The Rosman Grange held an open meeting with members and invited guests Thursday evening, December 16th. After a short business meeting a social hour was held in the Home Economics department of Rosman school building.

The lady members of the Grange served a delightful chicken supper with all the accessories.

Special accordion music by Mrs. Joe E. Osborne, and group singing of Christmas carols by members were greatly enjoyed.

There were 42 people present. The object of the open meeting and supper was to encourage others to join the Grange.

FRENCH CLASS GIVES CHAPEL PROGRAM

The second year French class, under the supervision of Miss Lenore Swain, gave a program in chapel Thursday morning, December 16, commemorating the French Christmas.

The program consisted of the following: Song, by school; Bible reading, Harold Hogsed; The Lord's Prayer in French, Lucille Galloway; Minut Christi-an, French class; Il Est Ne, French class; Story of French Christmas, Ruby Glaszner; Song, "Silent Night," French class; song, "Jingle Bells," school.

The stage was beautifully decorated, the main feature being a miniature reproduction of the birth of Christ.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Funny, but the juniors have finally got a chance at this dizzy column! so here goes.

Strange how much attention the seniors pay to the juniors nowadays. Couldn't be because juniors elect superlatives, could it?

Say did Charles W. get a fall when his seat suddenly fell in study hall? Wonder what was bearing on his mind, so as to make him fall hard.

Short story—Every one wonders why Lucille G's love for Fred L. has failed! Don't ask me but go to Gladys C.

Can anyone guess why Mr. Thomas hesitates to give an algebra test when Lucy H. is absent? Well, in chemistry I guess it would be Thomas' law.

Volley was volley ball Thursday, and everything was going smooth until Mr. Thomas met with an accident and retreated to Home Ec for repairs.

Carolyn G. and Welda R. should be scheduled to a duel soon. They have such lovely horns.

Tut! Tut! I didn't know gum drops grew on crab apple trees, until I visited the Home Ec room. Must be the climate.

Wonder why Miss Swain moved juniors around in French class? I can't believe she don't trust them.

Fable—Once upon a time every one

Unemployment Fees To Be Paid After January 1

RALEIGH, Dec. 1.—Mass separation from work, or the loss of jobs for any large groups of workers in North Carolina during the last month or two of this year, will be the first concern of the N. C. Unemployment Compensation Commission. Chairman Charles G. Powell announced today.

Blanks to be filled out by the employers and sent to the commission, furnishing information as to the time of layoff, employee's name and Social Security number and other pertinent information, are being prepared and are expected to be in the hands of all employers laying off sizable groups of workers, by the middle of December. These blanks will be sent back to the local Employment Service offices and when the workers register after January 1, 1938, will be the claims for unemployment compensation, when signed by the unemployed workers. Separate blanks will be filled out for total unemployment for those laid off entirely, and for those who are kept at work on part time. Workers will be entitled either to total or partial compensation.

Meanwhile, Mr. Powell points out, all workers who are now unemployed or who may become unemployed before January 1, are advised to register for work at the nearest Employment Service office. If they are still unemployed on January 2, then on that day they should re-register and sign the separation report as a claim for benefits.

Employers are asked to file an individual separation report for each worker laid off, and a summary report showing the number laid off on a given date, and to repeat this kind of operation for each group that may be laid off.

Both the Unemployment Compensation Division, headed by E. W. Price, and the Employment Service Division, headed by R. Wayne Albright, are making extensive preparations for being ready to handle all claims for compensation as they fall due after January 1. The unemployed eligible worker is required to file the claim on January 2, if unemployed prior to that date; report weekly to the employment office for available suitable work, and if still unemployed, is due benefits for the third week of unemployment after January 2. The benefits for such workers are to be paid one week after the third week of unemployment ends.

DECEMBER P.T.A. MEETING

The children of the intermediate grades, under the direction of their teacher Mrs. Frank Osborne, had charge of the program for the December meeting of the P.T.A. Every child in the room had some part on the program. The story of the first Christmas was told in song, story and verse. Three wise men led the search for the Christ Child.

Mrs. E. H. Mackey, local P.T.A. president was in the chair and routine business was transacted. Arrangements were made to furnish dishes for the school lunch room which the local P.T.A. has been largely responsible for securing. Arrangements were also made to sell the Red Cross Christmas seals the local chapter had been asked to sell.

After a pleasant social half hour, during which the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Hal Hart and Mrs. G. C. McCall served refreshments, the meeting adjourned to meet the second Monday in January.

THE LITTLE RIVER LUNCH ROOM

The Little River lunch room opened Monday. This is meeting a long felt need among our students. Every day lunch is served to between fifty and fifty-five students. We are fortunate in having for our supervisor Mrs. C. H. Merrill, who is most efficient. She has with her two excellent helpers, Misses Alconia Capps, and Christine Fisher.

The P.T.A. is cooperating in planning to serve a regular Christmas dinner Tuesday, December 21.

Congress Votes Relief To Congressmen

WASHINGTON—Swarms of Model T politicians and obsolete economic rescue workers from the Congressional lighthouse on Capitol Hill have been rushing frantically up and down the storm-swept strand, each madly bent upon violent rescue against something. For four precious weeks Congress has viewed with alarm the flotsam and jetsam cast up from business and agricultural shipwrecks, but has done nothing about it—except to exclaim loudly and beat political tom-toms around partisan camp-fires, to roll with doleful cadence their campaign drums along the Mohawk, the Monogahela and the Mississippi, and bait the 1938 trails with political laudanum—while in the economic balance, unattended, hang consequential but unfinished jobs involving men and destiny—and bread.

But at long last they killed a bear—or brought home the bacon—or what have you! On second glance, however, it appears they bagged and brought in old Santa Claus. The boys in Congress, growing weary of talk minus action seized matters by force and greedily agreed to agree on at least one point—and agree they did. Rising in their majesty, dignity and power they passed an appropriation whereby Congress paid Congressmen and Senators $222,000—a cash bonus right into their very own pockets—the first "major" act of the special session. Congress calls it mileage—but others, like the Greeks, have a name for it, and unblushingly call it pillage.

Yes, in this, Congress was able to see through a single knot hole—while from Eastport to El Paso, and all over, farmers, tollers and business men are suffering . . . with conditions getting no better fast.

It's a whole lot cheaper to grow your own workstock than to buy it . . . if you have a good stallion or can get the services of a neighbor's stallion, and if you have plenty of good pasture.

C. W. in the homeland,
With angels bright and fair,
There is no sin in the homeland,
And no temptation there.
When I think of the homeland
My eyes are filled with tears.
Little C. W. in the homeland,
Beckoning me to come.
Where neither death nor sorrow
Enters their holy land.
O dear, dear C. W.,
O rest and peace above,
Christ, brings us all to the homeland,
With thy redeeming love.

AT THE CLEMSON THEATRE

Zane Grey's "Born to the West," starring John Wayne and Marsha Hunt, is the picture at Clemson theatre for Friday and Saturday. There's plenty of comedy, romance, thrills and action in this fast-moving western.

"I'll Take Romance," with Grace Moore and Melvyn Douglas, will be shown on Monday and Tuesday. Grace is at her grandest in this outstanding comedy, a rollicking frolic, a swing-time romance, as her golden voice does thrilling things to her new sweethearts.

"She's Got Everything," with Gene Raymond and Ann Southern, will appear on the screen Wednesday and Thursday, December 29 and 30. It's a laughing, rollicking comedy.
