

MRS. WHITMIRE IS EGG PRIZE WINNER

Entries Made From All Sections of Transylvania During 5 Weeks

Mrs. W. T. Whitmire of the Enon-Penrose section was winner of the final week's big egg contest, and is possessor of a brand new dollar bill as token of her reward.

Of course Mrs. Whitmire's entry was a White Leghorn egg. She and "T" specialize in leghorns and vow that they are as good or better than the best... anyway, she won a dollar prize for the biggest egg—weight three and seven-eighths ounces.

Mrs. Jesse C. Cash of Oakland, and Mrs. C. H. Parris of Brevard R-2, were second placers with eggs that tipped the scales at three and one-half ounces.

Others who made entries during the week, in order of the weights, were: Mrs. Frances Bryson of Cherryfield; Fred Glazener of Brevard R-2; Mrs. Arthur Orr of Brevard; Mrs. T. S. Smith, Brevard; Mrs. H. G. Sexton, Pisgah Forest; Harold McCrary, Brevard; and Albert Williams of the Camp Carolina community.

The contest closed Saturday afternoon and will not be repeated until next spring.

Many nice eggs were sent in from all sections of the county, and several choice breakfasts were enjoyed by the editor from the "ham and" which the large eggs added to.

Winners during the contest and weight of the eggs they won with have been—Mrs. Roy Smith, Brevard, three and three-eighths ounces; Dock Lusk, Rosman, four ounces; E. O. McCall, Brevard R-2, five and three eighths ounces; Edward Glazener of Brevard, R-2, four ounces.

One dollar has been paid to each of the winners. Plans for next year are to offer two or three prizes each week instead of the one dollar for the heaviest egg each week.

Sessions To Continue
Observers in Raleigh Wednesday morning were of the opinion that the legislature would not adjourn Saturday, due to the fight that was being put up Monday and Tuesday on the election law changes.

Most of the major legislation was out of the way the first of the week, except the election law changes, but this bone of contention is expected to be one material factor in keeping the lawmakers busy into next week.

Four Stills Slashed By Sheriff Last Week

"A still per day keeps moonshine away." Sheriff George Shuford and his deputies did just the above last week, when they made four raids in as many days, and whittled down four illicit whiskey plants.

One plant was taken in the upper end of the county, one in the lower, and two near the center, or to the east-center, according to the sheriff.

One of the plants was a nifty copper outfit that had cost a pretty penny to build and showed expert workmanship. Two of the stills were sheet-iron outfits with copper worms, and one was a steamer contraption.

Seventeen gallons of whiskey were destroyed, along with approximately 1000 gallons of beer on the four places visited.
