BAPTISTS WILL USE PIPE ORGAN FRIDAY

Noted Musician Will Give Concert Here at Dedication Of New Instrument

An organ dedication concert will be given at the Brevard Baptist church Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock by Mrs. Lucile McInturf, organist, of Asheville. The organ, which has been recently purchased and installed, was used for the first time at the church services the past Sunday.

Mrs. McInturf will be assisted on the program by Alvin Moore, Brevard musician, with vocal selections and an organ and piano duo number. The concert will include a varied program of sacred music, an Indian group, negro sketches and other well known selections.

The organ was purchased by the Baptist church from the Paramount theatre in Asheville which the management desired to dispose of to make room for an enlarged stage. The entire purchase price of the organ, paid for by subscriptions and donations by members and friends of the church, was raised within four days after agreement had been made with the owners for purchase of the organ.

The cash price for the organ, which was secured at a great bargain, was $700, and the installation charge was $350, all of which has been paid with the exception of $75.00 on the installation, which balance is expected to be paid at an early date.

Outstanding credit has been given by officials of the Baptist church and other members to Ralph H. Ramsey, chairman of the organ committee, for the efficient and rapid manner in which the transaction was accomplished.

Mrs. McInturf, organist at the Paramount theatre in the days of silent motion pictures, has won in two radio contests playing on this organ. She is giving her services for the dedication concert here.

The following program will be rendered: Organ selections, group I; Song of the Peasant, A. Rendano; Andantino, Edwin H. Lemare; The Rosary, Ethelbert Nevin. Group II, Indian group, By the Waters of Minnetonka, Lieurance; Indian Love Call, Rudolf Friml; From the Land of the Sky Blue Water, Cadman. Group III, vocal selections by Mr. Moore, He Was Despised, Handel; Thanks Be to God, Stanley Dickson. Group IV, organ, Adagio Elegiaco, Henri Wieniawski; Andante Serioso, Albert Ketelbey; Humoresque, Anton Dvorak. Group V organ and piano duo, arranged by James R. Gillette; Nobody Knows the Trouble I See, James R. Gillette; Largo, Anton Dvorak.

Mrs. Dan Merrill, who has been pianist at the Baptist church for a number of years, will continue as organist. There will be no admission charge for Friday evening's concert, but an offering will be taken to help defray the remaining cost of installation.

THOUSANDS THROUGH PISGAH FOREST FOR VISIT TO PINK BEDS

Fawn Plant Center of Attraction for Tourists Over New 284 Highway

(Pisgah Ranger Service)

Last week-end, June 16th and 17th, was the first official opening of the new No. 284 highway through the Pisgah National Game Preserve and Ranger Jack Fortin announces today that the use far surpassed any anticipated travel.

Thousands of motorists from all the southern states and most of the northern states visited the preserve. More than a thousand visitors at the fawn plant on Sunday, established a new record for this plant and crowded the capacity of the parking area at the plant to such an extent that two CCC enrollees were used to direct parking.

Visitors to this area will have until June 25 to take Scenic Route No. 1 from the Pink Beds along the Yellow Gap Road to the North Mills Recreational Area then to Bent Creek and 191 highway to Candler. From Candler the tourist can take the Pisgah Motor Road to Wagon Road Gap returning to Brevard and South Carolina by way of the new highway No. 284.

The scenic route is especially beautiful at this time of the year as three groups of the famous Ericaceae family are in flower. These include the flame azalea, the laurel, and the purple rhododendron, and at the fawn plant there are more than 100 fawns now being cared for.

Summer visitors especially are invited to visit the plant, which is under supervision of John Y. Eller, and pictures may be taken of the young white-tailed deer following the feeding hour of 10 to 11 o'clock.

The new highway—284—is open all the way to Wagon Road Gap, and is a worthwhile trip. From Looking Glass creek to Wagon Road the paving and surfacing has been completed, and the prime and tie-coats of surface have been put on the highway from the entrance at No. 280 to Looking Glass.

The road will have to be closed after Sunday for several days, while work of completing the surface-treating is going on between the entrance and Looking Glass, and all people desiring to make the trip to the fawn plant are urged to go this week-end.

During the past week Tom Mull, W. N. Deaton, and J. G. Kirby, in charge of fish and game commission of the state of Arkansas, studied methods at the fawn plant, and plan to use the same system that is being used in Pisgah for their stocking of forests in Arkansas.

Summer Is Here

Folk who were up early Thursday morning, or who were later going to bed than old folk like, saw summer officially come in—2:40 a. m.

Those who were up for the day at 2:40 this morning, not only may put in the longest day of the season, but if they check with the calendar it will be found that the day is supposed to be the longest within itself, disregarding the 2:40 a. m. getting up. The sun rose this morning at 4:52, and stays until 7:11 p. m.

Plenty of folk, especially some of those friends of ours who come from east and south of us, are ready to tell one that summer has been here for weeks, but the calendar says not.
