BIBLE SCHOOL WILL START HERE JULY 9

A splendid faculty has been secured, with Mrs. Knox DeLong as principal, Randall Lyday and Miss Lorene Payne will have charge of the handwork period. This is considered an unusual opportunity for the boys and girls, as Miss Payne is a graduate of Cooper Union Art school in New York City, and Mr. Lyday is teacher of vocational training in the Brevard high school.

Other members of the faculty include: Mrs. Melvin Gillespie, Alvin Moore, Prof. W. M. Hunt, of Rosman, Mrs. Walter Duckworth, Richard Moore, Mrs. A. J. ## Summer Camps Bring Hundreds of Young People To Community

All of the 10 organized summer camps for boys and girls opening this week and next in Brevard and Transylvania county report the largest enrollment in several years, with a capacity limit reported in the majority of the camps. Hundreds of young people from various sections of the United States and a few foreign countries will be in attendance during the eight weeks' sessions.

Of the ten camps operating in this county, four are for boys and six are for girls. The camps are opening at varying dates from June 27 to July 10, and all will close during the last week or 10 days of August. The camps accommodate from 50 to 250 campers each, ranging in ages from five to 18 years.

All of the camps are located in ideal settings of natural scenic beauty, with camp lake and commanding matchless views of the surrounding mountains. The camp sites vary in size from 40 acres to 400 acres of mountain and valley land. All are under the operation of trained and experienced directors and counselors who supervise the various activities, among which are included swimming, canoeing and other aquatic sports on camp lakes, athletics, arts and crafts, archery, riflery, music, dancing and pageantry. Contests, tournaments, horseback riding, hiking and various methods of stimulating good camp spirit also form an important part of camp life.

Brevard has become widely known as the center of organized summer camps in the South. The first camp was established in this county 24 years ago, and has been operating continuously each summer under the same ownership and director. The pioneer boys' camp in Transylvania county is Carap Sapphire, starting this season on its 24th year. French Broad camp is the second oldest camp for boys in this county, having been established 23 years ago by the present director and owner. Keystone camp is the pioneer girls' camp in this county, celebrating its 20th anniversary this season. The other camps have been in operation from 13 to 17 years.

The main purpose of summer camp life is to afford a healthful, beneficial and recreational vacation for boys and girls from kindergarten to college age, all under competent supervision. In the successful accomplishment of this aim, camp life teaches the great lesson of team work and cooperation; the ability to live happily with others; creates qualities of leadership; allows opportunity for discovery and original observation; and affords a time for rest.

High and Low Raised At Brevard Postoffice

The highest and the lowest at Brevard postoffice secured raises in salary effective July 1st.

T. Coleman Galloway, postmaster for the past two years, was given a raise by the department on account of the fact that the receipts for the fiscal year ending July 1, were considerable over that of 1934-35.

Lacey Allen, colored janitor deluxe, was also given an increase in salary—this coming on recommendation of Postmaster Galloway to the postal department. Lacey, who is uncertain as to his actual age, is sure he has worked for thirty years at the Brevard postoffice, and asserts that his "Uncle" has at last found out how valuable a worker he has been all these years.

RALPH JAMES WILL COACH FOR W.C.T.C.

Brevard College Mentor Goes To Replace Poindexter At Cullowhee

Coach Ralph E. James has accepted the position of head coach of Western Carolina Teachers College, at Cullowhee, and will assume his new duties there in September.

Coach James has been at Brevard College for two years, and prior to coming here was coach at Weaver two terms, his athletic teams ranking high at both Weaver and Brevard. In his first year here, James turned out a winning football team from material gathered up here and yonder and tied for top place in the junior college conference. Last fall his team lost only one game.

Equally expert in baseball and basketball, James has made Brevard College athletics number one among junior colleges, and fans here lose him with deep regret. Ralph has not only made an exceptionally good coach, but he has also built up a wide circle of friends in the community.

One of the best liked traits of the coach who has put the athletic department of Brevard College in front has been his treatment of local boys—each team in his department getting a large sprinkling of the local talent.

President E. J. Coltrane said Wednesday that while he regretted very much to see James leave Brevard, that he was glad to see him get a promotion. He said that no successor has been named.

Building Funds For New Homes May Be Secured Through FHA

A lively spurt in residence building in Brevard was presaged Wednesday by an announcement made by Scott Radeker, field representative of the Federal Housing Administration to the effect that arrangements have been made whereby there are lending agencies who will now make any new construction loans insured by the FHA for the construction of residences in Brevard.

Heretofore the retarding factor in the operation of the FHA in this section has been the fact that there were no investment agencies seeking insured mortgage loans based upon properties in this section.

Mr. Radeker states that there are now unlimited funds to finance loans that the housing administration will insure. He also states that these loans are confined to urban residence property and that they may be for as much as sixteen thousand dollars and for amounts up to eighty per cent of the value of the house and lot combined. Residence properties are constructed by the FHA to be properties designed for occupancy by not more than four family units.

O. H. Orr has been appointed to represent a number of out of town lending agencies for placing these loans and has received a supply of printed forms and other matter necessary to use in filing an application. Mr. Orr points out that the Federal Housing itself does not lend any money, but that it insures lending agencies against loss on loans made according to the standards set up by the FHA. It is these approved mortgagees who are represented in the application for the loans by Mr. Orr.

The process of applying for a loan under this plan involves applying to the office of Mr. Orr, or some similar agency, and there receiving the blanks necessary to use in filing the application. These applications are then forwarded to the lending agencies, and after scrutiny are then forwarded to the state office of the Federal Housing Administration for final approval. When approved by the state office of the Federal Housing Administration a commitment is issued, whereby the housing administration binds itself to insure the loan if made within a specified period from the date of the commitment.

PRESIDENT F. D. ROOSEVELT was renominated as presidential candidate by acclamation at the National Democratic Convention in Philadelphia last Saturday morning just after midnight without a dissenting vote.

Vice President John Nance Garner was recipient of the same type nomination Saturday afternoon, giving the New Deal party the same leaders that have carried on for the past three and one-half years.

The 1936 New Deal platform, strong in pledging a sound currency, a balanced budget at the "earliest possible moment" and a constitutional amendment if necessary to achieve the party's broad social program, was adopted last Thursday night by the Democratic national convention.

The 2,000 word document, filled with commendation of the Republican party and shouting praises of the record of President Roosevelt and his administration, was a "compromise" designed to appeal to conservatives and liberals alike.

Sen. David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, chairman of the sub-committee of 12 which struggled all of Wednesday night and until 3 p. m., Thursday on the resolutions, said: "It is a good platform upon which all Democrats can stand."

The platform listed three inescapable obligations of government to its citizens—protection of the family and home; establishment of a democracy of opportunity for all the people, and aid to those overtaken by disaster.

Declaring war against "economic tyranny," President Roosevelt made his speech of acceptance on Saturday night, and sounded the keynote of the campaign which will get underway immediately, leaders of the party declare, for re-election of the president and his running mate in November.

COLLEGE SUMMER TERM STARTS 6TH

New Plan at Brevard Enables Students to Secure Full Credits In Summer

Brevard College authorities have just announced the beginning of a special summer quarter beginning Monday, July 6. This special quarter will extend through ten full weeks ending Saturday, September 12.

During this period it will be possible for a student to complete one quarter of work or one-third of a year. Freshmen only will be admitted for this quarter. Students entering as freshmen for the first time or freshmen desiring to repeat certain courses will be eligible for entrance. Classes in English, mathematics, chemistry, and history will be conducted.

In commenting on this new arrangement President Coltrane said, "the administration has developed the plan because of the belief that there are a great many students who would prefer to enter in July rather than wait until September. Young people who are not profitably employed will find it to their advantage to attend college for the entire quarter."

Under a recent ruling of the faculty, students will not be permitted to have part-time employment until they have been in college at least one quarter. This arrangement enables the new student to prove his ability as a student and his adaptability to the Brevard plan of operation.

According to the president, new students who may find it necessary to have self-help in order to meet their college expenses will do well to enter in July and thus be eligible for help at the beginning of the fall quarter, September 14.

A student who enters July 6 may remain in college ten weeks for a total charge of $61.00. This provision makes it possible for a student to reduce his expenses for the first quarter to an appreciable extent. It likewise enables a student to complete his work in Brevard College three months earlier than he would by entering in September.

President Coltrane strongly urges freshmen to take advantage of this new arrangement. It is his opinion that "new students will find it possible to begin their work in college under more favorable conditions. Classes will be somewhat smaller and more opportunity for conferences with teachers will be given." It would appear that the entire plan should work to the great advantage of those who may be interested.

SECOND PRIMARY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Governor's Race Holds Most of Interest—No Contest in County

A record vote for a purely state election is expected to be cast in Transylvania county Saturday when the chief interest will be in the Hoye-McDonald race for Democratic governor nominee.

With no local candidates in the race, very little "out-in-the-open" work has been done for either Hoye or McDonald. However, both candidates have headquarters open in the Brevard uptown area. McDonald headquarters were opened in the Pickelstimer building opposite the court house Thursday, and the Hoye headquarters were opened in the Waltemire hotel on Friday.

Ellis C. Jones, Asheville attorney, will speak in the interest of Dr. McDonald at Rosman school house Thursday night. The Rosman boxes gave McDonald a good vote in the first primary.

Paul Grady and Wilkins Horton are in the race for lieutenant-governor, and Thad Eure and Stacey Wade are fighting for the nomination for secretary of state.

Tickets and election supplies will be distributed to the judges and registrars on Thursday morning of this week at ten o'clock by L. P. Wilson, chairman of the board of elections, and those wishing to vote absentee in the county Saturday, may secure ballots from registrars after that time.

The polls will open Saturday morning at 8:18 and close at sundown.
