after some months he returned to North Carolina and took the superintendency of Mt. Holly graded school, which position he held for a number of years until his throat affliction was sufficiently healed to take up pastorate work again.

When Methodist living in the Myers Park section of Charlotte decided to organize a church in that section, there was an understanding that Mr. Rozzelle would be the first pastor, and Bishop Collins Denny granted that request. He spent two years there, after which he was sent by Bishop Moore to Chapel Hill, where he remained two years, being transferred then back to Western North Carolina and served at Lenoir. After four years there, he was sent to Main Street, Gastonia, where he is in his first year.

Mrs. Pickelsimer Buried On Monday

Mrs. Charles W. Pickelsimer, 42, died at her home here early Sunday morning following an illness of several months. Funeral services were conducted at the Brevard Baptist church Monday afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. Paul Hartsell, and the pastors of the other local churches, the Rev. J. H. Brendall, the Rev. Harry Perry, and the Rev. J. P. Simmons. Interment was at Oak Grove cemetery, where the local chapter of the Eastern Star had charge of the burial rites.

Mrs. Pickelsimer, who was before her marriage on March 27, 1913, Miss Agnes Williams, of Petersburg, Va., had made Brevard her home since that time. She was a faithful and active member of the Brevard Baptist church, an active member of the Homemakers class of the Sunday school, and a loyal member of the Eastern Star, having been elected to the office of Worthy Matron of the local chapter at a recent meeting. She was also greatly interested in the work of the Parent-Teacher association and especially in the grade mother activities, having been chairman of the grade mothers of the Brevard elementary school the past year. Attending to the high school in which she was held in the community, the church auditorium was filled to overflowing at the funeral services, and banks of beautiful flowers surrounded the casket.

Surviving are the husband and four young children, Ethelyn, Ann, Charles, Jr., and Joseph. One brother and one sister also survive—Frank Williams and Mrs. Fred Munford, of Petersburg, Va.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Paul Hartsell and the Rev. J. H. Brendall, in charge of the flowers were members of the Eastern Star and of the Homemakers class.

Mrs. Pickelsimer, funeral director, was in charge of arrangements.

STORM PICTURES ARE INCLUDED IN YOUR OWN PAPER

In line with its policy of giving its readers the very best paper possible, The Transylvania Times has included in its pages this week a 3-column group of pictures showing the disastrous results of recent tornado at Guinnessville, Ga. Included with the pictures is a map showing the path of the tornado. It is our hope that you will find the map and pictures interesting.

Red Cross Donations Still Being Received

Donations are still being received for the Red Cross relief fund for victims of the tornado which struck the South on April 6, with various people and organizations showing their real interest by contributing to the fund here.

Several people have made donations through The Times office that could ill afford to do so, but these people took the attitude that withal they are far better off than some of the people who have lost their homes, property, use of limbs, and in many cases, their lives, and therefore, are willing to contribute as a thanksgiving offering.

One primary grade of a county school sent in $1.40 that the children had saved for another purpose; one group of pupils at Brevard had been saving for weeks to have a party, and instead turned in $10.40 for relief of tornado victims, and others, all meritorious cases, have added to the fund.

Contributions may be left at The Times office, with Jerry Deane at the Building and Loan office, or at either of the drug stores. The funds will be turned over to the Red Cross chapter here and sent to the stricken areas.

Tax lists in several of the precincts of the county have reported to Supervisor Ralph Lyday that people are failing to list their taxes on the dates advertised, and attention is called to the fact that the law requires people to meet the lists and file in their taxes even if there has been no change whatsoever in the valuation since the previous year's listing.

LOOKOUT TOWER ON TOXAWAY MOUNTAIN

Much Constructive Work Has Been Done In Forests By CCC Campers

"There's a lookout tower on Toxaway Mountain" sounds like the title of a popular song but it isn't. Toxaway lookout tower is a thing of steel, rising 45 feet into the air and affording sharp-eyed observers a wonderful vantage point from which to spot forest fires that may break out in large tracts of timber surrounding this mountain.

Credit for erecting this tower goes to CCC camp P-66, Company 3448, of Brevard, coming into this area on July 9, 1935, from the vicinity of North Wilkesboro, Camp Sledge, with a force of 220 men, began work on the project, carrying them into Jackson, Polk, Henderson and Transylvania counties.

The first project taken up by members of this camp was work on the Horse Pasture Watershed. Considering the fact that the crews worked in very mountainous country, and that it was necessary to travel a great distance to reach the project, the amount of work accomplished has been quite satisfactory. When the fact that it was necessary for the supervisory personnel to train inexperienced men in all the phases of forestry work required on this type of the results obtained.

If people in Brevard want the course to be operated this year, they are given the opportunity of supporting it by purchasing season tickets immediately. Price of the tickets which permits one person to play all seasons has been placed at the low figure of ten dollars. Those who are willing to help out in the operation of a golf course here this summer, or rather all those who see the necessity of maintaining a course for the public, are urged to buy a ticket at once. Brevard College Kings of Swat pounced upon the offerings of two Blue Ridge pitchers here Monday afternoon for a total of 14 hits that netted 13 runs and a one-sided score of 13-2.

Lee and Patton were effective in their mound work against the Ridgeans, and the backing given the college pitchers by fielders in the close quarters and the outfield, made the college squad look exceptionally good for a first game team.

Huggins was credited with three safe throws out of five times up, while Walter Clayton furnished the big moment of the game when he slung one across the street for a home run. Lyday for Blue Ridge, also had a good day at bat, collecting three hits out of four trials.

Aleczer, the James outfit looked pretty nifty in their new uniforms, and especially did they look good in the way they handled the ball.

The College squad was scheduled to play Farm School, there, Wednesday afternoon. Boiling Springs college is slated to play here Monday afternoon of next week.

Cemetery Cleaning Purpose of Meeting Called For Tuesday

Movement to make the Gillespie cemetery in Brevard a more attractive and fitting place will be started next Tuesday night, when a meeting is being called for laying plans to carry out the work.

Entrance to the cemetery has been in bad state of repair for several years, and while there has been some work done by interested citizens on the project, it is felt by the committee which is calling the meeting for next Tuesday night, that there are numerous people in the community who would like to do a little something to further the work, and that by pooling efforts a vast amount of worthy work can be accomplished at little cost to any one individual. "If you have loved ones buried at the Gillespie cemetery and are interested in improving the entrance and driveways, be sure and come to the Court House on Tuesday night April 21st at eight o'clock.

"We have an opportunity to secure the stone for the driveway, and we are only paying for the hauling. My dress has kindly offered to give us the stone for the entrance, this will help a lot, and we want every one who is interested to be present.

"This is a worthy cause and we owe it to our loved ones to do something to improve our cemetery. We will expect you to be at the Court House, remember the date, next Tuesday night at eight o'clock."
