

SAFETY SABBATH TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Ministers Asked To Stress Sane Driving Of Autos From Pulpits

Transylvania county autoists are expected to join in the movement to cut down the terrible Fourth of July traffic accident toll, and ministers of all churches in the county are being requested to stress safety and saneness from their pulpits next Sunday.

The Carolina Motor Club of North and South Carolina are taking the lead in the movement, and officials of the two states, including the governors and other leaders are urging all people of the Carolinas to make a concerted effort to cut down the appalling loss of life and the annual Fourth of July accidents which have been leaving countless numbers injured.

The Brevard agency of the Carolina Motor Club which is operated by Mrs. Carl McCrary, has secured several hundred booklets entitled "We Drivers" which discusses briefly the safe plans for driving, and these may be had by any interested parties for the asking.

Inasmuch as the Fourth of July is also election day, when the second Democratic primary will be held, the holiday occasion is more to be desired than ever before, and the observance of next Sunday as "Safety Sabbath" is regarded as very appropriate.

Mayor A. H. Harris prepared the following proclamation in regard to the "Safety Sabbath" which is published herewith:

"WHEREAS, the appalling increases in injuries and loss of life from preventable accidents upon our streets and highways has become a subject of major concern alike to the public officials and private citizens; and

"WHEREAS, the safeguarding of human life is a sacred duty to which the energies of our people should be thoughtfully directed; and

"WHEREAS, it is desirable that a sense of individual responsibility for constant vigilance and incessant endeavor towards the mitigation of the ever-present dangers incident to motor travel be inculcated in the minds of the people;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, A. H. Harris, mayor of the Town of Brevard, North Carolina, do encourage the concentration of thought and effort upon this problem, do hereby urge leaders of religious and civil life to observe Sunday, June 28th, as "Safety Sabbath" and by precept and example to foster the ideal of consideration for the rights of others, to the end that the irreducible minimum in accidents and deaths may be accomplished.

"Given under my hand this the 23rd day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-Six."

Stretches of the road have been opened during the past few days as it was finished, the traffic will be allowed now to use the road to Knight's store at Blantyre.

Mr. McDaniel requests that drivers go slow for the first several days on the road, as this will aid the highway crew in maintaining the surface, and prevent accidents from slipping on the stone surface.

The new part of the road covers nine miles in two stretches, with five miles of the old surface being left. However, the five miles are in fair condition, and with completion of the new links this week, Brevard will have a good road to Hendersonville.

The new construction is of the surface treated type, with a 16-foot surface on an eight inch stone bed, and is said by engineers to make a high class road.
