NO CATTLE INFECTED FROM DEER DISEASE

Pisgah Forest Officials Say Malady Passing—Hunt To Be Held As Usual

No cattle in the county have become infected with hemorrhagic septicemia, according to county agents, and it is believed now that the possible danger period has been passed.

The county agents have vaccinated more than 500 cows since the disease was first discovered in the Pisgah Preserve deer herd four weeks or more ago.

On advice of rangers at the Pisgah Station, the county agents began immediately to vaccinate cattle along the borders of Pisgah Forest and for "holders" in the forest preserve.

The ranger station reported Wednesday that the disease had materially lessened among the deer and that last week was exceptionally good in the treatment of the disease, due to the weather conditions.

Patrols have been established in the game preserve since first notice of the disease was found, and dead deer have been buried as soon as found. CCC enrollees have been assisting the forestry officials in the patrol work, and federal authorities from Washington and Atlanta have been here conferring with the rangers in effort to curb the disease.

It is not believed that the small number infected will cause the annual deer hunt to be postponed, and the squirrel hunt has been set for the first week in September.

Application for a Brevard post was made last week, when more than 300 people signed a petition asking for organization of a guard unit here. Eck L. Sims, who carried the petition, said that he was still hopeful of securing a post here.

Tour Through Pisgah Arranged For Sunday For Ecusta Employees

A "show me" tour through Pisgah National Forest will be staged Sunday for benefit of officials and employees of the Ecusta Paper corporation.

After visiting the fawn plant about six o'clock in time to see the afternoon feeding of the young deer, the group will return to Brevard over the new 284 highway by Looking Glass Falls.

PARENTS INVITED TO MEET B-C TEACHERS

Transylvania People Urged To Attend Conference At College Friday

(Homer W. Coltrane)

Friends of Brevard College in Transylvania county are invited to attend a faculty-parent conference in the college auditorium Friday evening, September 22, at 7:30.

Some of the members of our Board of Trustees will be present, and there will be a short discussion of college policies.

The purpose of such a meeting is to become better acquainted with the parents and other Transylvania county friends. President E. J. Coltrane stated that it is of vital importance to combine all forces of the county in an effort toward the development of the various educational enterprises in our territory. Every year more and more high school graduates of this town and county are coming to Brevard College instead of going elsewhere. It is hoped that this meeting can be made an annual affair.

Long Lease Given On Jackson Hunting Area

Longest lease on record in Western North Carolina is believed to be that granted to the late Nat McMinn, by A. E. Galloway of the edge of Jackson county, for one thousand years.

Drawn and properly witnessed in 1908, the lease or sale contract gave the lessee, his heirs and assigns, right to fish, hunt, trap, or camp on a certain tract of land embodying about 10 acres, for one thousand years.

The lease was witnessed by J. W. Brooks, and properly attested by a justice of the peace, and the clerk of court of Jackson county.

The paper is now on record in Jackson county, and has been assigned to W. W. Zachary of Brevard.

Pre-School Children Invited To "Center"

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Bess W. May, supervisor of the local recreational group, that a pre-school class will start at the recreation center on Caldwell avenue in the near future.

As soon as leaders have been returned, after the 30-day lay-off in the WPA setup, it is expected by Mrs. May and her assistants that the class for pre-school children will get underway. Announcement of definite plans will be made at an early date, Mrs. May said.

Among the activities at the recreation center, was the entrance of the children of the carnival group here last week into the school during the week of their stay in Brevard. The children spent the greater part of each day at the center, and were taught folk dancing, rhythm band, hymn and group singing. Some of the mothers and older ones of the carnival also took advantage of the recreational opportunities while here.

This change is paramount to the college self-help program. The morning classes will run from 7:50 to 11:30; afternoon classes from 1:20 to 5:10.

Over 36,000 Pounds Of Trout Are Being Reared Near Brevard

Thirty-six thousand nine hundred ninety-six and one half pounds of trout—enough to feed twice the population of Transylvania county all they could eat at a square meal were swimming around in the Davidson River fish rearing pool last Wednesday.

There was no guess work as to the amount of pounds of fish in the rearing pools, because Reuben Knuth weighed the last one, down to the smallest minnow, and says he was certain to overlook none.

Just how many pounds the fish weighed made a whale of a lot of difference to Manager Knuth, because his feed bill was going too high—considerably higher than someone in the government's bureau of fisheries thought two thousand or so pounds of young fish should eat, so Reuben up and weighed the whole capoodle (which means all the fish he could find in the pools).

Mr. Knuth estimates that he has between 40,000 and 50,000 trout in the pools, ranging in length from five to eight inches.

The fish were put in the Davidson River pools last April, and at that time measured one and one-half to three inches in length, and were about three months old.

Mr. Knuth has been nursing the little fishes along pretty well, judging by the great increase, and the much more rapid growth than department officials thought possible.

The trout are of three species—brown, brook and speckled, and will be released.

MOTHER CAT TAKES ORPHAN SQUIRREL IN AS FAMILY MEMBER

Tiny Rodent Gets Same Care as "Sister Kitten" at Paxton Residence

Nearing the Bible prophecy that the lion and lamb shall lie down together, a cat and squirrel are keeping "close company" at the home of Mrs. Ernest Paxton on Route Three.

The mother cat has one small kitten about five weeks old, and as its partner in the full sense of the word, has a young gray squirrel about four weeks old.

The squirrel seems to be as much at home as its "sister" kitten, and the mother cat shows as much concern over the tiny squirrel as it does over its own offspring.

When seen last Friday, the mother cat was giving the two youngsters, (kitten and squirrel) their dinner, and both were suckling away just like hungry baby animals will do.

The squirrel has been making its home with the Paxton mother cat for nearly three weeks having been brought to the house by Charles Paxton who cut a tree that had a squirrel nest in it. The mother squirrel was injured in the tree fall and the young baby of not more than a week was brought to the house and placed with the mother cat as an experiment.

Both mother and baby are attached, as only mother and babe could be, and the Paxtons are as proud of the trio as if it constituted something akin to the Dionne Quintuplets.

Grows Big Corn

An ear of corn weighing two pounds even, and measuring 12 inches in length was brought to the office last week by J. H. Pickelmeier from his Little River farm.
