DEBT SETTLEMENT STARTED BY BOARD

County and Town Trying To Effect Readjustment of Overdue Bonds

Refinancing the county and town indebtedness took up most of the time at the meeting of the two boards last Monday and Monday night. Proposals were received by the county from a bondholders committee, and the commissioners instructed County Attorney W. E. Breese to make such offer as the commissioners felt the taxpayers could

The board of aldermen instructed City Attorney Ralph Ramsey to present a proposed settlement to the bond-holders of the town, at the meeting Monday night.

Complete details of the plans were not given out, as both the county and town officials expect to hold confer-ences with bondholders before making defininte plans for the refinancing. However, tentative programs are being presented this week by both units which will effect an exceptionally large saving, if gotten through.

Brevard College Board Will Meet October 22

The annual meeting of the board of trustees of Brevard College which was scheduled to meet Tuesday of this week was postponed to a later date. The plans now provide for the meeting to be held in Salisbury Thursday, October 22. Several matters of importance which are not ready for action by the board will come up for consideration at that time.

The disposition of the Weaver College property is a matter of special importance at the present time. Since the Federal Transient Relief Bureau vacated the property last February different proposals for the lease or sale of the property have been considered. At the present time there are three proposals: for a military school; for a boys' preparatory school; and for a college. Two former professors from the University of Maryland are interested in establishing a military school at Weaverville; a group of business men in Charlotte and other cities in the state are interested in the property as a site for a boys' preparatory school which will probably be established within the next year. The Free Will Baptist church is Friday afternoon. considering the property as a location for its new college which is to be opened in September, 1937. A group of men representing the denomination visited Weaverville this week and conferred with Brevard College officials in regard to purchase of the property. Under the provisions of the charter, any property owned by Brevard College cannot be sold or leased without authority of the Western North Carolina Conference. At the forthcoming session of the annual conference provision will be sought for the sale of the Weaver College property.

Schools Will Close

All schools of Transylvania will close Friday at noon, according to official bulletin issued from the office of County Superintendent J. B. Jones.

The half holiday is being given in order that the school children may attend the county fair in Brevard Friday afternoon, if they wish. Each of the schools of the county are expected to enter ex-hibits in the "school department" at the fair.

At the last fair held in the county, the school exhibits were very interesting, along with the vocational agriculture and home economics displays.

Liquor and Pistol Cause Grief for Hubert Gravely

A few too many drinks of whiskey, and a foolish notion about the prowess of a pistol placed Hubert Gravely in a near-dying condition last Saturday afternoon about 7 oclock.

Gravely told Deputy Sheriff Tommy Wood that he wanted to see if his pisto would work and he shot himself with it in the breast. He was brought to Lyday Memorial hospital, where his condition is regarded as serious.

According to information gained by Deputy Sheriff Wood, Gravely had been drinking, and while at the home of Jule Reynolds in the East Fork section said that he was going to kill himself and further that he would brook no interference from any of the Reynolds family. He is said to have stepped out into the yard of the Reynolds home and fired the 32-calibre pistol ball into his left breast near the heart.

Deputy Sheriff Wood said that he questioned Gravely immediately after going to the Reynolds home, and that Gravely said he was expecting to trade the pistol to a fellow in that section and he wanted to see if it would shoot before he traded it off.

The Gravely family told the deputy sheriff that Gravely was drunk and that he had threatened to kill himself just a few minutes before firing the

Selica Man Gives No Reason For Rash Act—Buried at Dunn's Creek

Sam Eubanks, 42 year old farmer of the Selica section of Transylvania coun-ty, committed suicide late Friday after-noon, while visiting at the home of Jim Morgan, a friend, in the Holly Pens ection of Transylvania, near the South

Eubanks took his life with a 12-guage automatic shotgun, according to evidence brought out at the coroners inquest held late Friday night by County Coroner C S. Osborne, and Deputy Sheriff Tommy Wood, who went to the scene late Friday afternoon.

A load of shot from the heavy guage gun had entered the man's right side just at the lower ribs and ranged up and back, the coroner said, the load remaining in the man's body. Imprint of the muzzle of the gun near the wound was plainly visible when examination was made several hours after the shooting, the officers report. The gun was jammed when it fired and the shell remained in the breech, as an inshell remained in the breech, as an in-dication that the man was leaning on the gun when it was fired.

The coroner's jury, after hearing Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, and their son, Elliard, rendered a verdict that Eubanks died by his own hand.
