Jurisdiction of Town Officers Restricted To Area In Brevard Limits

Repeal of the 1935 public-local measure giving Brevard police officers jurisdiction one mile beyond the town limits was completed last Thursday in the legislature.

The senate passed the repeal measure introduced in the house by Representative Pat Kimzey, without dissenting vote, and the law is now repealed insofar as the police going outside the town limits, except on the town-operated golf course, which was left as it formerly stood.

Local opposition to the repeal measure did not go to Raleigh for a hearing before the committee, although the matter was taken up with Senator Chester A. Cogburn.

Under the act as passed in 1935, Brevard policemen had jurisdiction for one mile beyond the town limits for patrolling and making arrests. The act is now repealed under the bill introduced and passed by Representative Kimzey, and policemen of the town will in effect, "stay in their own back yard."

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Orr Sunday

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the residence on E. Main street for Mrs. Rowena Orr, 53, who died early Friday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, in Florence, S. C. Death was due to heart trouble, of which Mrs. Orr had been a sufferer for several months. The Rev. Harry Perry, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church officiated at the service. Interment was in Gillespie cemetery.

Mrs. Orr was a member of a prominent Transylvania county family, the daughter of the late Will Cooper. Her husband, C. E. Orr, who died in 1929, served as postmaster at Brevard for nine years under President Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft. He was also connected officially with the state highway commission and with the Taxaway company.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. H. C. Harrison, of Alfred, N. Y., two sons, Rufus, of Brevard, and Edmond, of Wilmington. Two sisters and one brother also survive, Mrs. C. M. Cooke and Mrs. Josephine DeVane, of Florence, S. C., and Rufus Cooper, of Statesville.

Pallbearers were Ernest Webb, Carl McCrary, Frank Duckworth, A. O. Kitchen, Sam Allison and C. C. Youngue.

In charge of flowers were Roba Kitchen, Mrs. Ashe Macfie, Roberta Bryant, Mrs. John Hudson, Elizabeth McCoy, Mrs. Ed Cantrell, Willie Kate Waters.

Moore and Trantham funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Visiting Rector Will Speak Sunday Morn

Celebration of the Holy Communion will be observed at St. Philip's Episcopal church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Herbert Cary-Elwes, vicar of Saluda, announcement has been made by the rector, the Rev. Harry Perry.

Special services will continue at the church through lent, each Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and each Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SHOP AND STORAGE HOUSE IS STARTED

NYA Building at Brevard To Serve Youths and High School Purpose

Work was started Monday on a work shop for NYA boys at Brevard high school, and a storage warehouse for the school.

The building will be 30 feet by 80 feet, and will be fitted to provide workshop space for the NYA boys, and for conducting classes in wood-working and general farm utility structures.

Power machinery has been provided for the shop by the state National Youth Administration, in recognition of the outstanding work that has been done here in the work.

Flooring, ceiling and weatherboarding, as well as much of the framing for the building were salvaged from the Balsam Grove CCC camp, and shingles for the structure are being cut by NYA boys.

Flave H. Holden, supervisor, is in charge of the work. The building is to be located just east of school garage.

Demonstration In Hog Feeding Started Here

J. A. Glazener, County Agent

E. Carl Allison of the Cherryfield section started a hog feeding demonstration this week with 30 nice shoats. All the shoats were given a worm treatment before placing them on the three-acre pasture, corn and supplement feed.

Mr. Allison is keeping a complete cost record of the demonstration as he is anxious to see what his corn value will be as the result of feeding it to hogs.

Brevard Institute Group Will Conduct Meeting In Asheville

Annual meeting of the Women's Missionary council of the Methodist church will be held at Central Methodist church in Asheville, March 8 to 13. This council was the governing body under which the former Brevard Institute operated.

Delegates from 22 southern states and eight foreign countries will be in attendance during the five-day session, and a daily attendance of more than 1,000 persons is expected.

This year's convention of the council promises to be one of the most important in its 29-year-old history, since it will be the last session before formal unification of all branches of the Methodist church into one Methodist church, which merger will take place in Kansas City in April. A significant fact in connection with this final session is that the first session of the council 29 years ago was held also in Asheville.

Noted churchmen, bishops and returned missionaries will appear on the program. The conference will open Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, and day and evening sessions will follow during the five-day period.

BREVARD PASTORS ARE INVITED TO CCC CAMPS

At the instigation of Captain Strubling, Chaplain U. S. Army reserve, various pastors of this community have been invited to come out to Camp F-28 at John Rock in the Pisgah Forest, and conduct religious services for the enrollees, on Friday nights.

The inspirational programs will be a great asset to the Camp program and will mean much, the officers state, to these boys who in most instances are far from their home communities. The Rev. Yancey C. Elliott, local Baptist minister, conducted services at the camp last Friday.

Cancer Control Drive Here By Ladies Club

A cancer campaign will be started in Brevard and Transylvania county in April, sponsored by the Fortnightly club, in cooperation with the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

April has been set aside by special act of congress as Cancer control month throughout the country, and an enlistment campaign will be made, inviting support of every man and woman.

The enrollment fee is one dollar, of which thirty cents is used by the American Society in its educational program to make people cancer-conscious, and seventy cents is returned to the state.

The campaign slogan "Early cancer is curable—fight it with knowledge," will be launched for the educational build-up for enlistment month.

Ecusta President Pleased With Progress Being Made At Cigarette Paper Plant

President Harry H. Straus of Ecusta Paper Corporation was here Monday and said that he was pleased with the progress being made at the new cigarette paper plant at Pisgah Forest.

Mr. Straus expects to be here for sometime, he said, and also stated that he expects to make Brevard his home in the near future.

"I am looking for a place for myself and family," the president of the big corporation said, "and I am also concerned about places for the people who are now moving in, and the others who are to be brought here to help operate the plant."

There will be need for a number of new houses, and possibly apartments, Mr. Straus intimated in a brief conversation with The Times editor, and plans will be discussed within the next few days for taking care of the influx of people to the community.

Temporarily, Mr. Straus is stopping in Asheville, where he will be joined next week by his family for a visit of several days.

"I am now what your paper calls 'mountain man,' the genial manufacturer said, "and I like it . . . this is soon to be home for me and I know that I shall like it very much."

Mrs. Roy Smith Winner Of First Week Big Egg Contest

An egg weighing three and five-eighths ounces was heavy enough to win the cash prize of one dollar in The Times Big Egg contest last week.

Mrs. Roy Smith of Brevard brought the egg in, and thought it was pretty light, but she was willing to take a chance, and her chance was good . . . or rather the chance egg her Rhode Island Red hen laid was good enough to win a new dollar bill.

Mrs. D. R. Bryson of the Keystone section, and Otis Moore of Balsam Grove brought in entries that were only a fraction lighter than the one brought in by Mrs. Smith.

Other entries included eggs sent in by Mrs. F. Bagwell of Brevard; James Holden of Brevard; and Mrs. U. G. Gillespie of Brevard R-1.

The contest will be continued for four more weeks, with a dollar prize being given each week for the heaviest egg. There is no way of telling who will be winner until the eggs are placed on accurate scales and weighed.

Incidentally, none of the eggs are wasted—the editor bought a ham from T. C. Hamilton down at Little River last week, and the ham, a refrigerator, a hot stove, and a good appetite, all combine to see that all the eggs go to a good cause.

College Students To Attend Charlotte Meet

The Brevard college Forensics club will participate in the North Carolina Junior College Debating conference to be held in Charlotte, March 3-4.

Members of the club will indulge in extemporaneous and after-dinner speaking, dramatic reading, oratory, and debating for both men and women.

Rev. and Mrs. Earl D. C. Brewer will accompany the group to the conference.

Rev. Earl D. C. Brewer, director of the department of Promotion and Extension, is speaking at Paine college, Augusta, Ga., this week.

President Peters of Paine college requested that Mr. Brewer be released from his obligations for these special services during "Religious Emphasis Week."

Mr. Brewer taught a course in "Relational Leadership" in the school for Christian Workers at the First Methodist church. Internment was made in Gillespie cemetery.

Pallbearers were David, Channon, Harry, and Earl Ashworth, Clyde Shuford, and George Crane, all grandsons of the deceased Osborne-Simpson had charge of arrangements.

Surviving are five daughters and three sons—Miss Reba and Miss Louise Ashworth of Brevard; Mrs. G. H. Paxton and Mrs. George D. Shuford of Brevard; Mrs. R. E. Williams of San Francisco, Calif.; Clyde, John and Charles D. Ashworth all of Brevard. The husband died several years ago.

In addition to the surviving children, two sisters, Mrs. Mary Crane of Greenville, and Mrs. Lizzie Crawford of Piedmont, also survive, and the following brothers: Perry Orr, Pisgah Forest; Columbus, Vonley, and Sylvester Orr of Penrose; and J. H. Orr of Hartsville, S. C.

The study course began Monday night and will conclude Friday night with a banquet supper at the church at 7:30 o'clock, at which time the Rev. W. E. Wall, of the First Baptist church of Hendersonville, will be the principal speaker.

Regular meeting of the Little Theatre will be held Friday evening of this week at 8 o'clock, announcement has been made by the president, Mrs. John Verner. The meeting will be held in the city hall building.

Reassembly for announcements will be made at 8:45 o'clock.

J. A. Glazener, County Agent

E. Carl Allison of the Cherryfield section started a hog feeding demonstration this week with 30 nice shoats. All the shoats were given a worm treatment before placing them on the three-acre pasture, corn and supplement feed.

All entries in the corn show are requested to have their corn placed not later than 11 o'clock Saturday morning for judging. Only those who entered the contest last spring, are eligible to enter corn for prizes.

S. C. Clapp, of the Farmers Federation, and Assistant County Agent Elam of Madison county will judge the corn, under the following classifications:

Holcombe's prolific, Lance's prolific, white single ear, and yellow corn. Prizes of fertilizer and soda are being offered for winners in the corn show.

At seven o'clock the banquet will be held. The dinner will be prepared and served by girls of the college, and boys under C. S. McCullum will act as escorts for arriving guests.

Julian Glazener of Transylvania, and G. D. White of Henderson will preside at the banquet, with the farmers and boys who entered the growing contest as guests of honor.

Vocational agriculture students and teachers, and 4-H club members are co-operating in the annual event.

Dr. H. T. Hunter, President of West

Coltrane Speaker At Baptist Church Sunday

Dr. E. J. Coltrane, of Brevard College, will deliver the message at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning at the Baptist church, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Yancey C. Elliott, who will leave Saturday for Concord, to take part in a week's city-wide training and evangelistic campaign.

At the evening worship hour at 7:30, the young people will be in charge, with Charles Allen, training union director, as leader. The theme will be, "We Are His Witnesses." Others taking part on the program in three-minute talks will be: Vance Jackson, Evelyn Cauble, Geraldine Hicks, Rachel Hamlin, James Crisp, George Simpson, Jr., Junior Miller, Emma Sue Gray, Beatisie Moore, Lorene Redding and Neil Duckworth. Special music will also be a part of the program.

Family Day Program At Methodist Church

Family Day at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock will conclude the Loyalty Endeavor period which has been in progress at the church the past four Sundays.

Families are asked to sit together, and it is hoped that a number of families will have a 100 percent representation. The pastor, the Rev. E. P. Billups, will have as his sermon subject, "The Home Teaching Religion." Appropriate music will be rendered by the choir.

Last Sunday, observed as Men's Day, was attended by a large audience. The men sitting in a body practically filled one side of the church auditorium.
