EDITORIAL

Transylvania people will work if given the opportunity. This was clearly proven Monday morning when over three hundred men from all sections of the county braved a steady downpour of rain and were at the Ecusta Paper Corporation plant site, at Pisgah Forest before seven o'clock, wanting to go to work, on the job, at any sort of work there was to be had.

With no office facilities, it was impossible to take applications in the open field and the men were told to return later when a temporary office had been established.

It was a disappointment to the men, some of whom had come from fifteen and twenty miles distance, but the rain refused to stop its downpour, and no work of any nature could be started.

However, the fact was clearly proven that Transylvania people do want to work, and that they will take heavy jobs that construction work calls for if they are given a chance.

Some there are, who would have one believe that our people are indolent, and do not want jobs that call for hard labor—but such is not the case, and this newspaper is happy that the fact has been clearly shown to the new plant people, and to the county itself that Transylvania folks are not lazy.

College Gymnasium Building To Be Started Here June Thirteenth

Work will start on the Brevard College gymnasium on June 13, it was announced Tuesday night by President E. J. Coltrane at the annual alumni banquet.

The building will be of brick veneer style, 84x80 feet, and is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by the first of 1939.

The new gymnasium will be erected on East French Broad street, just below the end of the athletic field which was constructed recently.

President Coltrane said Wednesday that plans were being worked out, and that sufficient money was now on hand to start the work, and that he was going ahead with the project "on faith," believing that he would be able to continue the structure through assistance of friends of the college.

Ample room will be provided in the structure, Mr. Coltrane said, for two basketball courts, which would enable the college to provide intra-mural athletics, which is a part of the schedule of the coming year.

A broader athletic program is being planned, the President said at the banquet Tuesday evening, and physical culture in a broader sense will be stressed in the college. The gymnasium is a necessary part of this program, he said, and it was a building that must be constructed, and one that would be.

Student labor, for the most part, will be used on the structure, Mr. Coltrane said with some work probably being done by outside help.
