CLEAN-UP DRIVE IS MEETING SUCCESS

City Officials Ask Community Cooperation In More Beautiful Place

Cheer-up here Wednesday showed that the town was cooperating exceptionally well with the Clean-Up campaign which was started Monday.

Chief B. H. Freeman said that residents of the two zones covered Tuesday and Wednesday had shown great interest in the movement, and that the town truck had been taxed to pick up all the rubbish and refuse piled out by residents east of Broad street.

Trucks will be in zone three Thursday—west of Broad street and south of Main; zone four Friday—west of Broad and north of Main street.

Residents are asked to make their trash as accessible for the truck as possible, but in cases where it is not possible to pile trash in front of residence on the streets, the truck will go into backyards or other places for it.

The regular trash truck route on Friday of this week will necessarily have to be dispensed with as the crews will be busy in zone four.

Mayor A. H. Harris makes the following statement:

Our city is now entering a period of development and progress and the ultimate success of that development will depend largely upon the cooperation and loyalty of its citizens.

Your City Government and our various civic organizations are doing their very best and lending every reasonable effort to the end that we may have an organized and steady growth along business and cultural lines.

We are at the moment and have been for several days making an honest and energetic effort to clean up, and it is not too late for our citizens young and old to continue to cooperate in this enterprise; as a matter of fact, this cleaning up program should not be a periodic program, but a day to day, week after week business the year around.

Our success in attracting prospective home owners and home builders will be dependent to a large extent on how attractive we who are already here, can make our homes, grounds and places of business, and our general and consistent interest in keeping our streets and thoroughfares free of trash and debris.

Your city government earnestly and sincerely asks your help in making Brevard what it can be, the finest and most progressive little city in North Carolina.

A. H. HARRIS, Mayor.

CONSECRATION OF ST. PHILIPS CHURCH

Episcopal Service Sunday Will Celebrate Freedom of Church from Debt

Free of debt, Brevard's most beautiful church building—St. Philip's Episcopal, will be consecrated Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Rt. Rev. R. E. Gribbin, bishop of the diocese of Western North Carolina, the Rev. Harry Perry, rector, and clergy of the convocation of Asheville will assist in the consecration service.

All active ministers of Brevard have been invited to attend the service, by the rector.

St. Philip's church at Brevard, outgrowth of the St. Paul's in the Valley, was built in 1883, with the Rt. Rev. Theodore B. Lyman, D. D., in charge of laying the corner stone. It was used until Christmas Day, 1925, when it was completely destroyed by fire.

The new St. Philip's, which is being consecrated Sunday, was started in 1926, and first service was in the church proper on Feb. 14, 1928. The Rev. George Floyd Rogers had charge of the opening service.

The church was built of native stone, and cost of the structure was $35,000. Prior to the service in 1928, the rectory had been used as meeting place, and also the Brevard school buildings.

Only three rectors have been at St. Philip's since its beginning in the 30's. The Rev. Chalmers Durand Chapman, of Jersey City, N. J., took charge of the St. Philip's Mission in July, 1896. He served his congregation and the community through September 30, 1917, when he resigned after having served for a little more than 21 years. He remained in Brevard as rector emeritus of the church until his death, which occurred in 1931. The Rev. Mr. Chapman, known and loved by school children of Brevard for his work with them even after the infirmities of age caused him to be a semi-invalid, lived to see the new church finished and used for service.

The Rev. John C. Seagle, now rector of St. John's church, Charleston, S. C., took over active duties of the pastorate following Mr. Chapman's resignation and remained here until 1924. Like his predecessor, Mr. Seagle was a figure loved and respected by everyone.

Height of Mr. Seagle's service to the community came in the flu epidemic during the World War when he aided rich and poor, white and black, with his care, and with his private funds.

The Rev. Harry Perry came to Brevard as rector of St. Philip's in June of 1925, coming here from Christ church, Bay St. Louis, Miss. During his ministrations the new church has been erected, and through sacrifice of members and generosity of friends of the church, the consecration service was made possible.

Relief Ordered Cut Of Farm People In County Refusing Job

In a move to provide more labor for farming interests in the county, the board of commissioners Monday made official request to Mrs. C. Y. Patton, Welfare superintendent, that people offered jobs in private employment be taken from the relief rolls unless the parties accepted the jobs offered.

The commissioners said that they had numerous complaints from farmers over the county to the effect that farm labor could not be hired, and that when jobs were offered people who have been on the relief rolls during the winter that flat refusal to take the work was made.

One of the commissioners said that in his particular community, three tenant farmers had been brought in from South Carolina and Georgia because no one in that section could be secured who would do the work on the three farms nearby.

Mrs. Patton told the commissioners that WPA and relief regulations provide that when a client is offered bona-fide employment and refuses to accept such work, that she is authorized to take such names from the lists for assistance or work on the Works Progress Administration.

Emphasizing the clean-up drive sponsored by the club this week, Charles Schoenknecht, of the Brevard College faculty, had been invited to speak along this line. He gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Brevard the Beautiful," stressing the need of some definite plan to preserve and add to Brevard's natural beauty. He mentioned several projects as a means of promoting community spirit and concerted effort for Brevard's beautification and edification.

Report was made by Mrs. J. W. Smith, chairman of the clean-up drive, that plans of the committee were well underway, and that flower bulbs had been distributed among the cotton-mill residents.

Plans for hospital day were made and committees appointed, which account appears elsewhere in this paper. Business transactions were in charge of the president, Mrs. Oliver Orr.

The following new members were enrolled in the club: Mrs. Mary Scott, Mrs. C. J. Paris, Mrs. H. R. Bobst, Mrs. Lee M. Bauer, Mrs. Ralph Fisher.

Kimzey's Resignation Accepted By Board as Transylvania Attorney

Pat Kimzey, for the past three years county attorney, tendered his resignation to the board of commissioners Monday, stating that his duties as member of the State Industrial Commission would take him from the county.

Mr. Kimzey thanked the commissioners for their co-operation during his tenure of office, and stated in his letter of resignation that one of his chief regrets in leaving Brevard was the fact that he would no longer be associated officially with the commissioners.

The following resolution was passed by the board in accepting the county attorney's resignation:

The board of commissioners of Transylvania county in regular session, Monday, May 1, 1939, accepts with profound regrets the resignation of Pat Kimzey as county attorney.

The board feels proud of the distinction and honor given to a Transylvania county citizen, and especially its attorney in the appointment by the Governor of North Carolina to the North Carolina Industrial Commission, and agrees with His Excellency that he has made the best appointment possible for the post.

In accepting the resignation of Mr. Kimzey as county attorney, the board of commissioners does hereby authorize and order this resolution placed on the permanent records of its meetings, and hopes that Mr. Kimzey's service to the State of North Carolina will be as satisfactory, as efficient and as congenial to this body as they have been during his three years as county attorney.

During the time Mr. Kimzey has served as county attorney, the county's debt has been refinanced, and other improvements made in the financial status of the county.

The board did not name a successor to the county attorney's office at the meeting, and this matter will probably come up at the next session.
