PISGAH CHURCH HELD SERVICES IN FOREST

Annual Outing Of Baptists—Excellent Camp Site Cared For By CCC

Young and old, ranging from seven months to 70 years were in attendance at the annual outing of the Pisgah Forest Baptist Sunday school held at White Pine camp last Sunday.

Between 75 and 100 members and visitors attended the session which began at 10 o'clock and ended after each one had eaten plenty, and an extra piece of pie and cake, just to show that the food was all that it should be, plus.

The school was transported from the church to the beautiful picnic grounds in cars and trucks belonging to officers and friends of the Sunday school, and while things were being gotten together, the little fellows went wading in the creek (Davidson River, it is called though just a creek up there) and walked about the very neat and clean grounds that are so well kept by the CCC boys in attendance.

Tables and seats were placed together, and regular Sunday school hour was observed. D. H. Orr, superintendent, presided; singing by the congregation; reading of the lesson and remarks by C. E. Campbell; prayer by the Rev. F. H. Holden, and a short talk by C. M. Douglas concluded the program.

Then it was that the really enjoyable action took place. Ham (boiled and fried), eggs this way and that, sandwiches of all kinds, pork, beef, pickles, tomatoes, and pies and cake galore. It was a delicious dinner, and the hungry youngsters (old folk not to be discounted) went at the food with a zest for showing the cooks that there were no hard feelings at all. There was plenty stowed away in the style that picnickers can do best, and still plenty left.

Following the dinner, pictures of the officers, and several groups were taken by Wm. C. Austin, Brevard photographer. One of the pictures was of special interest, in that the four in the group represented four generations—J. H. Parker, his daughter, Mrs. Bells Corro, granddaughter Mrs. Claude Stepp, and grandson, Charles Stepp—ranging in age from 3 to 70 years.

Mecklenburg County Goes In Dry Column

Regarded as the barometer for the western counties, Mecklenburg voted against state controlled liquor stores in a hard-fought election Tuesday.

The unofficial vote in Mecklenburg Tuesday night gave the anti-store forces nearly a thousand majority, which was believed to be sufficient to withstand the final count out.

Washington and Wayne counties in the east joined with 18 other counties in that section in voting for the stores.

The request is made that parents of children expecting to take advantage of the clinic make arrangements beforehand with Miss Myrtle Dillard, superintendent of the hospital.

Frady Inquest Again Postponed By Request

Inquest in the matter of Benny Lee Frady, which was scheduled to have been held last Friday night, was postponed at request of counsel for the Frady family.

Coroner John Kilpatrick said Friday that he expected to complete the investigation as soon as the counsel said that they were ready for completion of the hearing.

The 16-year-old boy died on the morning of April 24, at Lyday Memorial hospital in Brevard where he was brought by C. A. Ragland, Jr., after he had been run over by an automobile driven by Harry Pickelsimer of Brevard.

The young lad was said to be lying in the highway near Penrose at about 2 o'clock in the morning when the car ran over his body. Investigation by officers, and examination by physicians led to the belief that more than one car had passed over the body. Officers do not blame Mr. Pickelsimer in the affair.

Alvin Moore to Teach Music at Brevard High

Professor Alvin Moore will again head the music department of the Brevard schools.

This department has made steady growth since he took charge of it. Last year 42 pupils took music, including 15 boys and 27 girls. This is rather an unusually large percentage of boys and is evidence of Mr. Moore's popularity. He has already sent out several outstanding students.

A. M. White, Jr., is now a member of the junior class at Furman University and is meeting his expenses there by teaching music. Miss Jane Alexander, a senior at Brevard College is paying most of her expenses by assisting in the music department. She has already been engaged to assist in music for the pre-camp season at Camp Transylvania. Miss Rhueanna Beddingfield won a scholarship at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She is now teaching music in a private home.

As an additional service, Mr. Moore assists in the general assembly music at both the high school and the elementary school. He is called on frequently by the churches and clubs in Brevard, and is also identified with those interested in music at Asheville.

Professor Moore had his training at the Utica Conservatory of Music under Dr. Stankowitch. Mr. Moore is not only a good musician but an all-around good fellow, popular with all who know him.

Suggests NYA Reach Younger Age Students

Editor, The Times: I wish the NYA would get a heart and give country boys and girls under 16 a break. There are some in nearly every school between 14 and 16 who can and do work and whose help in their schools would make a big difference to the schools and themselves and families. If this short comment should start something, I shall be glad to try to justify this suggestion at more length, but I hope others will take up the cudgels. S. P. VERNER, Brevard.

Miss Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Galloway, has already received a $50 gold wrist watch as first prize for the essay she wrote on "The Need for Thoughtful Effort." The Brevard girl's paper was adjudged best of all those submitted from North Carolina high schools.

Welch Galloway Dies From Stroke Paralysis

Welch Galloway, 65, prominent attorney of Asheville, and formerly of Brevard, died early Monday morning in an Asheville hospital, following a stroke of paralysis suffered Sunday morning while teaching a Sunday school class at Acton Methodist church, in the Candler section. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Methodist church in Asheville, with burial in Shaw's Creek cemetery, in Henderson county.

Mr. Galloway, who moved to Asheville with his family a number of years ago from Brevard, was spending the week-end with friends near Acton, and was guest teacher of the Sunday school there. He collapsed while speaking and was brought to an Asheville hospital, where he died the following morning. He had apparently been in his usual good health until the time of his stroke.

A native of Transylvania county, Mr. Galloway opened law offices in Asheville in 1926. For a number of years he served as division counsel for the Southern railway at Brevard, and was a member of the State legislature from Transylvania county in 1923. He was prominent in church and Sunday school work in Asheville and while living in Brevard.

Mr. Galloway is survived by his widow, one son, Lamar Galloway, of Asheville, one daughter, Mrs. R. B. Overton, of Canton, one granddaughter, a sister, Mrs. Martha Chapman, of Lake Toxaway, and three brothers, A. B. and V. H. Galloway of Brevard, and Flem Galloway, of Horse Shoe.

Carr, Whitmire, and Mrs. Verner Will Supervise Social Security

F. Brown Carr, of Pisgah Forest, Gaston Whitmire, of Cherryfield, and Mrs. Hattie B. Verner, of Brevard, have been named as members of the Transylvania county welfare board to supervise operations under the Social Security Act.

Mr. Whitmire was named last month by the board of county commissioners for a term of two years on the board; Mr. Carr was appointed by the state for a one-year term, and Mrs. Verner was named by the first two members at their initial meeting held Tuesday morning.

First official duties of the newly constituted board will be to elect a county welfare supervisor, who is charged with the work of administration under the Social Security Act. This officer will be named at a joint meeting of the welfare board and the county commissioners to be held next Monday.

The Welfare board and the County commissioners will act in an advisory capacity at all times to the welfare supervisor, and payments of social security funds will be made after they have been approved by the supervisor and the board.

While the board of county commissioners will levy for the one-fourth of the cost of the Social Security benefits, it is very likely that it will be several months before payments to any individuals in this county can be made. County Accountant Ralph Lyday said Tuesday, inasmuch as funds will have to be secured from the 1937 tax levy before they are paid out. The state and federal portion of the benefits do not become available until the county is able to take care of its share.

While original plans were to pay up to $30 per month to old people, and up to $18 per month for children, Mr. Lyday said that he had received official notice from the state that first payments would be only $12.20 per month for old people, and $5.65 per month for children's aid. Of this amount the county will be required to pay one-fourth, or $3.05 for the aged, and $1.41 for children.

As soon as the supervisor is selected, applications for the assistance may be filed, and payments will begin to those

RALEIGH, June 2.—Estimates compiled by the North Carolina Board of Charities and Public Welfare, indicate that approximately 142 residents of Transylvania county will be eligible for aid under two provisions of the state's Social Security program, which becomes effective on July 1.

A tentative survey shows that in Transylvania county 75 persons beyond the age of 65 years, and 67 dependent children under 16 are entitled to receive benefits enumerated in the legislation adopted by the 1937 General Assembly.

Persons desiring assistance must apply to the Transylvania County Board of Welfare, where they will be granted interviews and allowed to file written applications if their cases are considered worthy.

Applications for all phases of assistance must show that they do not have sufficient income or other resources to provide a reasonable subsistence "compatible with decency and health."

Those applying for Old Age Assistance must show that they are more than 65 years of age; that they are not financially able to care for themselves properly; that they are citizens of the United States; that they have lived in North Carolina for five of the last nine years; that they are not inmates of any public institution, and that they have not made a transfer or assignment of property "for the purpose of making themselves eligible for assistance."
