Pre-School Clinic To Be Held Here Monday

Information concerning pre-school and other clinics to be held in the local school were given by Mrs. Albert Chance, county health nurse, and Mrs. B. D. Franklin, PTA chairman of pre-school clinics, at the March meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, held Tuesday afternoon in the grammar school building.

Mrs. Chance told of plans being completed for the pre-school clinic for diphtheria and smallpox to be held at the Brevard grammar school building on Monday, March 20. The clinic is for examination of all pre-school children for physical defects, who expect to enter school next fall. She also stated that a tonsil clinic would probably be held in June for underprivileged children, who would be unable to pay the full price for a tonsil operation.

Mrs. Franklin requested for volunteers to help in the clinic Monday, and stated that an eye clinic would also be held in the near future. The PTA voted to provide ice cream for the children of the pre-school clinic on Monday. The parents were urged by both Mrs. Chance and Mrs. Franklin to send their children of pre-school age to the clinic for free examination and treatment.

Mrs. Frank Jenkins, president, was in charge of the routine business of the association. Principal J. E. Ruffy, chairman of the finance committee, reported that an opera for benefit of the PTA will be given by the school children on March 30. Mrs. C. L. Newland, room representative chairman, announced that the Clemson theatre management had offered to donate the prize to the third grade for having the most mothers present at the meeting. The prize award will be a free ticket to the picture at Clemson theatre on March 30 for each child in the third grade.

An enjoyable feature of the program was the rendition of two vocal solos by Mrs. Herbert F. Finck, singing to her own accompaniment, "The Lotus Flower" and "In The Luxembourg Garden."

OFFICE BUILDING AT ECUSTA UNDER WAY

Modern Structure Will Complete
Construction of Cigarette Plant

Work has been started on the office building of the Ecusta Paper Corporation, and will complete the construction job for the new cigarette paper plant.

The building will be a brick and steel structure, with limestone trim, and will be modern throughout.

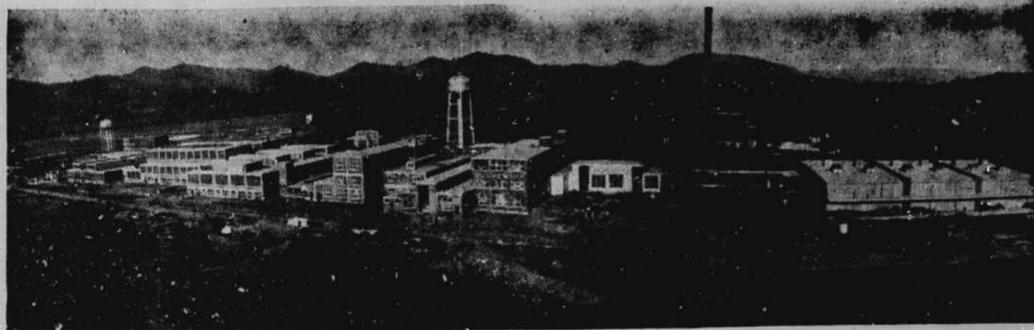

Of two story type, the building is to be 102 feet by 46 feet, and in addition to the two stories above ground, will also have a large basement. Air conditioning is being built into the office, particular attention is being given the lighting.

Harry H. Straus, president of the corporation, said Wednesday that the building would be of latest modern type, designed for comfort and efficiency of workers.

The building is located west of the plant proper, near what is now the gate to the property, and facing Vanderbilt Road. Plans for beautification of the grounds have not been worked out, but will be fitted to the building.

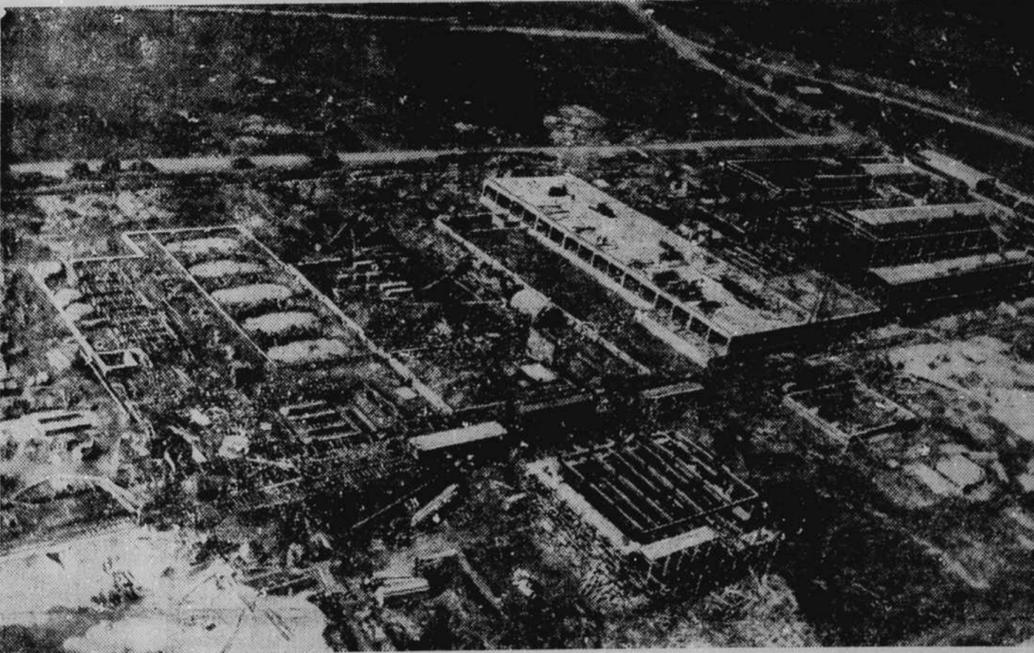

Mr. Straus is here supervising work on the office and other plans. He had as his guest during the week, Ludwig Straus of New York, a brother. On his first visit here, Mr. Ludwig Straus was highly complimentary of the scenery in this community, and told a Times representative that in his opinion the Ecusta plant was located in THE ideal spot.

HIGHWAY 64 WORK STARTED TUESDAY

Reconditioning and Widening of Five-Mile Stretch Completed by June

Work was started Tuesday by road crews under Ernest Webb and T. G. Moody reconditioning the Hendersonville highway from in front of Osborne's Dairy near Pisgah Forest to Beechbrook cottages below Penrose.

Engineer Webb said that the present roadbed would be followed, and the stone now on the road re-crushed and placed back. Black top will be put on the road after completion of the crushing, with expectations of being through with the job before June first of this year.

The new surface will be 18 feet—an addition of two feet over the present roadbed, and when completed the road will be of the same structure as that leading through North Brevard.

Tentative plans called for straightening several curves of the road, but this will be impossible at this time, Mr. Webb said, due to the fact that funds sufficient only to recondition the road are available.

Original survey called for widening and straightening the "S" curve just below Pisgah Forest Postoffice, and relocating the railroad crossing just north of Davidson River bridge, but this will not be included in the present job, it was learned Tuesday.

Traffic will be maintained on the road during construction, Mr. Webb said, and effort will be made to provide as near adequate service as possible. A portable crusher will follow the plows, and the stone will be re-crushed and placed back on the roadbed.

Two blind scientists, A. Parkhomenko and I. Proskuryakov, have been appointed instructors at the state university in Moscow, Russia.

E. O. McCall Wins BIG EGG CONTEST

Entries Will Be Accepted for
Two More Weeks—Many People Interested

E. O. McCall of Brevard R-2 was easy winner in the big egg contest last week, with an egg that looked like it had originally been slated for three eggs, and as ordinary eggs go would make three.

Mr. McCall's entry tipped the scales at five and three-eighths ounces, and was so big around that no one would believe it, so the measurements are not printed.

Only once before since the big egg contest has been in vogue each spring has there been equal to the big egg Mr. McCall brought in, and that was last year when J. R. Wickliffe bought an eight-ounce egg in South Carolina and brought it in.

Mrs. A. E. Tinsley of the Gladly Branch section, was runner-up with her entry that weighed three and seven-eighths ounces. Third place was tied by entries sent in by Mrs. W. F. Short and Mrs. D. El. Culver of Brevard, and H. L. Hunter of Rosman R-1.

C. L. Corn of Pisgah Forest placed fourth with an entry that weighed three and five-eighths ounces. O. S. Moore of Balsam Grove brought in a Plymouth Rock egg that weighed three and one-half ounces.

Other entries during the week which got left in the running were made by S. R. Morgan of Etowah, Bobbie McKelvey of Brevard R-1, James Holden, Jr., of Brevard, Mrs. George McGaha of Pisgah Forest, Mrs. J. W. McCall of Brevard R-2, Mrs. Harvey Laughter of Etowah, R. A. Collins of Rosman, and Mrs. G. D. Walden of Brevard.

Miss Margaret Miller of Brevard ran in a turkey egg, but the "old man" was raised on a farm, and happened to know his turkey and duck eggs from hen-fruit, so Margaret's entry went into the frying pan instead of the contest.

Mrs. J. F. Matney of Statesville, who has a chicken farm, sent in a three and seven-eighths ounce egg, which was not eligible for entry, but also made good eating at breakfast time.

The contest will continue two more weeks, with a dollar being paid each week for the largest egg. No need to wait for a "great big egg" to pop up, as two prior week's winners have been four ounces and under.

Only requirements are that the producer lives in the trading area of Brevard, including Cashiers, Wolf Mountain, Etowah, and Horse Shoe, and that the eggs be sent in before five o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Two New Businesses To Open Here Soon

George Saleeby of Asheville, has signed a lease on the front office part of the Lawrence building next to the post office, and will open a shoe store there within the next few days.

Definite plans for opening have not been announced by Mr. Saleeby, but he expects to be open before the first of the month.

The State Highway office has been moved from the front of the Lawrence building to back rooms of the building below the Western Union on Jordan street.
