WPA WORKERS GET ENFORCED VACATION

Nearly Hundred Here Are Expected To Be Laid Off For Thirty Days

WPA officials here are anticipating an order from state headquarters which will require the enforced vacation for from 60 to 80 relief workers in Transylvania county.

Official orders had not been received in the office of W. A. Wilson, county engineer, Wednesday, but other counties in the western part of the state had already received their order to cut off workers for a period of 30 days.

Workers who have been employed steadily on WPA for the past 18 months will be laid off for a period of 30 days.

RALEIGH—The WPA discharges, a mandate written by Congress into the new relief law, will effect 8,500 Tar Heels. State Director McGinnis estimates. Since 39,723 persons now are on the North Carolina rolls, the shake-up will mean that approximately one out of every five WPA relief recipients will lose his job.

Following the discharge of the 8,500, Ginnis was made shortly after he returned from a conference of all WPA state administrators in Chicago. Simultaneously, he disclosed that the employment quota for August had been reduced to 35,970—the lowest in more than a year.

Following the discharge of the 8,500, 31,223 persons will be on the rolls, and 4,747 persons now on the WPA waiting list will be assigned to jobs, bringing the total to the 35,970 quota.

The August quota compares with a peak of 58,000 in December, 1938, and with a low 19,600 in September, 1937.

Persons dropped because of employment for eighteen months will not be able to get on the WPA waiting list for 30 days. During the 30-day period, they must be re-certified as in need by the Public Welfare Department.

There are 341 now employed by WPA in Transylvania, and accurate check of the number to be released here could not be obtained Wednesday.

Newspaper Writer Here

Josephine Dunn Kerlin, free lance news and feature writer from St. Petersburg, Fla., arrived in Brevard Tuesday for a two months' stay.

Miss Kerlin will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tinsley, 323 West Main street, while vacationing here. She expressed delight with the climate and beauty of Brevard and surrounding mountains.

To Conduct Revival At Rosman

The Rev. JESSE C. OWEN, of Asheville, noted Baptist evangelist, will conduct a revival meeting at the Rosman high school auditorium, beginning Sunday morning, July 30, at 11 o'clock.

The meeting will continue for 20 days, in three daily services, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; a story hour and conference on evangelism at 7 o'clock; and the evangelistic evening service at 8 o'clock. Mr. Owen's wife, who was a missionary in China for 18 years, will conduct the story hour, and Mr. Owen will lead the evangelism service at 7 o'clock, using his own book on evangelism as the basis for his talks.

The song service will be in charge of Rev. J. C. Seagers and wife, noted song leaders, of Louisville, Ky.

Hendersonville Road Soon Be Completed

State highway workers hope to have the Hendersonville road completed and open fully to traffic by end of the week, provided materials can be kept to the machines, and weather is favorable.

Ernest Webb, district engineer, said Wednesday that his crews were now near Penrose, and that he hoped to be out of the way by Saturday night.

Traffic is now allowed to use the road but sometimes has to be held up for 15 and 20 minute periods while surface treatment is being put down.

The road is being re-treated from the cement at Horse Shoe to Brevard, with black top and fine gravel being added.

Blind Worker Will Speak at Lions Club

Mrs. Madeline P. McCrary, field consultant for the North Carolina Blind Commission, will speak at the weekly meeting of Brevard Lions club to be held at the England home Thursday evening at 7:30.

A. B. Carter, Brevard violinist, will also appear on the program.

Many People Using Recreation Center

Tennis and badminton courts at the Brevard recreation center are proving popular with out of town visitors here, statement has been made by Mrs. Bess W. May, recreation supervisor.

Basketry and rug making are also offered at the center free of charge to any interested in such crafts. A small cost of material is required if the maker wishes to keep her basket or rug.

An invitation is extended by the center officials to all visitors and townspeople to make use of the courts free of charge, and also to use the recreation center in any of its phases, especially crafts and sports.

Softball clubs for both boys and girls are active at the center, Mrs. May reports, and also other games, picnics, hikes and parties are enjoyed by the boys and girls. The girls' glee club is enjoying music and other activities, and an invitation has been accepted by the club to visit the CCC camp for a program.

Rosman Square Dance

A benefit square dance will be given at Rosman Community building Thursday night of this week, with Dan Glazener in charge and music by Fisher String band. The dance is for benefit of the community building.

Tour Through Forest Arranged For Visitors And Homefolk For Sunday

A Pisgah National Forest tour is being arranged for Sunday afternoon, July 23, with forest officials and the Chamber of Commerce co-operating.

The group will leave the Chamber of Commerce office on West Main street at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, spend three to four hours in the Forest and return via Ecusta Pisgah Forest station.

Visitors to the community are especially invited to make the trip, and those visitors who would like to have local people ride in their cars, or drive for them, are requested to contact John Smith at Smith's Barber shop during the day or telephone Number 3 after 7 o'clock in the evenings.

Local people who will go on the trip and take extra passengers, are also requested to notify Mr. Smith, or Mrs. Ralph Fisher at the Chamber of Commerce.

It is hoped that at least fifty cars will make the trip. Plans are to leave the Chamber of Commerce at 2 o'clock, drive up US 64 to the Cathey's Creek road, from here eight miles through the Cathey's Creek section of the forest to the Gloucester Gap, then to John's Rock CCC camp, which is one of the leading such outfits in the south; to the Davidson River fish rearing station where 50,000 brown, speckled and rainbow trout are being reared; past Looking Glass falls, and to the fawn plant.

At the fish rearing station the culturists in charge will explain methods of raising the fish from tiny minnows to the length of eight or nine inches when they are planted in the streams. The young trout are to be seen in large pools at the station.

At the fawn plant where more than a hundred baby deer are being cared for, methods of feeding and care will be explained, and visitors will be allowed to take pictures, see the fawns fed, and otherwise become acquainted with the largest such rearing plant being operated by the federal government.

Leaving the fawn plant, visitors may go on through the Pink Beds to the top of the mountain where construction work is going forward on the Great Smoky Mountains National Parkway, or return to Brevard down the Looking Glass and Davidson River roads to Pisgah Forest.

The entire trip will be about 35 or 40 miles long, and will take the tourists through the most scenic parts of the national forest.

Those who care to may take sandwiches and have supper in the forest after the tour.

Ranger Jack Fortin will have several of his men along with the party to officially guide the tour, and explain questions which may be of interest to the visitors.

Chamber of Commerce officials are anxious that as many local people as possible make the tour in order that they may become better acquainted with the attractions in the forest, and thereby be able to tell visitors more

FAWN PLANT MOVIE MADE IN PISGAH BY 'NEWS OF THE DAY'

M-G-M- Corporation Take Pictures of Local Scene For National Distribution

Pictures of the Pisgah Forest fawn rearing plant will be shown in all parts of the country by the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer corporation through their "News of the Day" feature within the next few weeks.

Official photographers were here last Saturday and took 900 feet of film at the plant, and these will be shown in theatres throughout the country.

The fawns were shown in the individual pens used when the small deer are first caught and placed in the feeding places, and also the more mature ones that are kept in group pens.

Explanation of the care and feeding of deer will also be given on the talking screen along with the pictures. Manager John Eller of the plant and Ranger Jack Fortin were interviewed by the photographer and script writer accompanying him, and this interview will be basis of the story to be told along with showing of the pictures.

Effort is being made by the Co-Ed theatre to bring the feature to Brevard within the next month.

Golf Pro Coming To Local Country Club

Bob Reed, golf pro at Bryson City, will be at the Brevard course Saturday of this week to give instructions to golfers and would-be golfers, and to arrange regular schedule for classes in the finer points of the golf game.

Benefit Bridge Will Be Held Here Friday

Plans are being completed for the benefit bridge party to be held at the NYA hut Friday evening at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the Women's Civic club. The party is for the benefit of the flower show to be held here August 12 under sponsorship of the club, and for other club activities.

Valuable prizes have been donated by business firms and individuals, and it is expected by the committee in charge that a large number of players will attend the party Friday night.

Hold Court Here

JUDGE WILSON WARLICK

Severe Drought Is Facing Transylvania

Unless showers intervene between now and the first of next week crops in Transylvania will be materially damaged by drought, according to reports from all sections of the county.

Gardens in some sections of the county are badly parched on account of lack of moisture, and late vegetables have been injured severely.

Corn on uplands is said to be badly in need of rain, although bottom land corn generally, is in fair shape.

A general rainfall was recorded in the county on Sunday, July 9th, when .4 inches fell in Brevard. This rain reached most of the county.

Lightning in the north Tuesday night was "a sure sign of rain" some of the old-timers here said Wednesday, which is all the hope that is held out.

Following are the cases listed for hearing: Freeman Patterson vs. Ada Patterson; Christopher Galloway vs. Inez Pressley Galloway; Ruth Cunningham vs. Jack Cunningham; Mary Wilkins Paxton vs. Thomas Wood Paxton; Stella Whitmire vs. T. E. Whitmire, Jr.; Lillie Payne vs. Thomas Earl Payne.

UNIFORM BOOK FEE CHARGED FOR 1939

High School Pupils Will Pay $2.40 Rental For The Term For Texts

Transylvania county high school students will be charged a uniform book fee of $2.40 per year, it was stated here this week by J. B. Jones, superintendent of Transylvania county schools. The fee will become effective with the beginning of the 1939-40 school term.

Mr. Jones stated that this uniform book fee will be instituted in county schools throughout the state of North Carolina. Former arrangements have been such that books have been rented at a percentage of the original cost.

When Transylvania county schools open each student, after he has paid the $2.40 fee, will receive all basal textbooks and a dictionary.

The superintendent of education also stated that Buncombe county schools will open on August 1, and August 29, and that the new maximum compulsory attendance age there 14 to 16 years will not apply to Transylvania county schools. He said that a special act of the 1939 legislature provided for the change in Buncombe county's compulsory age attendance.

Compulsory age attendance in Transylvania county is from seven to 14 years.
