

Heart Attack Fatal To Swimmer In Lake Fairfield Thursday

Death cut short the honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Bert H. Moore of Cincinnati last Thursday morning, about 10:30, when the groom of less than a week suffered a heart attack while swimming in Lake Fairfield.

The young wife made a valiant effort to save her husband from going under the water when the fatal heart attack occurred, and was grief-stricken over her seeming inability to save her lover from drowning. She was informed shortly after the body was taken from the lake that Mr. Moore was dead before he sank to the lake's bottom.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore, both expert swimmers had been resting on a raft 50 feet out from the bank, and both dived off together to swim ashore. Mr. Moore called to his wife after they had gone but a few feet shoreward and said "I can't go on."

The young wife tried vainly to hold her husband's head above water after he completely collapsed, but soon tired so that she had to release her grip, and he sank.

Wade Hawkins, William Bradley, and Harry Aldrich, all of the Cashiers section, were at work on inn property a few hundred yards away. They rushed to aid the couple, but by the time they arrived Mr. Moore had gone under and Mrs. Moore had reached the shore.

Diver Recovers Body
Additional help was summoned and a diver from Camp Merril-Woode, a half mile away, brought the body to the surface 35 minutes after Mr. Moore was stricken. Resuscitation efforts were made. It was found that only a small amount of water had entered the lungs.

C. W. Dills, of Sylva, coroner of Jackson county, and a physician, who was in the vicinity, made an examination and announced death was due to heart attack. The coroner said no inquest would be necessary.

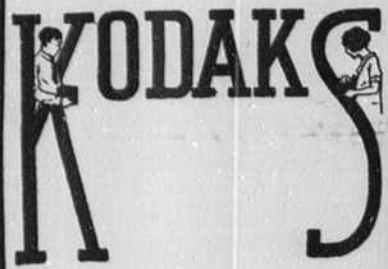

Mr. and Mrs. Moore had arrived at Fairfield Inn on Sunday prior to his death. The bride was also a native of Cincinnati, the former Miss Dorothy Schubert. She accompanied the body back to Cincinnati Friday for burial.

J. C. Wike, Transylvania county coroner, was at the scene when the body was recovered, and summoned the coroner from Jackson county.

Cause For Political Speculation

PAUL V. McNUTT, former governor of Indiana and high commissioner of the Philippines, is cause for much political speculation in the country. The avowed candidate for President Roosevelt's place as titular head of the United States government has been appointed head of the combined federal agencies, the highest key position in the nation. Will he be President Roosevelt's running mate? Will he carry the banner for President Roosevelt, or will he just "go along" as a supporter? Anybody's guess is good—maybe.
