PARKWAY MONEY IS VOTED BY CONGRESS

Insures Continuance of Work On Blue Ridge Project In Western Carolina

Announcement was made from Washington last Thursday morning to the effect that the proposed slice in federal appropriations for the Blue Ridge Parkway had been successfully opposed by Congressmen Doughton and Weaver, and that $4,500,000 had been given over by the congress through the supply measure.

The vote of the house on the amendment was 141 to 59, and followed heated debate.

Acceptance of the increased appropriation for the parkway by the house is believed to insure ample funds for the continuance of the parkway work during the fiscal year beginning on July 1. The budget appropriation of $5,000,000 for the parkway had been trimmed to $2,500,000 in the house appropriations committee.

The entire North Carolina congressional delegation rallied in support of the amendment, but principal credit for its passage went to Representative Doughton and Representative Zebulon Weaver, who led the fight for the increased appropriation.

The house defeated an amendment by Representative Ford of Mississippi, which would have made $5,000,000 available for the parkway next year and $5,000,000 for the Natchez Trace parkway in Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi.

The Western Carolina Advisory committee, the state highway department, and the council of state headed by Governor Hovey, have been very active in the matter for the past several weeks, and Chairman C. E. Ray, of Waynesville, said last Thursday that he felt the co-operation of all communities in the western part of the state had been very instrumental in securing the appropriation.

Effort is being made by the Advisory Committee and the State Highway department to have surveys made and work started within the year on the Wagon Road-Balsam Gap section of the parkway near Brevard.

Musical Program Monday

Monday night, May 31, the "Artistic Pigs" will appear at the court house in Brevard. These musicians are broadcasting twice daily over station WFBC in Greenville, S. C.

This program is sponsored by the Boy's Class No. 4 of the Presbyterian church.

Trucks Asked To Park On Side Streets Here

Truck drivers are requested by the town officials to park their trucks off the main business blocks in Brevard, due to the fact that long beds on some of the trucks protrude out into the street and constitute a traffic hazard.

Signs have been placed on light posts in the uptown section asking drivers to park outside the three main uptown blocks. An ordinance pertaining to parking of trucks reads as follows:

"Section 1.—That for the better regulation of traffic and for public safety, no truck shall be allowed to park on Main Street from Caldwell to Gaston Streets and on Broad Street from Main to Jordan, except for the purpose of loading and unloading.

"Section 2.—That any person or persons guilty of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be fined $5.00 for each and every offense."

Brevard College Graduates Receive Diplomas June 3rd

Brevard College will end its third year of successful operation with an interesting program of commencement events beginning at 11 a. m., June 2, when Dr. A. W. Plyler delivers the commencement address in the college auditorium. Dr. Plyler is the editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate and a member of the board of trustees.

At 7:30 on the evening of June 2, the Alumni of Brevard Institute, Weaver College, and Brevard College will meet in West Hall dining room for the annual alumni banquet. The Rev. C. M. Picketts, pastor of the Thomasville Methodist church, who is a member of the board of trustees, also president of the Alumni association will act as toast master. All graduates of the three named institutions are urged to be present for the banquet. Alumni who plan to attend should notify the college at once.

Graduation exercises will be held in the college auditorium at 11 a. m., on June 3rd. Dr. John W. Shackford, of Columbia, S. C., will deliver the address. There will be approximately 80 who will receive diplomas.

During the first year Brevard operated on the semester basis and graduated one class. Since that time the quarter system has been used, therefore, including the present class a total number

Citizens' Aid Asked In Making Home Coming Day Here Successful

All people of the county are asked to join in making the annual Home Coming Day at Brevard College next Thursday, a success, and to carry out plans of the local committee in charge, attendance at the annual event will be necessary.

The Women's Civic club of Brevard is sponsoring the home coming day which is a part of the June graduation program, and asks all people of the community to bring a basket lunch to the college to be spread picnic style at the noon hour.

Ladies of the Civic club stress the fact that plenty of food is necessary for the success of the affair, but that attendance by those who are interested in the college is just as essential.

A program of interest has been arranged for the day, including an address before the graduates and visitors by Br. John W. Shackford, of Columbia, S. C., at 11 o'clock and following the luncheon, reunion of Brevard Institute, Weaver, and Brevard College alumni.

Brevard Boys Will Graduate From U. S. Army-Navy Schools

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of Brevard will leave Friday for Annapolis, Md., to attend the graduation exercises of their son, J. D. Miller, at the U. S. Naval Academy.

From there Mr. and Mrs. Miller will go to West Point, to see their older son, J. A. Miller, Jr., graduate at the U. S. Military Academy.

The Miller boys are the only brothers in the two service schools to graduate the same year. Jack entered the Naval Academy from the Navy, and made a good record in his scholastic work as well as in athletics. He was substitute center on the first string football squad in 1935, and regular center on the team last year. He was the only sixty-inch player in the Army-Navy game. He is a member of the lacrosse team and will play Saturday in the Army-Navy game.

Fred Miller was appointed to the Military Academy by Congressman Zebulon V. Weaver. He expects to spend his furlough as a counselor at Camp Transylvania near Brevard, and will enter the Army Aviation school at Randolph Field, Texas, in September.

Jack leaves early in June for the west coast where he will join his ship, the U. S. S. Portland, for Alaska.

Both boys were honor students at Brevard high school, and were the first two Brevard boys Scouts to attain the honor of Eagle Scout.

New Paint Added By Two Brevard Firms

Ivory paint on the front, with laid paper inside has added an inviting air to Long's Drug Store on the square. Dr. Long is one of several who have recently improved their places of business with a freshening up process.

Charlie Gibbs' Standard station used the universally popular white for the front of his place, touching up the effect with a shade of gray.

Stroup on Canton Force

ROSMAN, May 26.—Chief of Police W. N. Stroup resigned last week to take over duties as a member of the Canton police force. Chief Stroup has served several years as policeman here, and has made an excellent officer.

Coy Fisher has been appointed as temporary chief by the board of aldermen.

Prominent Officials To Attend W. O. W. Meeting In Brevard

Members of the Brevard and Rosman Camps and Groves will be joint hosts to the two hundred or more delegates expected to attend from twenty-one western counties.

Two Hundred Delegates Will Be Here Thursday for Convention

Members of the Woodmen of the World and Woodmen Circle from the western Carolina district are expected to gather in Brevard Thursday (today) 200 strong for the annual Log Rolling Association which will meet in the county court house.

The program will begin at 10 o'clock with the Rev. Frank L. Leatherwood, of Waynesville, president, in charge.

Following the invocation by the Rev. J. H. Brendall, pastor of Brevard Methodist church, the welcome address will be given by Mayor A. H. Harris. Response will be made by L. C. Davis; and the welcome on behalf of the Rosman and Brevard camps and groves will be given by A. B. Galloway of Brevard, district manager.

Brevard Pool Opens During Coming Week

Plans are to open the Brevard swimming pool sometime next week, date to be announced later.

Coch Ernest Tilson who will have charge of the pool again this year, said that the building and grounds were being gone over, and that the pool was being thoroughly cleaned and made perfectly sanitary.

Work on the grounds and in the building is being done by workers under Mrs. Arah Hamlin, who will also carry on a recreation program at the park this summer.

Annual Outing Will Be Observed Sunday

The Pisgah Forest Baptist Sunday school will hold its annual picnic Sunday at White Pine camp in Pisgah National Forest.

All members of the school plan to attend the picnic, with cars and trucks to leave the church at 9:30. Basket lunches will be carried, and following the joint class meeting and Sunday school lesson, the dinner will be spread picnic style.

Arrangements for the annual event are in charge of D. H. Orr, superintendent, and other leaders in the church.

Helen Galloway Wins Top Place In Essay Contest For Carolina

Miss Helen Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Galloway, is the winner of the state essay contest sponsored by the International Business Machine Corporation, of New York. The title of her essay was "Today's Need For Thoughtful Effort."

As the winner for North Carolina, Miss Galloway will receive a wrist watch valued at $50 and her paper will be entered in the national contest sponsored by the same company.

This essay contest was open to all high school seniors. Miss Galloway was graduated from Brevard high school this year and has taken a very active part in school activities including writing for the high school news section of The Transylvania Times.

Ministerial Traffic Jam

A traffic jam occurred last Friday afternoon on the square, when two courteous drivers each stopped to let the "other fellow" have right-of-way. Driver No. 1 heading west was the Rev. J. H. Brendall, pastor of the Brevard Methodist church; No. 2 was the Rev. Y. C. Elliott, pastor of the Brevard Baptist church. Preacher No. 1 went on his way first and the jam was over.

Dates Announced For Brevard Tonsil Clinic

Tonsil clinics will be held at Lyday Memorial hospital on three days, one week apart instead of for one week, as has been the custom heretofore, according to announcement made following meeting of the board of trustees.

Dates for the three one-day clinics have been set as June 15, 22, and 29.

The clinic is being held for those children whose parents are unable to pay full price for the tonsil operation. Doctors on the hospital staff will give their services free, with charges for the operation and hospital care being held to minimum.

The board requests that children be examined by the family physician before applying to the hospital for this operation, and that arrangements be made with Miss Myrtle Dillard, superintendent, in advance of the clinic days.

African Refugee Is To Become Citizen

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—A story of how his parents were killed by slave traders and he was rescued from the African bush country and brought to the United States by an American missionary was told by John Wamba Dundes Condoia, negro minister of 381 Lyday, who has applied for preliminary naturalization papers.

When he was only three years of age, Arabic tribes killed his parents and took most of his kin into captivity. A Presbyterian missionary, S. P. Verner, of Brevard, N. C., took care of Condoia and when he was 14 years old brought him to New Orleans. Condoia is a native of Luabo, Belgian Congo, Africa.

Arriving here he was sent to Telford Institute at Tuscaloosa, Ala., where he prepared for the Presbyterian ministry. Condoia has lived in Memphis since about 1923, serving as a substitute minister in churches here. His papers were filed by Boyd Harte, deputy clerk in charge of naturalization.

Announcement is made that the Rev. Lawrence Ervin of Balfour, will preach at Cathey's Creek Baptist church, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

LARGE GROUP JOINS BIBLE STUDY CLASS

Revival Services Held Each Evening—Much Interest Being Shown

Two hundred children were enrolled on the opening day Monday of the vacation Bible school at the Baptist church, which is being held in a two weeks' daily session.

Miss Catherine Lois Martin, of Port Worth, Texas, and the Rev. James Wilder, of Raleigh, and the Rev. Yancey C. Elliott, pastor of the local church, are directing the school, assisted by 20 faculty members. The school will continue through Friday morning of next week.

The youth revival, held in connection with the Bible school is in services every night at the church, and is reported to be meeting with splendid response. The revival will continue through Sunday night.

The Rev. Mr. Wilder and Miss Martin are also in charge of the special youth services each night this week. The youth revival is open to all young people, and also a special invitation is extended to all adults to attend during the remainder of the week.

BREVARD MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE WORK GETTING UNDERWAY

Citizens Asked To Pay Their Part Immediately To Carry On Work

Work has been started on the Brevard golf course by the town, and it is expected that the course will be open for play by June 6.

The property has been secured by the town through a trade of some realty holdings here, and cost of getting the course in shape is being borne by business people and citizens of the community.

Boarding houses, hotels, business people, and individuals who are interested in bringing tourists to this section were contacted several weeks ago by a committee from the Kiwanis club, and the committee was assured of the full co-operation of the community. Some of the people have already subscribed and paid in their cash donations for work on the course and others are asked to make payment at once in order that the work may continue.

The course will be operated as a municipal undertaking after it is put in shape, and effort is being made now to secure additional construction and repair work through the Works Progress Administration, which will materially aid in keeping the cost of operation down to a minimum for the town. WPA funds could not be secured heretofore due to the fact that the property was privately owned.

Rolling of fairways, drainage, hedging, and other repairs are now being made, and it is expected that slight changes will be made in the playing course this summer, with additional greens and fairways to be added, making the course 11 or 18 holes.

Number one tee will be changed from the old club house position to the lower eastern end of the fairway. Walkways will be built from number one green to the new tee and parking space will be provided in another place, with numbers on the holes to be changed to fit.

The course was built several years ago by citizens at a cost in excess of $30,000, and acquisition of the property in its entirety by the town was made possible through co-operation of the holders.

It is pointed out that the town cannot possibly take care of expense of putting the course in shape at this time, and people here are requested to make their pledged payments at once. Others are also reminded that the project is strictly a community affair, and that success of the tourist business in the county depends to great extent on the success of the golf course.

Davidson River Bible School Enrolls Sixty
