

CLEMSON THEATRE TO GIVE FREE SHOW

Children of County Will Be Guests of Clements On Christmas Morning

All children of the community are invited by the Clements to be guests Christmas morning of the Clemson Theatre at a free show.

The show, which begins at 10 o'clock, is an annual affair, and is attended each Christmas day by hundreds (literally hundreds) of children from all sections of the community—many of whom probably never have a chance to see a picture show except on Christmas day when Verno P. Clement and his father are their hosts.

Seats are provided for all the youngsters who come, and sometimes when older youngsters (those 16 or more) attend, they are courteously requested to give their seats to the tiny tots, for whom the show is given.

This year the show will be "Hell Divers" with Wallace Bery as star player. The story is woven around the United States submarine fleet, and depicts the life of the boys who go down in and under the deep to ward off attack on American coasts.

Doors to the theatre will open at 9:45, it is announced, with the show to start promptly at 10 o'clock.

WILL SPEND 51st CHRISTMAS TOGETHER

Saturday will mark the fifty-first Christmas Day that W. H. (Bill) and Mrs. (Hannah Tinsley) Hogsed have spent together. Likewise, it will be the fifty-first Christmas celebration that F. P. (Pierce) and Mrs. (Emma Hogsed) Tinsley have celebrated together.

Brother and sister married brother and sister a little more than fifty years ago, when Young Bill Hogsed came down to what is now the Country Club section to claim his bride from the fire-side of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tinsley. The Hogseeds were married on November 23, 1887, and a few days later—on December 8, 1887, Young Pierce Tinsley went up on See-Off Mountain to the home of Sam Hogsed to marry their daughter.

The double brother-in-law and their double sister-in-law have been feeling "sort of close" to each other for years—dating back to the time when Young Bill went a-calling on Young Pierce's fair sister, and Pierce was probably meeting Bill on the road as he climbed up the mountain to see Bill's charming sister.

Bill and Hannah were married at the Hogsed home, with Fidelia Neill, justice of the peace, performing the ceremony. Judge Neill must have done very well, and pleasing in the eyes of the other young couple, for when they decided on the date of their marriage, 15 days later, Pierce and Emma also had Mr. Neill tie the knot that has held them together for fifty years.

The two young couples lived on See-Off for some time, until Mr. Tinsley bought a place near Dunn's Rock church, and moved with his bride to their very own home. It was good land that the Tinsleys had bought, and really more than they needed for themselves, so part of the farm was sold to the Hogseeds, and the two young couples were then (and still are) adjoining landowners.

Both couples joined the Dunn's Rock Baptist church, and both have been active in its support since. They live as kinsfolk, as neighbors, brother, and sisters in the church, and two weeks ago celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversaries together.

Mr. Hogsed is now 71 years of age, while Mrs. Hogsed is 69. Mr. Tinsley is also 71 years of age, and Mrs. Tinsley is 69. Incidentally, both couples read The Transylvania Times, and their subscriptions are each paid to the exact date, May 1, 1938.

The pictures carried in the paper above were snapped by Mrs. Porter Tinsley, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Tinsley.

Two Young Brevard Men Charged With Robbing P. Allison

Allison is in an Asheville hospital, where his condition Wednesday was reported to be serious. Hearing for the two men charged with the crime will not be held until Monday, Sheriff George Shuford said, pending outcome of Mr. Allison's condition.
