POSTOFFICE PLOT ACQUIRED BY U.S.

Broad Street Property Is Paid For-No Plans Given For Starting New Building

Aquisition of the site for Brevard's new postoffice building was completed here Friday when check in the amount of $4,000 was paid over to Mrs. Beulah Zachary by W. Roy Francis assistant U. S. district attorney of

The lot is situated on the corner of South Broadway and Mcrgan street, and is 120 by 170 feet.

No definite time of starting the new structure, nor information as to actual size or type of structure has been received here. However, soundings were made several menths ago for foundation work, and an architect was here to study the lay of the land with a view to fitting the building in with the surroundings

A total of $73,000 has been allotted for the building by the postoffice department, and Congressman Zeb Weaver has been written to by several people here asking that he use his influence to have work started on the building as soon as possible.

Rosman School Head PINK BEDS CAMP TO BE OPENED MAY 13

Widely Known Pisgah Forest Section Now Offers Recreation Facilities

John B. Fortin, Forest Ranger of the Pisgah District, announced today that the Pink Beds campground will be ready for public use on Saturday, May 13. This Forest Service campground is one that should be of especial interest to people of Brevard and Waynesville as it is located on the new highway No. 284 that links these two cities. A thirty minute drive from Brevard over a smooth macadam road, through the beautiful Pisgah Game Preserve, along Davidson river and past the famous Lookingglass Falls, brings the tourist to the newly developed Pink Beds Picnic Grounds. Here one finds a splendid parking space capable of accommodating ninety cars. From the parking area the visitor passes through the registry pavilion of hued chestnut logs. This structure is typical of the fine log and rock work that has been done in this campground by the CCC enrollees of the John Rock camp, working under the supervision of Foreman John Verner. Gravel trails lead from the registry pavilion to the eighteen recreational units. Each individual unit consists of a log table, two log benches, a chopping block, a wood rack, a modern fireplace, and a waste disposal can. Eight to ten persons can be accommodated at each unit.

The present area of the campground lies in a grove of fruit trees. Future developments will be made in the adjacent areas and will consist of horseshoe courts, barbecue pits, log pavilions, group tables, and nature trails. The nature trails will wind through the natural beauty of the Pink Beds and small signs will be erected to designate the common and scientific names of the trees and shrubs.

The rustic log design of this area has been carried out even to the drinking fountains of hollow stumps, Foot bridges, pavilions, tables, benches, wood-racks chopping blocks, and all log work are of native chestnut material that has been salvaged from the picnic area.

As the picnic ground is located in the heart of the Preserve, numerous wildlife can be seen. Deer, wild turkey, and even bear being guests at their own invitation. The apple trees are much clawed due to these visits.

Scenic drives to Mt. Pisgah over the Pisgah Motor Road and the around Lookingglass Rock on the Headwaters Road make the Pink Beds picnic ground an attractive place to spend a quiet vacation. The Pink Beds is a historic interest as here the first Forestry School in the country was established by Dr. Schenck. The Pink Beds picnic ground has been used for many years but due to the large increase in use the facili-
